GULF HURRICANE RUMBLES INLAND

Early Decision On Administration Plans For Aid To Europe In Sight; Grain Prices Continue To Tumble

Declines Continue Week-Long Trend

[By The Associated Press]

All grain prices crashed Friday in the major North American markets, and livestock prices drif i slightly lower or held barely steady at the 12 principal markets in the United States.

The declines, continuing a week-long trend in the United States, came at a time when wholesale food prices reached all-time peak and demand for high-priced food items was slumping somewhat in the nation's retail stores.

The high cost of living problem brought a suggestion from Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) that the nation see to level off prices and wages at 50 to 60 per cent above 1939 levels and aroused fears of some retailers that surging food costs might hurt sales of non-food items. Taft said prices and wages were now 80 to 100 per cent above 1939.

Second Break In Two Days

The grain price break, second in two days, was started by an Agriculture Department report that half the American corn crop was safe from frost damage and by increased offerings of cash corn by farmers and country elevators.

Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson said the break in American grain prices had occurred "because the people are beginning to realize that the wheat crop is there" and that there is no real shortage of the bread cereal.

At the Chicago Board of Trade, world's largest grain exchange, wheat, corn, oats and soybeans dropped the permissible limit under exchange rules—corn for the second successive day.

September wheat closed at $2.61 a bushed, 10 cents lower than yesterday for a two-day price drop of 16 to 18¾ cents. September corn dropped the eight cent limit to $2.46 a bushel for a two-day drop of 16 cents.

At the Chicago stockyards, medium and good grade steers were down 75 cents to $1.50 for the week, cows declined 50 cents to $2.50, hogs 50 cents to $1 lower and good and choice lambs down 25 cents to $1.

Buyer Resistance Grows

Meanwhile, as food programs, calling for reduced use of high priced items, were suggested in several cities, a survey indicated consumers already were doing just that.

Dun and Bradstreet, in a report on retail sales, said there was some drop in demand for meat, butter and eggs, more calls for oleomargarine, and that high-priced liquors were being passed up for beers and ales. Fresh and canned vegetables, fruits and juices were in considerable demand. Frozen foods were popular.

Truman, Top-Level Aides Will Confer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19—(AP)—An early decision on what the Truman administration will do about Europe's urgent pleas for emergency aid was in sight tonight as the President headed into weekend conferences with top-level aides.

There was renewed talk of a special session of Congress.

Mr. Truman is due home from his vacation cruise tomorrow morning. Officials of the American delegation to the United Nations said in New York that Secretary of State Marshall would come to Washington Sunday, presumably to confer with the president on the European economic situation and the possibility of calling the lawmakers back to act.

Since Marshall has emphasized the need for special aid this year (Congress is scheduled to reconvene in January), this timing led to renewed speculation that he will lay before the President his arguments for the need of a special session.

Must Be Convinced

Mr. Truman has taken the attitude that he will call one if convinced of its need, but not otherwise.

The President had already arranged to give over Monday to a State Department report on the foreign situation. It was not known whether he is now substituting a Sunday conference with Marshall for this.

The President's Cabinet Food Committee is due to get a report from Secretary of Agriculture Anderson on Monday. This is expected to show that the United States cannot possibly meet all the foreign demand for food this crop year.

Mr. Truman is due to complete the last lap of his trip from Brazil at 7 a. m. (EST) tomorrow at the Washington Navy Yard. He arrived at Norfolk, Va., today aboard the battleship Missouri and headed toward Washington on the presidential yacht Williamsburg. Aides said he plans to spend much of Saturday working on accumulated documents.

High Price Headache

Another headache which has been building up for Mr. Truman is the matter of high prices. However, grain market prices tumbled today and Secretary of Agriculture Anderson said in Chicago today he hopes the drop would "start a downward trend" in other prices.

The State Department has said that Europe needs early emergency aid. Only Congress could fully grant this assistance. However, Republican congressional leaders have adopted a "show me" attitude on the need for a special session.

Either Mr. Truman or the leadership of Congress could call the lawmakers back in advance of their scheduled return in January.

Russia Loses Opening Round Of Veto Fight

Soviet "War-Monger" Campaign Continues

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP) — Russia lost the first round of the veto battle in the United Nations Assembly tonight while the whole Soviet bloc drove ahead with its new campaign against the United States on "war-mongering" charges.

Russia protested in a heated meeting of the 14-nation Steering Committee against Assembly consideration of an Argentine proposal for a special United Nations conference on the veto. Argentina and others seek to abolish the great power veto.

The Steering Committee passed the proposal on to the Assembly by a vote of 9 to 2. Russia and Poland were the two against. India, China and France abstained.

This meant that the veto fight definitely would burst out in the Assembly itself and in the Political Committe as soon as its turn comes.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate who has cast 19 of the 20 Russian vetoes recorded in the Security Council, fought stubbornly against sending the Argentine item to the Assembly.

Gromyko charged that the two-year campaign against the veto was "hostile" to the Soviet Union.

He charged furthermore that "certain influential circles and peoples are behind the campaign."

Veiled Threat, Arce Says

Gromyko did not name names but Dr. Jose Arce, of Argentina, who has asked the Assembly to approve the general conference on the veto, snapped back that Gromyko was making a veiled threat. Arce said it had been suggested the United States, Britain, France and China were behind the move.

China's delegate, T. F. Tsiang, spoke up to say that the time is not yet "ripe" to change the veto.

The Steering Committee was struggling to complete action of the 62 items pending on the Assembly work sheet. Already behind schedule, the United Nations gave up its attempt to close general debate tomorrow night and scheduled more debate for Monday. Twenty-one nations already have spoken; 20 wanted to talk tomorrow.

Before turning to the Arce proposal, the Steering Committee decided, against Russia's wishes, to recommend that the Assembly take up an Australian proposal intended to give the Assembly a greater voice in admitting new members. The vote was 10 to 3 (Russia, Poland, Brazil), with India abstaining.

Hours earlier in plenary session of the 55 United Nations White Russia seconded the strong Soviet blast at the United States and called on the Assembly to fight "those who are now yelling about a new war."

For 30 minutes Kuzma Kiselev, the White Russian Foreign Minister, repeated amid applause from the Soviet groups in the Assembly the charges hurled yesterday by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky against what he called "war-mongering" in the United States.

U. S. Holds Return Fire

The United States held its return fire but there was some speculation from informed quarters that Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, a member of the American delegation, might answer Vishinsky, perhaps in the Political Committee later on.

Informed sources said the United States had decided not to make a reply on the Assembly floor but to act vigorously when the Political Committee takes up the Soviet resolution against "war propaganda" introduced by Vishinsky yesterday and formally circulated today.

HURRICANE DID IT—The New Orleans lake front area suffered heavy damage (top) yesterday as hurricane winds raised the tides and caused the water to spread over much of the area. At the bottom, two planes are jammed together at Miami's 20th Street Airport by furious winds which tore across the runway.

Five Reported Dead; Tornado Wrecks Town

Hundreds Homeless At Gulfport, Miss.

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 19 (AP) — At least six were killed and 400 injured in the hurricane which smashed Gulfport and Biloxi, Miss., today, the Naval Reserve Station at Gulfport reported in a shortwave radio message received here by Hayes Sneed, radio ham operator.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 19 (AP) — A wandering, bitterly devasting tropical hurricane was bearing inland toward Natchez, Miss., tonight, leaving five dead on the Gulf coast, while a belated and revised report from Northwest Florida said a tornado there injured 100, five critically.

The tornado spun into Apalachicola, Fla., last night from the outer fringes of the hurricane and in a few short moments had cut a swath of 250 feet wide for three miles through the town.

Fourteen persons were hospitalized at Apalachicola and the injuries to five were listed as critical. Miss Laurie McLeod, of the Red Cross, said she expected two negroes among the five to die.

Meanwhile, this city was counting its property damage. Mayor De Leseps Morrison estimated the total at $3,000,000, including $1,750,000 for automobiles, homes and places of business; $500,000 for signs, plate glass and seawalls, and about $250,000 to trees, shrubbery and other property.

Sugar Cane Flattened

Between New Orleans and Baton Rouge thousands upon thousands of acres planted in sugar cane were flattened by the terrific wind. There was no immediate estimate of damage to the crop.

Eastward from New Orleans the hurrican drubbed and drowned the Gulf coast as far as Biloxi, after arriving from a vicious trip through Southern Florida.

A terse radio message from the Mississippi State Highway Patrol in the Biloxi area reported tonight that the bodies of a woman and three children had been found in the debris of broken and splintered boats and buildings.

The Biloxi report came just a few hours after the body of Joe Markeese, 54, was washed ashore at nearby Gulfport.

Meanwhile, there was a belated report out of Fort Myers, Fla., visited by the hurricane some 36 hours earlier that eight Cuban fishermen were reported missing and feared drowned off the beach there.

As for the big wind itself, Alexandria, La., said it was veering to the east, instead of moving northeast toward Arkansas as previously indicated, and apparently was going to miss that middle Louisiana city. Alexandria said winds there had died to 35 miles per hour and the barometer was rising.

Gulfport Is Shambles

Despite communications handicaps, reports drifting in said Gulfport, Miss., was a shambles with hundreds homeless and its beaches strewn with wrecked yachts. Biloxi's Mayor G. B. Cousins, Jr., called for 200 soldiers from nearby Keesler Field to patrol the beaches with orders to shoot looters.

Scarcely a dozen buildings were left standing on the beaches along the old Spanish trail for 25 miles between Biloxi and Bay St. Louis, Miss.

Thousands were homeless in fishing villages all along the coast, and many would not even find their villages when they went back. Shell

Wage And Price Stabilization Is Vital, Taft Says

Warns That Another Depression Possible

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 19 (AP)—Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) warned today that another depression is possible "if this price situation remains the same," and called for stabilization of wages and prices to avert it.

His statement was made to a newsman following an address to the Commonwealth Club while a prade of pickets, estimated at 1,500, marched on the sidewalks in front.

In answer to a question, Taft said, "this price situation might bring another depression if it remains the same. We have escaped the kind we had in 1920. But we have not passed the danger point for the type that came ten years after the last war."

Prices To Be Election Issue

Taft declared in his address that high prices will be the central issue on which the 1948 presidential campaign will be fought and accused President Truman of fostering a policy of "planned inflation." He said the high cost of living is a direct consequence of that inflation.

"I believe we may as well recognize that prices are permanently up above prewar prices," he said. "Since both wages and prices have risen, wages on the whole more than prices, we had better work toward a stabilization of wages and prices at some new level, perhaps 50 or 60 per cent over 1939."

The pickets carried signs bearing such slogans as "Your Party Killed OPA," and "Employers Are Daft Over Taft," and "Stooge For NAM." Similar demonstrations occurred at Santa Cruz, Los Angeles and San Diego as Taft swung through the West on what he described as a trip intended to give him the decision as to whether he should run for the presidency.

Increase In Productivity

"Increase in supply and some decrease in abnormal demand should bring prices back to that (50 or 60 per cent over 1939) level from the present level of 80 to 100 per cest increase," he told the crowded luncheon meeting. "The excess increases in wages over 50 or 60 per cent can probably be compensated in numerous industries by an increase in productivity. If we set 50 or 60 per cent as the goal, we should then encourage the increase of all sub-normal wages and salaries to that point compared to prewar.

"If prewar wages in any industry or profession were subnormal, the

Seek Passengers Of Missing Plane

MANILA, Saturday, Sept. 20. (AP) —The pilot of a C-46 transport radioed shortly after midnight that he had ordered his plane load of passengers to bail out somewhere over Luzon and was abandoning his ship, low on gasoline and flying in bad weather.

Thirty-seven United States Army planes began a search.

Nichols Field, Manila, said 27 persons were aboard ,but headquarters of the 13th Air Force, to which the plane was attached, said it was uncertain of the exact number.

Late last night the pilot of the plane, bound from Okinawa to Clark Field, radioed that he was flying on instruments in bad weather and was uncertain of his position. Shortly after midnight, he said he had ordered the passengers to jump and was abandoning ship himself. His final message was received at 20 minutes past midnight.

Earlier attempts to locate the plane—and inform the pilot of his location—had proved futile.

Thirty-five planes were making a systematic search of Southern Luzon this morning and two others were checking a wide area of Northern Luzon.

Italy Is Ripening For Revolution, Communist Says

Demonstrations Set; Farm Strike Ends

ROME, Sept. 19 (AP) — Palmiro Togliatti, Moscow-trained Communist leader, declared today that large masses of the Italian people were ripe for revolution as this nation in the first week of its renewed sovereignty awaited country-wide demonstrations called for tomorrow by three leftist parties.

Worries of the government were eased somewhat, however, by the announcement of the end of the 12-day strike by 1,000,000 northern farm workers whose walkout was estimated by the conservative press to have caused a 26,000,000,000 lire ($74,000,000) loss in this food-short nation's crops, including a five per cent loss of the rice harvest.

The workers won promises of better pay, six and seven-hour days in winter and eight hours in summer, family benefits, and contingency indemnification "against rises in the cost of living."

The government immediately turned to negotiations to prevent a strike of 850,000 steel and metal workers in the north who went on a 48-hour token strike in protest against rising prices earlier this week.

Togliatti denied that the call by the Communist, Socialist and Republican Parties for the people to march to the public squares throughout Italy tomorrow in a demonstration against spiraling prices had revolution as its aim. But he told the Italian news agency, ANSA:

"There is a will for revolution in large strata of the Italian people."

"Revolutions," he added, "are not declared and not made by parties. Parties only direct them and, if they are strong and well organized and have a majority of the people, direct them to victory."

The manifestation tomorrow assumed a partly anti-clerical aspect inasmuch as the date—September 20—is the anniversary of the occupation of Rome by Italian troops in 1870 when Vatican rule of the papal states was ended. The date has had anti-clerical significance ever since.

This was underlined today when a dispatch from Milan said the Christian Democrats were preparing a counter demonstration there in Piazza Del Duomo on Sunday at which Alfredo Ildefonso Cardinal Schuster, Archbishop of Milan, will make an address.

Lane Hits Sales Tax "Misrepresentation"

Judge, Upholding Ban On "The Outlaw," Says "They're Everywhere"

BALTIMORE, Sept. 19 (AP) — Judge E. Paul Mason upheld today the Board of Motion Picture Censors' ban on showing of "The Outlaw" in Maryland after expressed disapproval that Jane Russell's "breasts hung over the picture like a summer thunderstorm spread out over a landscape."

"They were everywhere," the Baltimore City Court judge commented. "They were there when she first came into the picture. They were there when she went out."

Judge Mason viewed an unexpurgated version of Howard Hughes' production in his chamber yesterday. He concluded it was not proper to "suit the morals of the people of our state."

Benefits Of Levy Listed By Governor

BALTIMORE, Sept. 19 (AP) — Gov. Lane told the people of Maryland tonight there has been "active misrepresentation" of the Free State's new two per cent sales tax.

In a radio broadcast over station WBAL, Baltimore, Lane delivered his first statewide message on the sales tax which he sponsored during the 1947 Legislature as a means of meeting the state's fiscal needs.

He said that when he proposed the sales levy last February he knew, and so advised the lagislature, that there would be objections, "particularly by persons or groups with special interests to protect."

What he did not know, the governor said in his broadcast, was that "some of the objections would take the form of active misrepresentation."

He pointed out that merchants are charged with collection of the sales levy and most of them are conscientiously performing their duty.

However, he added, "some of our merchants have distorted and misrepresented the tax as a 'penny for Mr. Lane.' This misrepresentation is selfishly intended to stir up prejudice and malice."

The sales tax, which became effective July 1 and which already has brought in around $3,000,000, has been attacked by some organizations in the state; and the Secretary of State has been formally advised that a suit is on file in Anne Arundel Circuit Court in an effort to require a referendum on the levy.

Referendum Ruled Out

Attorney General Hall Hammond has ruled the sales tax is not subject to referendum.

"Pennies for Lane?" The governor asked in referring to the "misrepresentation."

"No, my good people; these pennies of yours and of mine—of all of us—are our contribution toward a guarantee that the children of Maryland will have the finest education it is possible to provide, that they will receive this education at the hands of decently paid and qualified teachers, and in classrooms and school buildings that are adequately and modernly equipped properly lighted, and healthfully heated and, of ample size to house the pupils without overcrowding.

"These pennies of yours and mine are being used to provide a decent standard of existence for those of our unfortunate fellow-citizens who

Wallace Sounds Slump Warning

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 19. (AP)—Henry Wallace called on Americans tonight to build the resistance against reaction with an "offensive for peace, jobs and security."

"We must prepare to meet what I now fear is almost inevitable depression," the former Vice President said in a speech prepared for a rally sponsored by the Eastern Pennsylvania Chapter of the Progressive Citizens of America.

"And I warn you that threatening depression can mean war," Wallace continued.

"Frightened and greedy men, fearing the chaos of domestic depression, doubting our ability to have full production and full employment in peace, may drive us to war on the slightest pretext.

"It will not be a war for freedom but a war for the salvation of entrenched greed."

At a press conference earlier Wallace said the United States government is dominated by "reactionary capitalism" and added "Wall Street wants—and is getting ready—to dominate the world"

He declined comment on recent developments in the United Nations Assembly except to say "they have been speaking very frankly" there, and advocated return to rationing and price control as "the only effective way" of lowering the cost of living.

Radio Industry's New Code Curbs Advertising

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 19. (AP)—The radio industry received today a new code under which advertising would be limited and broadcasts would be shorn of any practice which would mislead, shock or alarm the public.

The code, effective February 1, 1948, was adopted behind closed doors by the 25-man board of directors of the National Association of Broadcasters in a post-convention session.

For independent and small station broadcasters who objected to certain provisions of the code when it was introduced on the convention floor last Tuesday, the board provided a "loophole", which would permit them to suggest changes in the code before it goes into effect.

150-Year Sentence

DECATUR, Ill., Sept. 19 (AP) — Cpl. Robert E. Moore, 20, former Chanute Field, Ill., soldier who pleaded guilty Monday to a murder charge in the shooting last June of a Decatur taxicab driver, today was sentenced to 150 years in prison after testifying "I have no idea why I shot him."

The body of James Casey, with two bullet holes in the head, was found beside a country road last June 13.

Stassen Calls For Modification Of Denham's Labor Law Rulings

HAMPTON BEACH, N. H., Sept. 19 (AP)—Harold E. Stassen asserted tonight that even though the Taft-Hartley law is good, taken as a whole, two "serious infringements of individual liberty" have developed under it.

He challenged constitutionality of a ruling that all general officers of the AFL and CIO must swear they are not Communists before an affiliated local union can qualify for "assistance" of the labor board, declaring millions of workers are being deprived of their rights.

At the same time, he denounced the inclusion of newspapers published by unions under the clause prohibiting direct or indirect political contributions by unions as "an opening wedge in an attack on a free press."

The former Minesota Governor, campaigning for the Republican presidential nomination, called for modification of these rulings made by Robert Denham, general counsel of the National Labor Relations Board, in an address prepared for a joint meeting of the Massachusetts and New Hampshire Press Associations.

If they are not overruled either by the NLRB or by the courts, Stassen said, "the law should be amended."

LaGuardia "Critical" And "Sinking Rapidly"

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP) — Fiorello H. LaGuardia's physician said tonight the 64-year-old former Mayor was in "extremely critical" condition and that he was "sinking rapidly."

LaGuardia has been in a coma almost continuously since Tuesday night when he collapsed at his home. He underwent an operation last June which disclosed an inoperable pancreas condition.

"The Body" Is Bride

Yugoslavia Releases All Allied Personnel

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (INS)—The State Department was advised today that Yugoslavia has heeded an American protest and released all Allied military personnel detained by Yugoslav authorities.

Word that the Belgrade government had complied with the United States demand was sent by Ambassador to Yugoslavia Cavendish W. Cannon.

Cannon said that the prisoners — two Americans and 13 British—had been returned to their commands near Trieste.

Price Probers To Hold Hearings In Baltimore

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP)—Sen. Herbert R. O'Conor (D-Md.) announced today a congressional committee investigating the high cost of living has agreed to add Baltimore to its list of cities where public hearings will be held.

O'Conor said Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.), chaiman of the joint committee now in Manchester, N. H., will bring the congressmen to Baltimore October 21 and 22.

The Maryland Senator urged the investigating group to come to Maryland after a government report showed Baltimore ranked third highest in retail food price increases since 1935-39.

Woman Freed In "Mercy" Killing Of Invalid Mother

READING, Pa., Sept. 19 (AP) — A jury of seven men and five women tonight acquitted Ella M. Haug of murder in the "mercy" killing of her invalid, 71-year-old mother.

"Thank you — oh, thank you very much," the wan-faced, middle aged spinster sobbed as the verdict was announced.

"I'm so glad you could understand. That means more to me than freedom," she told the jurors.

The state charged that Miss Haug gave her mother, Mrs. Katie Latshaw, an incurable invalid, 12 barbiturate tablets last July 20, and then took 15 herself in an unsuccessful suicide attempt.

Architects Propose Government Guarantee To Spur Home Building

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (INS)—A proposal that the federal government make good any losses on new, medium-priced homes, was advanced today as a means of stimulating house-building to end the national shelter shortage.

The revolutionary suggestion was made by Louis Justement, chairman of the Urban Planning Committee of the American Institute of Architects at a round-table conference of the congressional committee investigating the housing shortage.

He said that if house construction was allowed to drift at its present pace, the shortage would last another four or five years.

In brief, Justement proposed that if a man buys a medium priced house at present high costs and then loses on his investment because construction costs slumped by 1952, the government would pay the buyer his loss.

Sen. McCarthy (R) Wis., vice-chairman of the committee, withheld judgment on the proposal but commented that it should at least "stimulate thinking on ways to end the housing shortage."

Max H. Foley, president of the New York Building Congress, said that the new "modular simplification" design might cut the costs of new houses five per cent. McCarthy had asked if it might slash housing costs by 25 per cent.

GULF HURRICANE RUMBLES INLAND

Early Decision On Administration Plans For Aid To Europe In Sight; Grain Prices Continue To Tumble

Declines Continue Week-Long Trend

[By The Associated Press]

All grain prices crashed Friday in the major North American markets, and livestock prices drif 1 slightly lower or held barely steady at the 12 principal markets in the United States.

The declines, continuing a week-long trend in the United States, came at a time when wholesale food prices reached all-time peak and demand for high-priced food items was slumping somewhat in the nation's retail stores.

The high cost of living problem brought a suggestion from Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) that the nation see to level off prices and wages at 50 to 60 per cent above 1939 levels and aroused fears of some retailers that surging food costs might hurt sales of non-food items. Taft said prices and wages were now 80 to 100 per cent above 1939.

Second Break In Two Days

The grain price break, second in two days, was started by an Agriculture Department report that half the American corn crop was safe from frost damage and by increased offerings of cash corn by farmers and country elevators.

Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson said the break in American grain prices had occurred "because the people are beginning to realize that the wheat crop is there" and that there is no real shortage of the bread cereal.

At the Chicago Board of Trade, world's largest grain exchange, wheat, corn, oats and soybeans dropped the permissible limit under exchange rules—corn for the second successive day.

September wheat closed at $2.61 a bushel, 10 cents lower than yesterday for a two-day price drop of 16 to 18¾ cents. September corn dropped the eight cent limit to $2.46 a bushel for a two-day drop of 16 cents.

At the Chicago stockyards, medium and good grade steers were down 75 cents to $1.50 for the week, cows declined 50 cents to $2.50, hogs 50 cents to $1 lower and good and choice lambs down 25 cents to $1.

Buyer Resistance Grows

Meanwhile, as food programs calling for reduced use of high priced items, were suggested in several cities, a survey indicated consumers already were doing just that.

Dun and Bradstreet, in a report on retail sales, said there was some drop in demand for meat, butter and eggs, more calls for oleomargarine, and that high-priced liquors were being passed up for beers and ales. Fresh and canned vegetables, fruits and juices were in considerable demand. Frozen foods were popular.

Truman, Top-Level Aides Will Confer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19—(AP)—An early decision on what the Truman administration will do about Europe's urgent pleas for emergency aid was in sight tonight as the President headed into weekend conferences with top-level aides.

There was renewed talk of a special session of Congress.

Mr. Truman is due home from his vacation cruise tomorrow morning. Officials of the American delegation to the United Nations said in New York that Secretary of State Marshall would come to Washington Sunday, presumably to confer with the president on the European economic situation and the possibility of calling the lawmakers back to act.

Since Marshall has emphasized the need for special aid this year (Congress is scheduled to reconvene in January), this timing led to renewed speculation that he will lay before the President his arguments for the need of a special session.

Mr. Truman has taken the attitude that he will call one if convinced of its need, but not otherwise.

The President had already arranged to give over Monday to a State Department report on the foreign situation. It was not known whether he is now substituting a Sunday conference with Marshall for this.

The President's Cabinet Food Committee is due to get a report from Secretary of Agriculture Anderson on Monday. This is expected to show that the United States cannot possibly meet all the foreign demand for food this crop year.

Mr. Truman is due to complete the last lap of his trip from Brazil at 7 a. m. (EST) tomorrow at the Washington Navy Yard. He arrived at Norfolk, Va., today aboard the battleship Missouri and headed toward Washington on the presidential yacht Williamsburg. Aides said he plans to spend much of Saturday working on accumulated documents.

High Price Headache

Another headache which has been building up for Mr. Truman is the matter of high prices. However, grain market prices tumbled today and Secretary of Agriculture Anderson said in Chicago today he hopes the drop would "start a downward trend" in other prices.

The State Department has said that Europe needs early emergency aid. Only Congress could fully grant this assistance. However, Republican congressional leaders have adopted a "show me" attitude on the need for a special session.

Either Mr. Truman or the leadership of Congress could call the lawmakers back in advance of their scheduled return in January.

Wage And Price Stabilization Is Vital, Taft Says

Warns That Another Depression Possible

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 19 (AP)—Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) warned today that another depression is possible "if this price situation remains the same," and called for stabilization of wages and prices to avert it.

His statement was made to a newsman following an address to the Commonwealth Club while a prade of pickets, estimated at 1,500, marched on the sidewalks in front.

In answer to a question, Taft said, "this price situation might bring another depression if it remains the same. We have escaped the kind we had in 1920. But we have not passed the danger point for the type that came ten years after the last war."

Prices To Be Election Issue

Taft declared in his address that high prices will be the central issue on which the 1948 presidential campaign will be fought and accused President Truman of fostering a policy of "planned inflation." He said the high cost of living is a direct consequence of that inflation.

"I believe we may as well recognize that prices are permanently up above prewar prices," he said. "Since both wages and prices have risen, wages on the whole more than prices, we had better work toward a stabilization of wages and prices at some new level, perhaps 50 or 60 per cent over 1939."

The pickets carried signs bearing such slogans as "Your Party Killed OPA," and "Employers Are Daft Over Taft," and "Stooge For NAM." Similar demonstrations occurred at Santa Cruz, Los Angeles and San Diego as Taft swung through the West on what he described as a trip intended to give him the decision as to whether he should run for the presidency.

Increase In Productivity

"Increase in supply and some decrease in abnormal demand should bring prices back to that (50 or 60 per cent over 1939) level from the present level of 80 to 100 per cent increase," he told the crowded luncheon meeting. "The excess increases in wages over 50 or 60 per cent can probably be compensated in numerous industries by an increase in productivity. If we set 50 or 60 per cent as the goal, we should then encourage the increase of all sub-normal wages and salaries to that point compared to prewar.

"If prewar wages in any industry or profession were subnormal, the

Radio Industry's New Code Curbs Advertising

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 19. (AP)—The radio industry received today a new code under which advertising would be limited and broadcasts would be shorn of any practice which would mislead, shock or alarm the public.

The code, effective February 1, 1948, was adopted behind closed doors by the 25-man board of directors of the National Association of Broadcasters in a post-convention session.

For independent and small station broadcasters who objected to certain provisions of the code when it was introduced on the convention floor last Tuesday, the board provided a "loophole", which would permit them to suggest changes in the code before it goes into effect.

150-Year Sentence

DECATUR, Ill., Sept. 19 (AP) — Cpl. Robert E. Moore, 20, former Chanute Field, Ill., soldier who pleaded guilty Monday to a murder charge in the shooting last June of a Decatur taxicab driver, today was sentenced to 150 years in prison after testifying "I have no idea why I shot him."

The body of James Casey, with two bullet holes in the head, was found beside a country road last June 13.

Seek Passengers Of Missing Plane

MANILA, Saturday, Sept. 20. (AP)—The pilot of a C-46 transport radioed shortly after midnight that he had ordered his plane load of passengers to bail out somewhere over Luzon and was abandoning his ship, low on gasoline and flying in bad weather.

Thirty-seven United States Army planes began a search.

Nichols Field, Manila, said 27 persons were aboard ,but headquarters of the 13th Air Force, to which the plane was attached, said it was uncertain of the exact number.

Late last night the pilot of the plane, bound from Okinawa to Clark Field, radioed that he was flying on instruments in bad weather and was uncertain of his position. Shortly after midnight, he said he had ordered the passengers to jump and was abandoning ship himself. His final message was received at 20 minutes past midnight.

Earlier attempts to locate the plane—and inform the pilot of his location—had proved futile.

Thirty-five planes were making a systematic search of Southern Luzon this morning and two others were checking a wide area of Northern Luzon.

LaGuardia "Critical" And "Sinking Rapidly"

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP) — Fiorello H. LaGuardia's physician said tonight the 64-year-old former Mayor was in "extremely critical" condition and that he was "sinking rapidly."

LaGuardia has been in a coma almost continuously since Tuesday night when he collapsed at his home. He underwent an operation last June which disclosed an inoperable pancreas condition.

"The Body" Is Bride

Stassen Calls For Modification Of Denham's Labor Law Rulings

HAMPTON BEACH, N. H., Sept. 19 (AP)—Harold E. Stassen asserted tonight that even though the Taft-Hartley law is good, taken as a whole, two "serious infringements of individual liberty" have developed under it.

He challenged constitutionality of a ruling that all general officers of the AFL and CIO must swear they are not Communists before an affiliated local union can qualify for "assistance" of the labor board, declaring millions of workers are being deprived of their rights.

At the same time, he denounced the inclusion of newspapers published by unions under the clause prohibiting direct or indirect political contributions by unions as "an opening wedge in an attack on a free press."

The former Minesota Governor, campaigning for the Republican presidential nomination, called for modification of these rulings made by Robert Denham, general counsel of the National Labor Relations Board, in an address prepared for a joint meeting of the Massachusetts and New Hampshire Press Associations.

If they are not overruled either by the NLRB or by the courts, Stassen said, "the law should be amended."

Russia Loses Opening Round Of Veto Fight

Soviet "War-Monger" Campaign Continues

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP) — Russia lost the first round of the veto battle in the United Nations Assembly tonight while the whole Soviet bloc drove ahead with its new campaign against the United States on "war-mongering" charges.

Russia protested in a heated meeting of the 14-nation Steering Committee against Assembly consideration of an Argentine proposal for a special United Nations conference on the veto. Argentina and others seek to abolish the great power veto.

The Steering Committee passed the proposal on to the Assembly by a vote of 9 to 2. Russia and Poland were the two against. India, China and France abstained.

This meant that the veto fight definitely would burst out in the Assembly itself and in the Political Committe as soon as its turn comes.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate who has cast 19 of the 20 Russian vetoes recorded in the Security Council, fought stubbornly against sending the Argentine item to the Assembly.

Gromyko charged that the two-year campaign against the veto was "hostile" to the Soviet Union.

He charged furthermore that "certain influential circles and peoples are behind the campaign."

Veiled Threat, Arce Says

Gromyko did not name names but Dr. Jose Arce, of Argentina, who has asked the Assembly to approve the general conference on the veto, snapped back that Gromyko was making a veiled threat. Arce said it had been suggested the United States, Britain, France and China were behind the move.

China's delegate, T. F. Tsiang, spoke up to say that the time is not yet "ripe" to change the veto.

The Steering Committee was struggling to complete action of the 62 items pending on the Assembly work sheet. Already behind schedule, the United Nations gave up its attempt to close general debate tomorrow night and scheduled more debate for Monday. Twenty-one nations already have spoken; 20 wanted to talk tomorrow.

Before turning to the Arce proposal, the Steering Committee decided, against Russia's wishes, to recommend that the Assembly take up an Australian proposal intended to give the Assembly a greater voice in admitting new members. The vote was 10 to 3 (Russia, Poland, Brazil), with India abstaining.

Hours earlier in plenary session of the 55 United Nations White Russia seconded the strong Soviet blast at the United States and called on the Assembly to fight "those who are now yelling about a new war."

For 30 minutes Kuzma Kiselev, the White Russian Foreign Minister, repeated amid applause from the Soviet groups in the Assembly the charges hurled yesterday by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky against what he called "war-mongering" in the United States.

U. S. Holds Return Fire

The United States held its return fire but there was some speculation from informed quarters that Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, a member of the American delegation, might answer Vishinsky, perhaps in the Political Committee later on.

Informed sources said the United States had decided not to make a reply on the Assembly floor but to act vigorously when the Political Committee takes up the Soviet resolution against "war propaganda" introduced by Vishinsky yesterday and formally circulated today.

Yugoslavia Releases All Allied Personnel

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (INS)—The State Department was advised today that Yugoslavia has heeded an American protest and released all Allied military personnel detained by Yugoslav authorities.

Word that the Belgrade government had complied with the United States demand was sent by Ambassador to Yugoslavia Cavendish W. Cannon.

Cannon said that the prisoners — two Americans and 13 British—had been returned to their commands near Trieste.

HURRICANE DID IT—The New Orleans lake front area suffered heavy damage (top) yesterday as hurricane winds raised the tides and caused the water to spread over much of the area. Italy Is Ripening For Revolution, Communist Says

ROME, Sept. 19 (AP) — Palmiro Togliatti, Moscow-trained Communist leader, declared today that large masses of the Italian people were ripe for revolution as this nation in the first week of its renewed sovereignty awaited country-wide demonstrations called for tomorrow by three leftist parties.

Worries of the government were eased somewhat, however, by the announcement of the end of the 12-day strike by 1,000,000 northern farm workers whose walkout was estimated by the conservative press to have caused a 26,000,000,000 lire ($74,000,000) loss in this food-short nation's crops, including a five per cent loss of the rice harvest.

The workers won promises of better pay, six and seven-hour days in winter and eight hours in summer, family benefits, and contingency indemnification "against rises in the cost of living."

The government immediately turned to negotiations to prevent a strike of 850,000 steel and metal workers in the north who went on a 48-hour token strike in protest against rising prices earlier this week.

Togliatti denied that the call by the Communist, Socialist and Republican Parties for the people to march to the public squares throughout Italy tomorrow in a demonstration against spiraling prices had revolution as its aim. But he told the Italian news agency, ANSA:

"There is a will for revolution in large strata of the Italian people."

"Revolutions," he added, "are not declared and not made by parties. Parties only direct them and, if they are strong and well organized and have a majority of the people direct them to victory."

The manifestation tomorrow assumed a partly anti-clerical aspect inasmuch as the date—September 20—is the anniversary of the occupation of Rome by Italian troops in 1870 when Vatican rule of the papal states was ended. The date has had anti-clerical significance ever since.

This was underlined today when a dispatch from Milan said the Christian Democrats were preparing a counter demonstration there in Piazza Del Duomo on Sunday at which Alfredo Ildefonso Cardinal Schuster, Archbishop of Milan, will make an address.

Lane Hits Sales Tax "Misrepresentation"

Judge, Upholding Ban On "The Outlaw," Says "They're Everywhere"

BALTIMORE, Sept. 19 (AP) — Judge E. Paul Mason upheld today the Board of Motion Picture Censors' ban on showing of "The Outlaw" in Maryland after expressed disapproval that Jane Russell's "breasts hung over the picture like a summer thunderstorm spread out over a landscape."

"They were everywhere," the Baltimore City Court judge commented. "They were there when she first came into the picture. They were there when she went out."

Judge Mason viewed an unexpurgated version of Howard Hughes' production in his chamber yesterday. He concluded it was not proper to "suit the morals of the people of our state."

Benefits Of Levy Listed By Governor

BALTIMORE, Sept. 19 (AP) — Gov. Lane told the people of Maryland tonight there has been "active misrepresentation" of the Free State's new two per cent sales tax.

In a radio broadcast over station WBAL, Baltimore, Lane delivered his first statewide message on the sales tax which he sponsored during the 1947 Legislature as a means of meeting the state's fiscal needs.

He said that when he proposed the sales levy last February he knew, and so advised the lagislature, that there would be objections, "particularly by persons or groups with special interests to protect."

What he did not know, the governor said in his broadcast, was that "some of the objections would take the form of active misrepresentation."

He pointed out that merchants are charged with collection of the sales levy and most of them are conscientiously performing their duty.

However, he added, "some of our merchants have distorted and misrepresented the tax as a 'penny for Mr. Lane.' This misrepresentation is selfishly intended to stir up prejudice and malice."

The sales tax, which became effective July 1 and which already has brought in around $3,000,000, has been attacked by some organizations in the state; and the Secretary of State has been formally advised that a suit is on file in Anne Arundel Circuit Court in an effort to require a referendum on the levy.

Referendum Ruled Out

Attorney General Hall Hammond has ruled the sales tax is not subject to referendum.

"Pennies for Lane?" The governor asked in referring to the "misrepresentation."

"No, my good people; these pennies of yours and of mine—of all of us—are our contribution toward a guarantee that the children of Maryland will have the finest education it is possible to provide, that they will receive this education at the hands of decently paid and qualified teachers, and in classrooms and school buildings that are adequately and modernly equipped properly lighted, and healthfully heated and, of ample size to house the pupils without overcrowding.

"These pennies of yours and mine are being used to provide a decent standard of existence for those of our unfortunate fellow-citizens who

Wallace Sounds Slump Warning

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 19. (AP)—Henry Wallace called on Americans tonight to build the resistance against reaction with an "offensive for peace, jobs and security."

"We must prepare to meet what I now fear is almost inevitable depression," the former Vice President said in a speech prepared for a rally sponsored by the Eastern Pennsylvania Chapter of the Progressive Citizens of America.

"And I warn you that threatening depression can mean war," Wallace continued.

"Frightened and greedy men, fearing the chaos of domestic depression, doubting our ability to have full production and full employment in peace, may drive us to war on the slightest pretext.

"It will not be a war for freedom but a war for the salvation of entrenched greed."

At a press conference earlier Wallace said the United States government is dominated by "reactionary capitalism" and added "Wall Street wants—and is getting ready—to dominate the world"

He declined comment on recent developments in the United Nations Assembly except to say "they have been speaking very frankly" there, and advocated return to rationing and price control as "the only effective way" of lowering the cost of living.

Price Probers To Hold Hearings In Baltimore

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP)—Sen. Herbert R. O'Conor (D-Md.) announced today a congressional committee investigating the high cost of living has agreed to add Baltimore to its list of cities where public hearings will be held.

O'Conor said Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.), chaiman of the joint committee now in Manchester, N. H., will bring the congressmen to Baltimore October 21 and 22.

The Maryland Senator urged the investigating group to come to Maryland after a government report showed Baltimore ranked third highest in retail food price increases since 1935-39.

Five Reported Dead; Tornado Wrecks Town

Hundreds Homeless At Gulfport, Miss.

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 19 (AP) — At least six were killed and 400 injured in the hurricane which smashed Gulfport and Biloxi, Miss., today, the Naval Reserve Station at Gulfport reported in a shortwave radio message received here by Hayes Sneed, radio ham operator.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 19 (AP) — A wandering, bitterly devasting tropical hurricane was bearing inland toward Natchez, Miss., tonight, leaving five dead on the Gulf coast, while a belated and revised report from Northwest Florida said a tornado there injured 100, five critically.

The tornado spun into Apalachicola, Fla., last night from the outer fringes of the hurricane and in a few short moments had cut a swath of 250 feet wide for three miles through the town.

Fourteen persons were hospitalized at Apalachicola and the injuries to five were listed as critical. Miss Laurie McLeod, of the Red Cross, said she expected two negroes among the five to die.

Meanwhile, this city was counting its property damage. Mayor De Leseps Morrison estimated the total at $3,000,000, including $1,750,000 for automobiles, homes and places of business; $500,000 for signs, plate glass and seawalls, and about $250,000 to trees, shrubbery and other property.

Sugar Cane Flattened

Between New Orleans and Baton Rouge thousands upon thousands of acres planted in sugar cane were flattened by the terrific wind. There was no immediate estimate of damage to the crop.

Eastward from New Orleans the hurrican drubbed and drowned the Gulf coast as far as Biloxi, after arriving from a vicious trip through Southern Florida.

A terse radio message from the Mississippi State Highway Patrol in the Biloxi area reported tonight that the bodies of a woman and three children had been found in the debris of broken and splintered boats and buildings.

The Biloxi report came just a few hours after the body of Joe Markeese, 54, was washed ashore at nearby Gulfport.

Meanwhile, there was a belated report out of Fort Myers, Fla., visited by the hurricane some 36 hours earlier that eight Cuban fishermen were reported missing and feared drowned off the beach there.

As for the big wind itself, Alexandria, La., said it was veering to the east, instead of moving northeast toward Arkansas as previously indicated, and apparently was going to miss that middle Louisiana city. Alexandria said winds there had died to 35 miles per hour and the barometer was rising.

Gulfport Is Shambles

Despite communications handicaps, reports drifting in said Gulfport, Miss., was a shambles with hundreds homeless and its beaches strewn with wrecked yachts. Biloxi's Mayor G. B. Cousins, Jr., called for 200 soldiers from nearby Keesler Field to patrol the beaches with orders to shoot looters.

Scarcely a dozen buildings were left standing on the beaches along the old Spanish trail for 25 miles between Biloxi and Bay St. Louis, Miss.

Thousands were homeless in fishing villages all along the coast, and many would not even find their villages when they went back. Shell

Woman Freed In "Mercy" Killing Of Invalid Mother

READING, Pa., Sept. 19 (AP) — A jury of seven men and five women tonight acquitted Ella M. Haug of murder in the "mercy" killing of her invalid, 71-year-old mother.

"Thank you — oh, thank you very much," the wan-faced, middle aged spinster sobbed as the verdict was announced.

"I'm so glad you could understand. That means more to me than freedom," she told the jurors.

The state charged that Miss Haug gave her mother, Mrs. Katie Latshaw, an incurable invalid, 12 barbiturate tablets last July 20, and then took 15 herself in an unsuccessful suicide attempt.

Architects Propose Government Guarantee To Spur Home Building

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (INS)—A proposal that the federal government make good any losses on new, medium-priced homes, was advanced today as a means of stimulating house-building to end the national shelter shortage.

The revolutionary suggestion was made by Louis Justement, chairman of the Urban Planning Committee of the American Institute of Architects at a round-table conference of the congressional committee investigating the housing shortage.

He said that if house construction was allowed to drift at its present pace, the shortage would last another four or five years.

In brief, Justement proposed that if a man buys a medium priced house at present high costs and then loses on his investment because construction costs slumped by 1952, the government would pay the buyer his loss.

Sen. McCarthy (R) Wis., vice-chairman of the committee, withheld judgment on the proposal but commented that it should at least "stimulate thinking on ways to end the housing shortage."

Max H. Foley, president of the New York Building Congress, said that the new "modular simplification" design might cut the costs of new houses five per cent. McCarthy had asked if it might slash housing costs by 25 per cent.

Fresh Floods Hit Tokyo As Typhoon Death Toll Rises

U. S. Army Reports Typhoid Outbreak

TOKYO, Saturday, Sept. 20 (AP)—Fresh floods spread across 15 square miles of Northeastern Tokyo today, adding eight more bodies to an estimated toll of 2,000 Japanese dead in the five-day-old typhoon-born disaster.

Army engineers said there was danger of further inundation in this jam-packed capital city, and that the situation would remain critical for four days.

The Army reported an outbreak of typhoid among Japanese residents in the flooded town of Ishinoseki, Iwate Prefecture. It was from Ishinoseki that a majority of the stranded Third Battalion, 511th Parachute Regiment of the United States 11th Airborne Division had been returned to their headquarters Thursday night. No cases of typhoid were reported among the Americans.

Food Dropped By Plane

Elsewhere in the flood zones, Americans were supervising widespread innoculations against possible dysentery and typhoid epidemics.

American planes continued to drop food to Ishinoseki. Virtually all of the town was under water.

Pvt. Billie T. Horton, son of Mrs. Dorothy R. Horton, Mount Vernon, Ill.; and Pvt. Allen P. Hampton, Lego, W. Va.

They were drowned Tuesday night when their truck ran into a washout.

Overflowing rivers brought Tokyo's additional deaths today.

Thousands Evacuated

The swollen Naka River broke its banks at two places and spread over flatlands in the northeast and easternmost sections of the city. Japanese police and firemen breached the bank farther downstream to ease the pressure, but they said the situation was still "critical" late last night.

Water was as deep as 10 feet at some points between the Naka and the paralled Edo River, and had penetrated two and one-half miles from where it first entered the city Thursday.

More than 50,000 residents were moved to safety.

Col. Wayland B. Augur, Oakland, Calif., chief of staff of the First Cavalry Division, said reconnaissance of the Kanto Plain, where the flood first struck, indicated a death toll of 2,000.

France Reportedly Seeks Russian Wheat

PARIS, Sept. 19 (INS)—An authoritative informant said tonight that France has asked Russia for a million and a half tons of wheat and other cereals, with payment to be made in dollars.

She also has requested an unspecified amount from Argentina on the eve of the formal 16-nation approval of a report to be submitted to the United States asking for more than 21 billion dollars in aid.

Russia and Argentina have not yet answered the French requests.

Vienna Hospital Surgeon Accused Of Experimenting On Jew Children

VIENNA, Sept. 19 (AP) — Harold Trowb, head of the American Joint Distribution Committee in Vienna, charged tonight that "horrible and shocking" experiments had been made on Jewish children in a Vienna hospital, but the hospital's chief surgeon, Dr. Joseph Zikowski, said the experiments were "perfectly legal."

Trowb said the experiments had been made on at least 20 or more than 60 Jewish children admitted to the Vienna Municipal Hospital for infectious diseases in the last three weeks, and that they were performed by Zikowski.

Zikowski, who operated the hospital all through the war, readily admitted to reporters that he had conducted certain experiments on the children.

Trowb said the children involved had been admitted to the hospital with "mild" cases of measles. Zikowski, he charged, ordered punctures for 12 to determine whether they were suffering from infantile paralysis and on at least eight others had performed skin removal operations to determine the type of measles with which they were infected.

Trowb and doctors attached to the international committee for Jewish refugees showed American reporters the 18-month-old son of Lea Bernstein, who was alleged to have undergone the skin removal experiment. The baby had two-inch scar on his chest which his mother, a Romanian refugee, said was not there before he entered the hospital.

Trowb said the experiments were discovered when the Bernstein baby was brought to Dr. George Kolman, chief physician of the International Jewish Committee. Kolman said Zikowski admitted it was "a nasty story which may cost me my head and my job" and that he asked Kolman to "hush it up."

OVERSIZED TEASPOON, SWALLOWED BY GIRL MONTH AGO, REMOVED

PASSAIC, N. J., Sept 19 (AP) an oversized, six and a half-inch long teaspoon, was successfully removed from the upper intestine of a 19-year-old girl at Beth Israel Hospital, Dr. Anton P. Randwazzo said today.

Dr. Randozzo, who would not discuss how the pretty brunette swallowed the piece of silverware, identified his patient as Miss Ann Mulick, of Little Falls.

He said the spoon was swallowed about a month ago, and it was not until a week ago that she convinced her family that she had swallowed it. X-rays were taken and showed the foreign object.

Negroes Attack Cripple, Take His Wallet, Crutch

BALTIMORE, Sept. 19 (AP) — A 21-year-old cripple was still semi-conscious at Mercy Hospital today after telling police he had ben attacked by six negroes who knocked him out, stole his empty wallet, and threw away his crutch.

He was identified as Edward C. Nichols, Erie, Pa., a magazine salesman residing here temporarily. Hospital officials described his condition as serious.

Before lapsing into semi-consciousness, Nicholes told police the assault occurred while he took a walk at a park near his hotel.

Stassen Calls

Communist, Stassen said Denham's ruling "gives to John Lewis a veto as drastic as the veto used by Mr. Molotov in the United Nations Security Council."

"It is not consistent with the American approach of individual rights," he maintained, "and is unconstitutional."

Stassen said the "only sound rule is that the affidavit requirement x x x apply in each instance only to those officers who have direct authority over a specific union, including the power to authorize strikes."

He contended that "if a local union has complete autonomy and makes its own decisions on strikes and other important measures, the affidavits of its own local officers should be sufficient to qualify under the act."

In cases where the local union is a part of the parent organization whose approval must be obtained for strikes and other important action, he said, "then affidavits of the officers of that parent organization should be required."

Russia Loses

The Soviet campaign against the United States is expected to be pushed forward further tomorrow when Yugoslavia, the Soviet Ukraine and perhaps others speak up on this question.

Meanwhile, powerful support for Secretary Marshall's plan to remodel the United Nations peace machinery to give the Assembly more authority came from Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, Australian deputy prime minister and Foreign Minister.

Evatt told a news conference that he would support Marshall's proposal for a year-around "Little Assembly" in the United Nations. He indicated he would move to put more teeth in the plan by demanding that every decision calling for peaceful settlement which was killed by a veto in the Security Council be sent immediately to the 55-nation body. He said at the same time he was not giving up his fight to kill the veto entirely.

Five Reported

Beach, La., was wiped out, and morning might show similar fate for the exposed Alabama settlements of Heron Bay, Alabama Port and Bayou La Batre.

Cyclonic winds of at least 90 miles an hour pounded densely-populated New Orleans for more than five hours, and rolled tidal waters before the storm to flood much of the Bayou country to the south. Nevertheless, the Red Cross announced a complete check showed no loss of life in New Orleans and no hospitalized cases.

Four Louisiana parishes—St. Bernard, Terrabonne, La Fourche and St. Charles—also reported no deaths or serious injuries.

The storm passed over Baton Rouge as well without apparent injury to residents, although 90-mile velocity was recorded just before the airport weather station blew down.

There was vast destruction at Gulfport, Miss., however. Creosote tanks burst and fell, flooding the harbor, and the beach was littered with wrecked yachts, some 70 feet in length.

NLRB Gives AFL, CIO More Time To Make Up Mind

Have Until Oct. 31 To Sign Affidavits

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19—(AP)—A showdown on the non-Communist affidavit issue was postponed today when the National Labor Relations Board and its general Counsel, Robert N. Denham, gave AFL and CIO leaders until October 31 to swear they are not Communists.

NLRB agents in the field, who were set to start dismissing union cases next Tuesday because the top AFL and CIO leaders have not determined their policy toward the affidavits, were authorized to withhold action if requests for more time are based on "reasonable grounds."

5,000 Cases Pending

Some 5,000 cases involving union grievances, requests for collective bargaining elections, etc., are pending. Today's action had the effect of saving the bulk of these cases from dismissal for the time being.

The CIO said nothing about the action, but AFL officials told reporters they are pleased by it, "if in the meantime the board reviews the Denham ruling and reverses it."

Denham has interpreted the Taft-Hartley Act as meaning that all top officers of AFL and CIO must sign the affidavits, else unions affiliated with these organizations will be barred from using the NLRB facilities.

Ruling Change Asked

Joseph A. Padway, acting for the the AFL Teamsters and several other AFL unions, went to the board with a petition asking it to reverse the Denham ruling. He asked the board to rule that under the law only officers of unions would have to sign, not officers of federations of unions.

Denham had allowed the labor leaders 20 days in which to comply after receipt of notice of the requirement. The first of those notices were mailed by the board September 2, so the initial deadline would have expired next Tuesday.

The postponement gives both the AFL and CIO an opportunity to fight the whole question out on the floor of their conventions. The AFL meets one week in Boston starting October 13.

Youth Is Arraigned In Slaying Of Cousin

HARRISON, N. J., Sept. 19 (INS)—Fourteen-year-old Fred Smigelski was arraigned today on a charge of slaying his distant cousin, Jackie Preston, 11, and was ordered held on a murder count.

Police Capt. Arthur Ford, the state's only witness, testified that Smigelski had made an oral confession to the crime, and had led police to the bruised and battered body of the younger lad.

Smigelski's confession said that he killed the Preston boy to prove that he wasn't a "sissy."

kickoff to go 52 yards in 10 plays for its second touchdown and Manges again added the point. After the ensuing kickoff Moorefield marched from their own 20 to the Fort Hill 7 in eight plays, three passes for 12, 15, and 25 yards sparking the advance. However with third down and goal to go on the Scarlet and White 7 time ran out and the first half ended.

The Sentinels threatened to make a runaway with the contest as the second half opened, controlling the ball throughout most of the period and scoring twice to take a 27-7 lead. Barney Tucker and "Mac" McKenzie were the spearheads of these two drives, while Manges' pass to Stevenson for 35 yards and the third. Sentinel score was the only aerial Fort Hill completed.

Hott Runs 69 Yards

The Jackets fought back valiantly and after Stevenson punted to Hott on the Moorefield 34 the visitors' overhead game began in earnest. Vance dropped back and sent a forward to Hott in the flat and the husky triple-threater raced 60 yards to the Fort Hill 8 where he was finally run out of bounds by McKenzie. Hott then passed to Bill Harman for the score, added the extra tally and Moorefield trailed 27-14. After the kickoff the Sentinels again were forced to punt and Moorefield took over on their own 17. Hott then completed five consecutive aerials, picking up 14, 18, 18, 10, and 22 yards to the Fort Hill 5. Bill Harman, on the receiving end of the final throw, almost broke through to go over but was hauled down by Manges from behind. However before the two teams could line up again the gun went off and the game ended to halt the Jacket threat.

Harry Welton, tall pass-catching end, Bill Harman, George Hott and Johnny Vance were the outstanding players for the losers. Ray Stevenson, Barney Tucker, Charlie Lattimer and Jim Manges showed best for the Sentinels. The lineups:

Five-Point National Defense Plan Offered By Pennsylvania Senator

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 19 (AP) — Sen. Edward Martin (R-Pa) called today for "a big Navy, a strong Army, an efficient Air Force and complete industrial preparation" because "peace among nations x x x will come slow."

In an address to the annual convention of the National Guard Association, the Pennsylvania Senator declared the United States "must face a world of realities."

"Peace among nations, the great hope of mankind, will come slowly. It must grow out of education in which religion has the greatest part," he asserted.

"Until the spiritual and cultural forces have had time and opportunity to teach the world how to live, we must have a stabilizing police force."

Strongly for universal military training, Sen. Martin offered a five-point national defense program, including the following:

(1) "The best-trained regular Army and Navy in the world, economically organized and not top-heavy."

(2) "A National Guard x x x supervised by the best officers of the regular Army."

(3) "A great reserve corps of naval, Army, Air and Marine Corps units."

(4) "Great maneuvers" of the regular Army, National Guard and reserves each year.

(5) "Industrial and agricultural preparation."

ICC Examiner Considers C. And O. Officials' Plan

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP)—An Interstate Commerce Commission examiner today took under advisement the plan of Robert R. Young and Robert J. Bowman, of Chesapeake and Ohio, to take seats on the board of New York Central and vote 400,000 shares of Central stock, the largest single holding in that railroad.

Chesapeake has notified the commission that the proposed interlocking directorate looks to an eventual unification of the two lines. Young is board chairman and Bowman is president of C. and O.

Because of their holdings in other railroads, the Central stock is now deposited in a trust with the Chase National Bank of New York, and commission authority is required for its withdrawal from the trust for voting purposes.

Under ICC procedure, a final ruling probably will not be forthcoming before early next year.

Man Pardoned By Lane To Serve Virginia Term

BALTIMORE, Sept. 19—(AP)—Raymond F. Miller, 25, today awaited Virginia authorities who will return him to serve a 25-year sentence for murder. He was pardoned yesterday from the Maryland State Penitentiary, where he was in the midst of a 15-year term for armed robbery.

Miller was convicted in Portsmouth, Va., in 1939, on charges that he had shot and killed his grandfather two years before.

On November 9, 1937, approximately two weeks after the shooting, the hold-up of a streetcar conductor in Baltimore led to the sentencing of Miller to 15 years in the Maryland Penitentiary. By agreement between the Governors of Maryland and Virginia, he was released long enough to stand trial for murder in Portsmouth.

Upon his release yesterday on a clemency pardon from Gov. Lane, he was re-arrested by Baltimore police acting on a detainer lodged by Virginia authorities.

URW Puts Off Declaring Policy On Labor Law

BOSTON, Sept. 19 (AP)—The CIO United Rubber Workers put off declaring its stand on the Taft-Hartley law today as the union president said it would be obeyed, but at the same time 600 convention delegates heard talk of labor's right to ignore a law.

The policy of the 220,000-member union was left to the general executive board after delegates changed a surprise resolution which would have committed the union to Taft-Hartley procedures.

That suggestion was a complete turnabout from earlier resolutions prepared for the convention which denounced the Taft-Hartley Act outright and advocated ignoring of the National Labor Relations Board and the requirement of affidavits on the political affiliations of union officers.

Delegates did indicate something of future policy, however, by voting to instruct their locals not to sign "any more no-strike agreements and cancel existing no-strike agreements wherever possible."

Britain Will Sell More Of Its Gold, Hugh Dalton Says

May Apply For Loan From World Bank

LONDON, Sept. 19. (AP)—Hugh Dalton, Chancellor of the Exchequer, said today that Britain intends to draw further on its last-ditch monetary reserves, selling more gold and probably exchanging more sterling for dollars, in an effort to ease over the present dollar pinch.

Dalton said there certainly would be further reduction of purchases from dollar areas and that application might also be made for a loan from the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development.

The announcements, made at a news conference, came as Eire Prime Minister Eamon De Valera conferred with Prime Minister Attlee on financial and economic relations, and as British commonwealth economic experts discussed informally under Dalton's chairmanship arrangements for next week's full-scale conference on a proposed united empire trading front.

At the news conference Dalton described the sale of $80,000,000 worth of gold to the United States and of $60,000,000 worth of sterling to the International Monetary Fund this week as "danger signals."

"The dollar crisis will continue until we are living within our income," he declared. "There will be more sales of gold, and there may well be more purchases of dollars from the fund.

"I anticipate both of these things will recur, and they will be further danger signals to all concerned to play their full part, both in productive effort and civic sacrifice." x x x

The sterling area's gold reserve pool is estimated at 600,000,000 pounds ($2,400,000,000). Experts have estimated that about a third of it might be drawn upon without endangering the stability of the pound.

Under the charter of the monetary fund, Britain is entitled to sell sterling for a maximum of about $325,000,000 this year. The two items together thus might give Britain about $1,125,000,000 to spend in dollar countries.

Fresh Floods Hit Tokyo As Typhoon Death Toll Rises

U. S. Army Reports Typhoid Outbreak

TOKYO, Saturday, Sept. 20 (AP)—Fresh floods spread across 15 square miles of Northeastern Tokyo today, adding eight more bodies to an estimated toll of 2,000 Japanese dead in the five-day-old typhoon-born disaster.

Army engineers said there was danger of further inundation in this jam-packed capital city, and that the situation would remain critical for four days.

The Army reported an outbreak of typhoid among Japanese residents in the flooded town of Ishinoseki, Iwate Prefecture. It was from Ishinoseki that a majority of the stranded Third Battalion, 511th Parachute Regiment of the United States 11th Airborne Division had been returned to their headquarters Thursday night. No cases of typhoid were reported among the Americans.

Food Dropped By Plane

Elsewhere in the flood zones, Americans were supervising widespread innoculations against possible dysentery and typhoid epidemics.

American planes continued to drop food to Ishinoseki. Virtually all of the town was under water.

Pvt. Billie T. Horton, son of Mrs. Dorothy R. Horton, Mount Vernon, Ill.; and Pvt. Allen P. Hampton, Lego, W. Va.

They were drowned Tuesday night when their truck ran into a washout.

Overflowing rivers brought Tokyo's additional deaths today.

Thousands Evacuated

The swollen Naka River broke its banks at two places and spread over flatlands in the northeast and easternmost sections of the city. Japanese police and firemen breached the bank farther downstream to ease the pressure, but they said the situation was still "critical" late last night.

Water was as deep as 10 feet at some points between the Naka and the paralled Edo River, and had penetrated two and one-half miles from where it first entered the city Thursday.

More than 50,000 residents were moved to safety.

Col. Wayland B. Augur, Oakland, Calif., chief of staff of the First Cavalry Division, said reconnaissance of the Kanto Plain, where the flood first struck, indicated a death toll of 2,000.

Vienna Hospital Surgeon Accused Of Experimenting On Jew Children

VIENNA, Sept. 19 (AP) — Harold Trowb, head of the American Joint Distribution Committee in Vienna, charged tonight that "horrible and shocking" experiments had been made on Jewish children in a Vienna hospital, but the hospital's chief surgeon, Dr. Joseph Zikowski, said the experiments were "perfectly legal."

Trowb said the experiments had been made on at least 20 or more than 60 Jewish children admitted to the Vienna Municipal Hospital for infectious diseases in the last three weeks, and that they were performed by Zikowski.

Zikowski, who operated the hospital all through the war, readily admitted to reporters that he had conducted certain experiments on the children.

Trowb said the children involved had been admitted to the hospital with "mild" cases of measles. Zikowski, he charged, ordered punctures for 12 to determine whether they were suffering from infantile paralysis and on at least eight others had performed skin removal operations to determine the type of measles with which they were infected.

Trowb and doctors attached to the international committee for Jewish refugees showed American reporters the 18-month-old son of Lea Bernstein, who was alleged to have undergone the skin removal experiment. The baby had two-inch scar on his chest which his mother, a Romanian refugee, said was not there before he entered the hospital.

Trowb said the experiments were discovered when the Bernstein baby was brought to Dr. George Kolman, chief physician of the International Jewish Committee. Kolman said Zikowski admitted it was "a nasty story which may cost me my head and my job" and that he asked Kolman to "hush it up."

OVERSIZED TEASPOON, SWALLOWED BY GIRL MONTH AGO, REMOVED

PASSAIC, N. J., Sept 19 (AP) an oversized, six and a half-inch long teaspoon, was successfully removed from the upper intestine of a 19-year-old girl at Beth Israel Hospital, Dr. Anton P. Randwazzo said today.

Dr. Randozzo, who would not discuss how the pretty brunette swallowed the piece of silverware, identified his patient as Miss Ann Mulick, of Little Falls.

He said the spoon was swallowed about a month ago, and it was not until a week ago that she convinced her family that she had swallowed it. X-rays were taken and showed the foreign object.

Negroes Attack Cripple, Take His Wallet, Crutch

BALTIMORE, Sept. 19 (AP) — A 21-year-old cripple was still semi-conscious at Mercy Hospital today after telling police he had ben attacked by six negroes who knocked him out, stole his empty wallet, and threw away his crutch.

He was identified as Edward C. Nichols, Erie, Pa., a magazine salesman residing here temporarily. Hospital officials described his condition as serious.

Before lapsing into semi-consciousness, Nicholes told police the assault occurred while he took a walk at a park near his hotel.

Stassen Calls

sign an affidavit that he was not a Communist, Stassen said Denham's ruling "gives to John Lewis a veto as drastic as the veto used by Mr. Molotov in the United Nations Security Council."

"It is not consistent with the American approach of individual rights," he maintained, "and is unconstitutional."

Stassen said the "only sound rule is that the affidavit requirement x x x apply in each instance only to those officers who have direct authority over a specific union, including the power to authorize strikes."

He contended that "if a local union has complete autonomy and makes its own decisions on strikes and other important measures, the affidavits of its own local officers should be sufficient to qualify under the act."

In cases where the local union is a part of the parent organization whose approval must be obtained for strikes and other important action, he said, "then affidavits of the officers of that parent organization should be required."

Russia Loses

The Soviet campaign against the United States is expected to be pushed forward further tomorrow when Yugoslavia, the Soviet Ukraine and perhaps others speak up on this question.

Meanwhile, powerful support for Secretary Marshall's plan to remodel the United Nations peace machinery to give the Assembly more authority came from Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, Australian deputy prime minister and Foreign Minister.

Evatt told a news conference that he would support Marshall's proposal for a year-around "Little Assembly" in the United Nations. He indicated he would move to put more teeth in the plan by demanding that every decision calling for peaceful settlement which was killed by a veto in the Security Council be sent immediately to the 55-nation body. He said at the same time he was not giving up his fight to kill the veto entirely.

Five Reported

Beach, La., was wiped out, and morning might show similar fate for the exposed Alabama settlements of Heron Bay, Alabama Port and Bayou La Batre.

Cyclonic winds of at least 90 miles an hour pounded densely-populated New Orleans for more than five hours, and rolled tidal waters before the storm to flood much of the Bayou country to the south. Nevertheless, the Red Cross announced a complete check showed no loss of life in New Orleans and no hospitalized cases.

Four Louisiana parishes—St. Bernard, Terrabonne, La Fourche and St. Charles—also reported no deaths or serious injuries.

The storm passed over Baton Rouge as well without apparent injury to residents, although 90-mile velocity was recorded just before the airport weather station blew down.

There was vast destruction at Gulfport, Miss., however. Creosote tanks burst and fell, flooding the harbor, and the beach was littered with wrecked yachts, some 70 feet in length.

NLRB Gives AFL, CIO More Time To Make Up Mind

Have Until Oct. 31 To Sign Affidavits

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19—(AP)—A showdown on the non-Communist affidavit issue was postponed today when the National Labor Relations Board and its general Counsel, Robert N. Denham, gave AFL and CIO leaders until October 31 to swear they are not Communists.

NLRB agents in the field, who were set to start dismissing union cases next Tuesday because the top AFL and CIO leaders have not determined their policy toward the affidavits, were authorized to withhold action if requests for more time are based on "reasonable grounds."

5,000 Cases Pending

Some 5,000 cases involving union grievances, requests for collective bargaining elections, etc., are pending. Today's action had the effect of saving the bulk of these cases from dismissal for the time being.

The CIO said nothing about the action, but AFL officials told reporters they are pleased by it, "if in the meantime the board reviews the Denham ruling and reverses it."

Denham has interpreted the Taft-Hartley Act as meaning that all top officers of AFL and CIO must sign the affidavits, else unions affiliated with these organizations will be barred from using the NLRB facilities.

Ruling Change Asked

Joseph A. Padway, acting for the the AFL Teamsters and several other AFL unions, went to the board with a petition asking it to reverse the Denham ruling. He asked the board to rule that under the law only officers of unions would have to sign, not officers of federations of unions.

Denham had allowed the labor leaders 20 days in which to comply after receipt of notice of the requirement. The first of those notices were mailed by the board September 2, so the initial deadline would have expired next Tuesday.

The postponement gives both the AFL and CIO an opportunity to fight the whole question out on the floor of their conventions. The AFL meets one week in Boston starting October 13.

Capt. Morrissey Home From Overseas

Capt. E. Leo Morrissey, 910 Holland Street, is now home on leave after completing an overseas tour of duty that took him all over Africa, the Middle East and Europe.

Morrissey, a partner in Morrissey Radio Supply, North Centre Street, has been a signal officer in the Army Air Force since entering the service in 1942. His last post before returning home was in Bavaria in Southern Germany.

After completion of 30 days' leave, Morrissey will be assigned to a post in the United States as a signal officer with the AAF.

Area Men Accepted For Naval Reserve

Three young men of the Cumberland area, including a member of the Fort Hill High School football team, have been accepted for membership in the Cumberland Organized Naval Reserve Division, according to Lt. Comdr. Walter N. Hedrick, organizing officer.

They are Donald Joseph Beckwith, Potomac Park; Robert DeSales Kirby, 142 Maple Street, Frostburg; and Ronald John Catlett, 326 Grand Avenue. The latter plays guard on the Fort Hill football squad. Each of the three enlisted as an apprentice seaman.

News Briefs

Jack Platt, who recently returned from a trip to Europe, will be the speaker at the meeting of the Rotary Club Tuesday at 12:15 p. m. in Central YMCA, and will tell the Rotarians about his observations while in Europe.

Miss Anne Sloan, Lonaconing, child welfare officer of James P. Love Post, American Legion, will speak at the regular meeting of Fulton Meyers Post, American Legion to be held in the post home at 68 North Mechanic Street Monday night at 8:30.

J. S. Zimmerman, Romney, W. Va., prosecuting attorney of Hampshire County, who was admitted to Memorial Hospital early this week, is reported getting along fine.

Nicaragua Outbreak

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Sept. 19 (AP) — The chief of staff of the National Guard said today a group headed by three conservative colonels had attacked a guard garrison at Muelle De Los Bueyes, killing the colonel in charge and a telegraph operator. He said a guard patrol later killed two and captured two other members of the attacking group.

must spend their days in our mental institutions; to furnish them with sufficient food and clothing; and, above all, to provide competent medical and nursing care and kindly attendants to supervise them."

The governor also listed other items upon which revenue from the sales tax would be spent, including tuberculosis sanitaria, the new hospitals for the chronically ill and aged, and medical care for "thousands of less fortunate Marylanders, who otherwise might suffer and die.x x x."

Lane "Rudely Awakened"

Painting the background to his proposal, the governor said that last fall he was "led to believe" there would be general fund surplus of $16,389,000 when the budget for the present biennium became effective on June 30 of this year.

"However," he said, "I was gradually and rudely awakened to the fact that this large sum was not free of obligations and commitments as to its use. Large amounts of the expected surplus either had been dedicated or obligated to specific uses. x x x"

The financial outlook of most state agencies was dark, he said. They "were on the verge of going broke before the end of the fiscal year because of salary increases granted by the Standard Salary Board and increased commodity costs. x x x"

Although requests from various departments "were drastically reduced to emergency items only," he said, "it was necessary to appropriate the total sum of $4,618,560" to meet these emergencies.

Meanwhile, he added, the amount of revenue expected by the state for this year also was reduced by $2,307,750 when the special session of the Legislature passed a law distributing part of the income from horse racing to Baltimore City and the counties.

More money would be needed, he said, to correct "the deplorable shape" of Maryland's highway system, to meet requirements of the demands for higher education, to furnish adequate facilities for health and other items for which no provision could be made in the original budget.

"I gladly pay just tribute," he declared, to the members of the Legislature who had the vision to see the problems involved in the path of future progress for the people of the state, and who had courage enough to unselfishly solve them.

"You owe them a debt of gratitude," he told his listeners.

"I am confident that our citizens expect a constructive program for their future. The vast majority of them are builders, not wreckers. With them I join in the dawn of a brighter future."

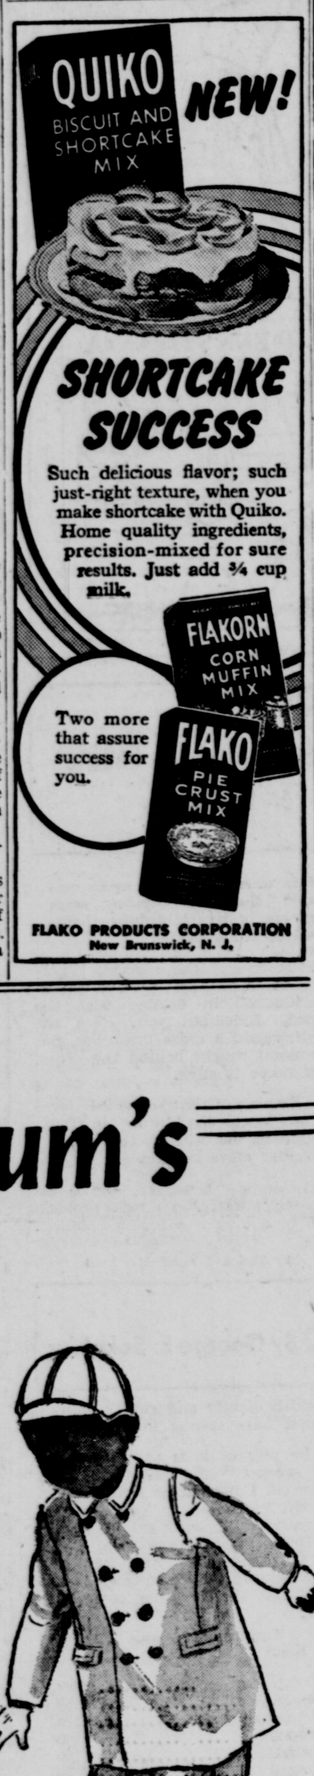

Men To Vote On Offer Of Beer Distributors

Employes of some 22 beer distributors of the Cumberland area will meet Sunday morning to act upon a contract offer of the firms, C. E. Stutzman, business agent of Local 453, Teamsters Union, AFL, reported yesterday.

He said the conference will follow the regular meeting of the local scheduled Sunday at 10 a. m. in Trades Council Hall, Frederick Street.

The firms, he added, have offered a cent and one-half increase for the 75 or more men while the union has asked a $5 increase for a 40 hour week.

There has been no change, he added, in the strike of several Winchester area trucking firms in spite of several conferences held this week.

Union Chiefs More Steamed Up Over Labor Law Than Public

If we are to accept the views of William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Emil Rieve, president of the CIO Textile Workers Union, it is most apparent that organized labor intends to make the Taft-Hartley labor-union law the main issue of the 1948 presidential campaign.

Mr. Rieve made a speech recently to the New York State CIO Council. Among other things, he opposed formation of a third political party at this time, holding that it would only insure the election of a "reactionary" Republican President. And he advised labor to stop talking about defeating all members of Congress who voted for the Taft-Hartley Act. That, he said, was too big a job, though something might be done by concentrating on a 1948 effort to retire 12 Senators and 100 Representatives.

Since Mr. Rieve is a national vice president of the CIO and a director of its Political Action Committee, his words may carry some weight. Anyway, it is certainly true that other union leaders are biting off much more than they can chew when they threaten to drive every Taft-Hartley supporter out of Congress. That would mean beating more than three-fourths of the present membership including more than half the Democrats in addition to more than 90 per cent of the Republicans.

The acid-test vote for the Taft-Hartley bill, on the over-riding of President Truman's veto, was 331 to 83 in the House, 68 to 25 in the Senate.

Whether Mr. Rieve himself takes in too much territory—whether, that is, labor can defeat a dozen Senators and 100 Representatives who supported the Taft-Hartley Act—is another question. Its answer will depend, we believe, on what the country thinks of this new labor law along in the Summer and Fall of next year.

That, in turn, probably will depend on how the Act operates, not on the present outcry from union leaders who call it a "slave law" and at the same time assert that it can't prevent them from ignoring, by-passing, or defying its provisions.

Which brings us to Mr. Green. He said, the other day, "We are determined to write that law off the books and to retire every member of Congress who voted for it. That is our fixed, static, immovable and uncompromising position. Can I make it stronger?" Probably not. That seems to be strong enough.

But before getting any more fixed, static, immovable, etc., Mr. Green and other labor union leaders maybe ought to take another gander at the election returns from Bucks and Lehigh counties in Pennsylvania, of which Doylestown and Allentown, respectively, are the county seats.

That is where the returns were computed from that special Congressional election which Mr. Green's rival-in-arms, the CIO, said would show how the public stood on the Taft-Hartley law, and which they said would provide a preview of what would happen in 1948 to those who voted for that law.

The Republican candidate who was elected in that district did not vote for the Taft-Hartley law because he was not a member of Congress. But he did vote for a number of labor bills—in fact, steered them to enactment—which were passed by the last session of the Pennsylvania Legislature.

Mr. Green's labor-union counterparts in Pennsylvania opposed these laws, too. And the CIO politicians who went into the Allentown area to beat this Republican candidate made it plain they considered him just as bad as congressmen who did vote for the Taft-Hartley law. They even defied the provisions of the law, deliberately, in an attempt to put over their candidate for Congress, Philip Storch.

What happened? The Republican candidate, Franklin H. Lichtenwalter, won the election by the biggest Republican majority in that district in 20 years.

One cannot help but feel, in the face of these facts, that it is chiefly the professional labor leaders, rather than the general public, who are steamed up about repealing the Taft-Hartley law.

Of course, no one can object to the effort of labor leaders to work for the repeal of the Taft-Hartley law or to strike politically at those who voted for it in Congress. If they can persuade a majority of the people to their way of thinking, that is certainly in line with the democratic process. If, however, they continue to go as far as they are going in abuse of individuals, in misrepresentation of what is in fact a very mild law and in the promise or threat to spend vast sums to swing the political balance, they are sure to bring about a reaction. And that would be in line with the democratic process, too!

While President Truman was in South America he should have paid a visit to Ecuador and found out how they put on a war with one shot and no bond drives.

For The Whole Child

The greatest change that has taken place in American schools in the last generation is not in the intellectual content of the curriculum, considerable as that change is. It is, rather, in the emotional and social content, which was considered hardly at all in the days before World War I.

"Personality" is now being stressed as a teaching requirement. This is in sharp contrast to the days when a certain irascibility not only was not held against a teacher, but was considered a definite asset in many schools.

The new way comes closer to fulfilling the meaning of the word "education"—to "draw out" the pupil's potentialities, rather than to beat a few half-comprehended facts into him. That lopsided education turned out too many students who had never learned the most important thing of all—how to live with their fellows.

They hadn't learned it, partly because it hadn't been taught, partly because much of the teaching they got tended to add to their fears, antagonisms, and tendencies to shrink from human contacts.

The aim is to combine the teaching of human relations with other classes rather than to change the curriculum for it. That is a sound idea. It is not good education to teach things like good English, Americanism, and human relations in separate courses and then forget about them. They should be present, if unnoticed, in all courses.

Churchill, now ordered to cut down his cigar consumption, is getting less and less rope.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

A PERPLEXING DISORDER

LUPUS erythematosus occurs in two forms. In one, the lesions are chronic and confined to the skin. The second type (disseminated) is more serious; it is an acute disorder affecting the entire body and, because of its unusual symptoms, frequently escapes detection.

No one knows the exact cause of either, but a toxin is probably responsible. Victims often tell of having been exposed to strong sunlight, an insect bite, or sudden changes in temperature. It attacks both men and women, but the fair sex is favored and it is more prevalent in the third and fourth decades.

The typical skin manifestation of the less severe form is usually found on the face. As a rule the outbreak is distributed over the nose and cheeks, producing a butterfly pattern. Occasionally the ears and backs of the hands are involved, as well as the scalp and neck. Sometimes a patch will vanish in one spot, only to reappear in another. Invasion of the scalp invariably leads to baldness. A small, red, slightly elevated area, covered with scales, spreads gradually in all directions. The central portion is depressed slightly and darker in color.

In the generalized disorder, the characteristic lesions are not always present. Instead, an innocent looking, pinkish, scaly dermatitis will develop. But in these patients the disease is stormy. Many have a high temperature and are really ill. Prostration may be marked and aching of the joints, nauea, vomiting, or other varieties of indigestion may appear. The glands in the neck and groin enlarge and the heart and kidneys may be affected. Meanwhile, the temperature fluctuates and the skin eruptions fade, only to return at a later date. At this stage the malady may resemble rheumatic fever, tuberculosis, or blood poisoning. The diagnosis can be made only by removing a portion of the involved skin and studying it under the microscope.

For many years the disease was considered tuberculosis in nature. We know now that it is an affliction of the tiny arteries coursing thruout the body, which explains why the symptoms are so variable in the disseminated type.

There is no specific treatment. The general health should be investigated carefully and all foci of infection tracked down and eliminated. Bright sunlight and excessive cold should be avoided. The sulfonamides and penicillin have helped in some instances and are worthy of trial. Gold sodium thiosulfate, one of the older remedies, has aided many sufferers, but should be used only under the guiding eye of a physician since reactions may occur. Numerous preparations have been recommended including bismuth and quinine, but their effect is questionable.

Care must be exercised not to apply irritating ointments since there is always a possibility that they will produce a flareup of the lesions. For this reason, only mild solutions or bland ointments are employed. Freezing with carbon dioxide snow is of value now and then in cases that have resisted all other plans.

SLEEP BRINGS SWEATING

K. L. writes: As soon as I fall asleep, excessive sweating wakens me. I am 29 years old and in good health. This condition does not worry me—I'm just curious about it. Can you explain?

REPLY

With complete relaxation, the phenomenon is not uncommon. It is not necessarily significant and may mean that the room is too warm or the bedding too heavy. So long as you are in good health, there is no reason to believe that any disorder is responsible.

SPLIT TONGUE

Mrs. S. writes: What causes the tongue to crack every once in a while? These marks remain for two or three weeks and whatever I eat makes my whole mouth burn.

REPLY

The condition may be due to infection or irritation from the overuse of alcohol or tobacco. Now and then it results from a vitamin deficiency or is associated with disturbances of the stomach or liver. In one type, lingua plicata, the abnormality "runs in families." Deep furrows, scattered all over the tongue, are noted and as a rule, burning or other symptoms are not present.

POXES

G. T. writes: How does smallpox differ from chicken pox?

REPLY

In the early stages the victim of smallpox is much more ill and the rash appears simultaneously on the face, hands, and trunk. In chicken pox the eruption develops more slowly and in crops. New lesions break out while old ones are healing. The back and shoulders and not infrequently the scalp and membranes of the mouth are affected.

SWOLLEN PALATE

M. S. writes: What causes the palate to swell? This has happened to me several times and I feel as tho I am choking. Several hours pass before it becomes normal.

REPLY

The soft palate and its hanging part (uvula) are not immune to infection and swell when inflamed. Allergy and irritation are other possibilities.

DON'T WORRY

E. S. writes: I recently rented a room in a family where one of the members has diabetes. Is there any danger of my becoming infected?

REPLY

No. The disorder is neither contagious nor infectious.

IT SOMETIMES DOES

Mrs. R. writes: It it unusual for the thyroid to enlarge during pregnancy?

REPLY

Yes, this occurs now and then because of a disturbance of the glandular balance.

THAT CALLS FOR A MEETING OF THE FACULTY

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Secretary Of Agriculture Will Oppose More Food To Europe; Truman Cabinet Will Be Divided Over Marshall Plan; Solution For Greece

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The full Truman Cabinet is converging on Washington for the first time in many weeks to be on hand when the President steps off the USS Missouri to face some of the most important problems of his entire Administration.

Secretary of State Marshall will return briefly from New York; Secretary of Agriculture Anderson will fly in from New Mexico; even Postmaster General Hannegan, long absent because of illness, will be on deck.

Biggest problems to be decided are:

1. Shall a special session of Congress be called to back up the Marshall plan?
2. Will rationing and price control be necessary to feed Europe?

When the President goes the rounds of his Cabinet, first to be called on will be the man on his immediate right — the Secretary of State. Marshall's views already have been cabled to Truman in Brazil, are well known to the public. He believes Europe is lost to us unless a special session of Congress votes immediate funds and food.

But the 8th man Truman will call on, as he makes the Cabinet's round, will give him some stimulating ideas along different lines. He is tall, lean Secretary of Agriculture Anderson who is just as persuasive at Cabinet meetings as he once was as an insurance man.

Anderson, a New Mexican cattle rancher, whose job it is to stand up for the American farmer, has collected significant figures showing what the American farmer already has done for Europe. In August, he will prabably tell Cabinet colleagues, U. S. farmers shipped Europe the stupendous total of 1,800,000 tons of wheat as against 400,000 tons in the same month last year.

"However, when Europe got this wheat," Anderson told Agriculture Department associates the other day, "they went on an eating binge. As soon as they get wheat from us, they eat it up and well for more. They don't store it for winter, when they will need it most."

Let Europe Help Self

In addition, Anderson has analyzed to his associates three other problems to overcome in feeding Europe:

1. Lack of dollars to pay for wheat.
2. Lack of freight cars to send wheat to the seaboard.
3. Europeans don't collect their own wheat.

In Greece, for instance, Anderson discussed food problems with the Greek Agricultural Minister, found Greece had a wheat harvest of 600,000 tons, but actually collected only 50,000 tons from Greek farmers. When the U. S. Secretary of Agriculture asked the Greek Minister of Agriculture why the balance wasn't collected, the latter threw up his hands.

"There might be a change of Government!" he exclaimed.

"So what?" replied Anderson. "It's not up to us to send you wheat when you have it, but don't use it."

Anderson also found and will probably report to the Cabinet that in France, the Minister of Agriculture has fixed the price of wheat at $4.23 a bushel. In Argentina, the farmer is getting $5 a bushel.

"Yet they expect to buy wheat from us for $2.50," says the Cabinet member who took an oath to protect the interests of the American farmer.

What Anderson will advise Truman, therefore, is that Europeans have forgotten the other half of the Marshall plan—namely, that in addition to help from the United States, European nations must also help themselves.

Solution for Greece

Working behind the U. N. scenes, Australia's forthright Foreign Minister Evatt has evolved a solution to the touchy Greek question which he plans to drop in the General Assembly's lap.

The able Australian will ask the General Assembly to issue a "cease fire" order to both the Greek Government and the guerrillas, after which the Greek Government would issue a general amnesty guaranteeing pro-Soviet guerrilla forces complete freedom if they come down from the mountains. Such amnesty offers have been made in the past, but the guerrillas never trusted the reactionary Greek government, always feared reprisals.

Under the Evatt plan, the U. N., not the Greek Government, would guarantee amnesty. It would send a picked team of experts to make sure civil liberties were granted the mountain warriors, and to make certain they were given some means of re-establishing themselves economically.

This follows the successful pattern established by the U. N. Security Council in dealing with the thorny Indoesian war. Here the U. N. issued a cease-fire order, put its moral weight behind the order, and made it stick.

Russia's Gromyko voted for the "cease fire" order in Indonesia, but will try to block a similar move in Greece.

If, despite Gromyko, the Evatt scheme works, the Greek problem will be a long way nearer solution.

THESE DAYS By George E. Sokolsky

Central Problem In Europe

THE central post-war problem of Europe is not Germany but Great Britain. No matter where one's sentiments may be, the present plight of Great Britain leaves Europe without the economic leadership to which that continent has become accustomed for many centuries. Pro-Britishers in this country complain that those who do not fervently expect Great Britain to emerge more powerful than before simply disregard the fact that two wars have left that country economically flat, that the empire is mostly gone as a supporting bastion and that the future rests upon American cooperation and subsidy which may or may not come in the particular form Britain desires.

Winston Churchill said:

"The National Government of which I was the head, had won the war. It was for the Socialist Government to win the peace. And it was for them to make the most of the remaining resources of the nation, to heal the wounds of war, to maintain our position in the world, and to give some measure of happiness and reviving prosperity to the men and women who had fought well. . . ."

Then he added:

Unhappily, these men called to the august task of setting the country on its feet again, were obsessed and dominated by party and class prejudice, and they cared far more for pleasing their own extremists than solving the grim troubles of the aftermath which beset us all. I do not blame them so much for the mistakes they have made, many and grievous though they may be. I blame them for the wrongful choice, in caring more for their party theories and dogma than about the revival of our strength . . ."

Unfortunately for England, her Socialists picked the wrong time for vast reforms, reorganizations and the remaking of a people. The Socialists, for some reason, assumed that the United States would underwrite these experiments no matter what they cost. They are surprised that this country asks for facts and figures, for accounts, for specific data. They entered upon their revolution believing that they would have a blank check on the American treasury.

Churchill had no such illusions. He said of the Socialist schemes:

"I do not believe that any of these methods will aid us in our economic crisis. The arrival of unwilling workers in industries to which they are strangers may well do more harm than good. Efficient arrangements for the steady and selective supply of raw materials would give far more fruitful results in a great many industries and over the whole field. Rarely, if ever in history, have the noble and altruistic qualities to which Mr. Attlee appealed been developed in the human race by compulsion. On the contrary, it is from resistance to tyranny in all its varied forms that the qualities which dignify and glorify mankind have sprung to life . . ."

The pity of it is that the British worker's efficiency has been destroyed. I have some figures given by Mr. P. Lamartine Yates in 1937 comparing the agricultural output of British farmer and farm worker with those of other European countries and it is interesting to note that the Britisher comes out first:

Net Agricultural Value Produced per Head

Great Britain	£200
Denmark	£155
Netherlands	£120
Belgium	£100
Switzerland	£100
France	£ 90
Germany	£ 70

George Winder, in the "Nineteenth Century and After", makes the point:

"Under the new Agricultural Bill the British farmer is to be subjected to discipline and if, in the opinion of certain monitors appointed by the State, he fails to cultivate his farm efficiently, it is to be taken from him, even though it may have been in the possession of his family for a hundred years."

When the Russians took the land from the kulaks, the world was horrified; yet British socialism proposes to do the same thing through a County Agricultural Executive Committee which is to be a creature of the Minister of Agriculture.

In a word, the British farmer is to be bureaucratized which means ultimately serfdom. As one studies what the British socialists are trying to do, it appears that their trend is not toward Communism but toward Fascism — toward Mussolini's type of Fascism. That would indeed be a tragic consequence of this war.

Marshall Seen Mobilizing World Opinion Behind U. S. Position

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—What Secretary Marshall's speech before the United Nations really means is that the Department of State has failed to come to a diplomatic agreement with Russia on the major questions of the day and has decided instead to try to mobilize world opinion behind the American position.

All suggestions that the United States deal directly with Russia and try to dispose on a broad scale of all questions in a single agreement apparently have been of no avail. Evidently the Department of State has come to a conclusion widely propagandized thus far in America—namely, that the Russians are not to be trusted and that negotiation is futile.

When nations do not trust each other, they usually go to war sooner or later, being provoked into war by some overt act.

The planners in the State Department insist there is not to be any war because neither side wants it, but they overlook the fact that national pride often produces a war that nobody wants because one side or the other gives provocation publicly and the other side does not care to back down in humiliation.

If the Department of State feels it can continue to attack Russia in the public press and before so important a gathering as the United Nations and if the Soviets by their daily propaganda feel they must attack the good faith of the United States, there is little hope that the debate in the United Nations assembly will elleviate hurt feelings or produce an atmosphere in which diplomacy can be effective.

Things Needing Explanation

What the Department of State has not explained is why it has failed to negotiate directly a general settlement of all Russian-American questions and why it has insisted on piecemeal handling of disputes in different parts of the world while proclaiming a policy of hostility to Russian interests in the Near East as evidenced in the announcement of the Truman Doctrine.

Russian cooperation in the Marshall Plan was made impossible from the standpoint of Soviet pride because it was linked up with the Truman doctrine, which was considered by Russia an attack on her interests in the Near East.

The peace of the world has often been advanced at critical moments by public disclosure of all the facts. It has often been retarded by emotional outbursts of governmental spokesmen at a time when diplomacy has ceased to exert a constructive influence.

When the Korean question, for example, is dumped into the United Nations Assembly, it is a confession that diplomacy has failed. The U. N. Charter does not give any authority to settle questions growing out of the war. Unless America takes the position that the Russian attitude in Korea is a "threat to the peace of the world," there is no legal reason to justify bringing it before the Assembly.

Has the Department of State given up all hope of negotiating on a general scale with Russia? Is the submission of the American case to the Assembly a last step in desperation to mobilize world opinion so that, if war comes, America will have the backing of allies throughout the globe?

This question will be asked from now on because when a subject like Korea is submitted to the Assembly, it is wholly different from any procedural questions such as are involved in the veto or in the appointment of a security committee to observe world trends. It means that if the Korean question is to go before the Assembly now, the German and European questions growing out of World War II may similarly be submitted at a future date.

Misinterpretation of Talk Feared

Maybe that is the plan of Secretary Marshall, but it would be regrettable if his speech is interested to mean that he and his planners see only war as the eventual outcome. For in rejecting an negotiations with the Russians, the alternative is economic coercion by the U. S. and its allies.

While almost everybody in official circles professes to believe war is not near and that it is not inevitable, the persons responsible for our foreign policy do not seem to be able to answer the question of "what next" if Russia declines to be coerced by our public statements or by our use of dollars in Greece or by our economic aid to Europe. A re-examination of the record of our diplomacy in relation to Russia might be helpful in determining what are the bases for Russian disturst of the United States and, Russia. Can nothing be done any more by negotiation between the two countries that ought to respect one another and trust one another?

Country In Condition Which Amounts To Serious Emergency

By MARK SULLIVAN

In Washington, talk about a special session of Congress increases from day to day, but decision about it does not become more visible. On the contrary the mounting talk is for the most part mounting controversy over whether a special session should be called.

One contention is about responsibility for calling a special session. When Congress adjourned in July it provided, with deliberation, that a special session could be called by the heads of that body. The effect and presumably the intention was calling or not calling a special session should not be left wholly in the discretion of the president. This has the frequent effect of divided responsibility. The President and the heads of Congress have opportunity for mutually passing the buck if conditions tempt either to do so. Since the President belongs to one party, while Congress is controlled by the other, a partisan contention is involved. Added to the contention over calling a special session are several others, arising out of the things a special session might do — what the President might ask it to do, contrary to the wish of Congress and the Republicans, and what Congress might do of its own initiative, contrary to the wish of the President and the Democrats.

Main Reason Is European Aid

The whole condition makes for one of those stalemates which affect the ability of a Democratic government of divided powers to function adequately and in time. Beneath all is a somber fact, that this country is in a condition which amounts to serious emergency.

The main reason for which a special session of Congress is advocated is to act upon relief to European countries. Threat of collapse in Europe, and the consequences it would have to us, is serious enough and the imminence of it increases daily. In addition to that is a domestic emergency.

This country is in serious danger of inflation of a disastrous degree. When a special session of Congress to handle this is proposed, more contention arises. Republicans charge that the danger of inflation is blameable upon President Truman and upon the Democratic Administration over a number of years. Democrats counter-charge that the threat is blameable upon the too early ending of price control under OPA. Under this arises further contention. While President Truman strongly urged retention of OPA, the limitation of its powers which he vetoed was done by the Congress preceding the present one, in which the Democrats were in control.

Permeating the contentions on this point is one area of silence, as significant as the most vocal of the contentions. This is about the part played in rising prices and threat of inflation by the government policy of supporting prices of farm products, food. Without putting undue emphasis on this one among several aspects of high prices and inflation, the very silence about it has a weight of its own. Partly the silence is due, without much doubt, to reluctance on the part of leaders of both parties to stress a condition affecting farmers, as a group having political power. Partly the silence is due to lack of general understanding of the mechanisms by which the government prevents reduction of prices of farm products. At this moment the government is actively supporting prices of some farm products, and has mechanism for supporting several more.

In Town Meeting of the Air this week, the question posed was "How can we stop rising prices now?" The four speakers were Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson; Mayor of Minneapolis and former Professor of Political Science at the University of Minnesota, Hubert H. Humphrey; Republican Congressman from Nebraska, Howard H. Buffett; and Oscar Palmer, an Arizona businessman who is regional director of the National Association of Manufacturers.

All Spoke Comprehensively

All spoke comprehensively, covering as a group the causes and proposed cures for rising prices. But so far as was heard by this writer, listening with some intentness, none of the speakers mentioned, certainly did not dwell upon, the government policy and practice of supporting prices of farm products. Not, that is, until the meeting was opened to questions from the audience. At that point Secretary Anderson was put on the carpet about his Department's buying of potatoes, eggs, and other commodities, and, as to potatoes, destroying some of those bought. Part of Secretary Anderson's answer was that price support is decreed by existing acts of Congress, which he is carrying out. He did not see what anyone must sense, that modification of the statutes for price support is one reason for a special session of Congress.

So long as leaders of both parties, including President Truman, are silent about price support of farm products, all Mr. Truman's many attempts to reduce the general price level by admonition, to "talk prices down," are unconvincing. And so long as the statutes for price support of farm products remain a barrier, attempts to reduce the price level by voluntary actions, buyers' strikes, are likely to be vain.

Union Chiefs More Steamed Up Over Labor Law Than Public

If we are to accept the views of William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Emil Rieve, president of the CIO Textile Workers Union, it is most apparent that organized labor intends to make the Taft-Hartley labor-union law the main issue of the 1948 presidential campaign.

Mr. Rieve made a speech recently to the New York State CIO Council. Among other things, he opposed formation of a third political party at this time, holding that it would only insure the election of a "reactionary" Republican President. And he advised labor to stop talking about defeating all members of Congress who voted for the Taft-Hartley Act. That, he said, was too big a job, though something might be done by concentrating on a 1948 effort to retire 12 Senators and 100 Representatives.

Since Mr. Rieve is a national vice president of the CIO and a director of its Political Action Committee, his words may carry some weight. Anyway, it is certainly true that other union leaders are biting off much more than they can chew when they threaten to drive every Taft-Hartley supporter out of Congress. That would mean beating more than three-fourths of the present membership including more than half the Democrats in addition to more than 90 per cent of the Republicans.

The acid-test vote for the Taft-Hartley bill, on the over-riding of President Truman's veto, was 331 to 83 in the House, 68 to 25 in the Senate.

Whether Mr. Rieve himself takes in too much territory—whether, that is, labor can defeat a dozen Senators and 100 Representatives who supported the Taft-Hartley Act—is another question. Its answer will depend, we believe, on what the country thinks of this new labor law along in the Summer and Fall of next year.

That, in turn, probably will depend on how the Act operates, not on the present outcry from union leaders who call it a "slave law" and at the same time assert that it can't prevent them from ignoring, by-passing, or defying its provisions.

Which brings us to Mr. Green. He said, the other day, "We are determined to write that law off the books and to retire every member of Congress who voted for it. That is our fixed, static, immovable and uncompromising position. Can I make it stronger?" Probably not. That seems to be strong enough.

But before getting any more fixed, static, immovable, etc., Mr. Green and other labor union leaders maybe ought to take another gander at the election returns from Bucks and Lehigh counties in Pennsylvania, of which Doylestown and Allentown, respectively, are the county seats.

That is where the returns were computed from that special Congressional election which Mr. Green's rival-in-arms, the CIO, said would show how the public stood on the Taft-Hartley law, and which they said would provide a preview of what would happen in 1948 to those who voted for that law.

The Republican candidate who was elected in that district did not vote for the Taft-Hartley law because he was not a member of Congress. But he did vote for a number of labor bills—in fact, steered them to enactment—which were passed by the last session of the Pennsylvania Legislature.

Mr. Green's labor-union counterparts in Pennsylvania opposed these laws, too. And the CIO politicians who went into the Allentown area to beat this Republican candidate made it plain they considered him just as bad as congressmen who did vote for the Taft-Hartley law. They even defied the provisions of the law, deliberately, in an attempt to put over their candidate for Congress, Philip Storch.

What happened? The Republican candidate, Franklin H. Lichtenwalter, won the election by the biggest Republican majority in that district in 20 years.

One cannot help but feel, in the face of these facts, that it is chiefly the professional labor leaders, rather than the general public, who are steamed up about repealing the Taft-Hartley law.

Of course, no one can object to the effort of labor leaders to work for the repeal of the Taft-Hartley law or to strike politically at those who voted for it in Congress. If they can persuade a majority of the people to their way of thinking, that is certainly in line with the democratic process. If, however, they continue to go as far as they are going in abuse of individuals, in misrepresentation of what is in fact a very mild law and in the promise or threat to spend vast sums to swing the political balance, they are sure to bring about a reaction. And that would be in line with the democratic process, too!

While President Truman was in South America he should have paid a visit to Ecuador and found out how they put on a war with one shot and no bond drives.

For The Whole Child

The greatest change that has taken place in American schools in the last generation is not in the intellectual content of the curriculum, considerable as that change is. It is, rather, in the emotional and social content, which was considered hardly at all in the days before World War I.

"Personality" is now being stressed as a teaching requirement. This is in sharp contrast to the days when a certain irascibility not only was not held against a teacher, but was considered a definite asset in many schools.

The new way comes closer to fulfilling the meaning of the word "education"—to "draw out" the pupil's potentialities, rather than to beat a few half-comprehended facts into him. That lopsided education turned out too many students who had never learned the most important thing of all—how to live with their fellows.

They hadn't learned it, partly because it hadn't been taught, partly because much of the teaching they got tended to add to their fears, antagonisms, and tendencies to shrink from human contacts.

The aim is to combine the teaching of human relations with other classes rather than to change the curriculum for it. That is a sound idea. It is not good education to teach things like good English, Americanism, and human relations in separate courses and then forget about them. They should be present, if unnoticed, in all courses.

Churchill, now ordered to cut down his cigar consumption, is getting less and less rope.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

A PERPLEXING DISORDER

LUPUS erythematosus occurs in two forms. In one, the lesions are chronic and confined to the skin. The second type (disseminated) is more serious; it is an acute disorder affecting the entire body and, because of its unusual symptoms, frequently escapes detection.

No one knows the exact cause of either, but a toxin is probably responsible. Victims often tell of having been exposed to strong sunlight, an insect bite, or sudden changes in temperature. It attacks both men and women, but the fair sex is favored and it is more prevalent in the third and fourth decades.

The typical skin manifestation of the less severe form is usually found on the face. As a rule the outbreak is distributed over the nose and cheeks, producing a butterfly pattern. Occasionally the ears and backs of the hands are involved, as well as the scalp and neck. Sometimes a patch will vanish in one spot, only to reappear in another. Invasion of the scalp invariably leads to baldness. A small, red, slightly elevated area, covered with scales, spreads gradually in all directions. The central portion is depressed slightly and darker in color.

In the generalized disorder, the characteristic lesions are not always present. Instead, an innocent looking, pinkish, scaly dermatitis will develop. But in these patients the disease is stormy. Many have a high temperature and are really ill. Prostration may be marked and aching of the joints, nauea, vomiting, or other varieties of indigestion may appear. The glands in the neck and groin enlarge and the heart and kidneys may be affected. Meanwhile, the temperature fluctuates and the skin eruptions fade, only to return at a later date. At this stage the malady may resemble rheumatic fever, tuberculosis, or blood poisoning. The diagnosis can be made only by removing a portion of the involved skin and studying it under the microscope.

For many years the disease was considered tuberculosis in nature. We know now that it is an affliction of the tiny arteries coursing thruout the body, which explains why the symptoms are so variable in the disseminated type.

There is no specific treatment. The general health should be investigated carefully and all foci of infection tracked down and eliminated. Bright sunlight and excessive cold should be avoided. The sulfonamides and penicillin have helped in some instances and are worthy of trial. Gold sodium thiosulfate, one of the older remedies, has aided many sufferers, but should be used only under the guiding eye of a physician since reactions may occur. Numerous preparations have been recommended including bismuth and quinine, but their effect is questionable.

Care must be exercised not to apply irritating ointments since there is always a possibility that they will produce a flareup of the lesions. For this reason, only mild solutions or bland ointments are employed. Freezing with carbon dioxide snow is of value now and then in cases that have resisted all other plans.

SLEEP BRINGS SWEATING

K. L. writes: As soon as I fall asleep, excessive sweating wakens me. I am 29 years old and in good health. This condition does not worry me—I'm just curious about it. Can you explain?

REPLY

With complete relaxation, the phenomenon is not uncommon. It is not necessarily significant and may mean that the room is too warm or the bedding too heavy. So long as you are in good health, there is no reason to believe that any disorder is responsible.

SPLIT TONGUE

Mrs. S. writes: What causes the tongue to crack every once in a while? These marks remain for two or three weeks and whatever I eat makes my whole mouth burn.

REPLY

The condition may be due to infection or irritation from the overuse of alcohol or tobacco. Now and then it results from a vitamin deficiency or is associated with disturbances of the stomach or liver. In one type, lingua plicata, the abnormality "runs in families." Deep furrows, scattered all over the tongue, are noted and as a rule, burning or other symptoms are not present.

POXES

G. T. writes: How does smallpox differ from chicken pox?

REPLY

In the early stages the victim of smallpox is much more ill and the rash appears simultaneously on the face, hands, and trunk. In chicken pox the eruption develops more slowly and in crops. New lesions break out while old ones are healing. The back and shoulders and not infrequently the scalp and membranes of the mouth are affected.

SWOLLEN PALATE

M. S. writes: What causes the palate to swell? This has happened to me several times and I feel as tho I am choking. Several hours pass before it becomes normal.

REPLY

The soft palate and its nanging part (uvula) are not immune to infection and swell when inflamed. Allergy and irritation are other possibilities.

DON'T WORRY

E. S. writes: I recently rented a room in a family where one of the members has diabetes. Is there any danger of my becoming infected?

REPLY

No. The disorder is neither contagious nor infectious.

IT SOMETIMES DOES

Mrs. R. writes: It it unusual for the thyroid to enlarge during pregnancy?

REPLY

Yes, this occurs now and then because of a disturbance of the glandular balance.

THAT CALLS FOR A MEETING OF THE FACULTY

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Secretary Of Agriculture Will Oppose More Food To Europe; Truman Cabinet Will Be Divided Over Marshall Plan; Solution For Greece

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The full Truman Cabinet is converging on Washington for the first time in many weeks to be on hand when the President steps off the USS Missouri to face some of the most important problems of his entire Administration.

Secretary of State Marshall will return briefly from New York; Secretary of Agriculture Anderson will fly in from New Mexico; even Postmaster General Hannegan, long absent because of illness, will be on deck.

Biggest problems to be decided are:

1. Shall a special session of Congress be called to back up the Marshall plan?
2. Will rationing and price control be necessary to feed Europe?

When the President goes the rounds of his Cabinet, first to be called on will be the man on his immediate right — the Secretary of State. Marshall's views already have been cabled to Truman in Brazil, are well known to the public. He believes Europe is lost to us unless a special session of Congress votes immediate funds and food.

But the 8th man Truman will call on, as he makes the Cabinet's round, will give him some stimulating ideas along different lines. He is tall, lean Secretary of Agriculture Anderson who is just as persuasive at Cabinet meetings as he once was as an insurance man.

Anderson, a New Mexican cattle rancher, whose job it is to stand up for the American farmer, has collected significant figures showing what the American farmer already has done for Europe. In August, he will prabably tell Cabinet colleagues, U. S. farmers shipped Europe the stupendous total of 1,800,000 tons of wheat as against 400,000 tons in the same month last year.

"However, when Europe got this wheat," Anderson told Agriculture Department associates the other day, "they went on an eating binge. As soon as they get wheat from us, they eat it up and well for more. They don't store it for winter, when they will need it most."

Let Europe Help Self

In addition, Anderson has analyzed to his associates three other problems to overcome in feeding Europe:

1. Lack of dollars to pay for wheat.
2. Lack of freight cars to send wheat to the seaboard.
3. Europeans don't collect their own wheat.

In Greece, for instance, Anderson discussed food problems with the Greek Agricultural Minister, found Greece had a wheat harvest of 600,000 tons, but actually collected only 50,000 tons from Greek farmers. When the U. S. Secretary of Agriculture asked the Greek Minister of Agriculture why the balance wasn't collected, the latter threw up his hands.

"There might be a change of Government!" he exclaimed.

"So what?" replied Anderson. "It's not up to us to send you wheat when you have it, but don't use it."

Anderson also found and will probably report to the Cabinet that in France, the Minister of Agriculture has fixed the price of wheat at $4.23 a bushel. In Argentina, the farmer is getting $5 a bushel.

"Yet they expect to buy wheat from us for $2.50," says the Cabinet member who took an oath to protect the interests of the American farmer.

What Anderson will advise Truman, therefore, is that Europeans have forgotten the other half of the Marshall plan—namely, that in addition to help from the United States, European nations must also help themselves.

Solution for Greece

Working behind the U. N. scenes, Australia's forthright Foreign Minister Evatt has evolved a solution to the touchy Greek question which he plans to drop in the General Assembly's lap.

The able Australian will ask the General Assembly to issue a "cease fire" order to both the Greek Government and the guerrillas, after which the Greek Government would issue a general amnesty guaranteeing pro-Soviet guerrilla forces complete freedom if they come down from the mountains. Such amnesty offers have been made in the past, but the guerrillas never trusted the reactionary Greek government, always feared reprisals.

Under the Evatt plan, the U. N., not the Greek Government, would guarantee amnesty. It would send a picked team of experts to make sure civil liberties were granted the mountain warriors, and to make certain they were given some means of re-establishing themselves economically.

This follows the successful pattern established by the U. N. Security Council in dealing with the thorny Indoesian war. Here the U. N. issued a cease-fire order, put its moral weight behind the order, and made it stick.

Russia's Gromyko voted for the "cease fire" order in Indonesia, but will try to block a similar move in Greece.

If, despite Gromyko, the Evatt scheme works, the Greek problem will be a long way nearer solution.

THESE DAYS By George E. Sokolsky

Central Problem In Europe

THE central post-war problem of Europe is not Germany but Great Britain. No matter where one's sentiments may be, the present plight of Great Britain leaves Europe without the economic leadership to which that continent has become accustomed for many centuries. Pro-Britishers in this country complain that those who do not fervently expect Great Britain to emerge more powerful than before simply disregard the fact that two wars have left that country economically flat, that the empire is mostly gone as a supporting bastion and that the future rests upon American cooperation and subsidy which may or may not come in the particular form Britain desires.

Winston Churchill said:

"The National Government of which I was the head, had won the war. It was for the Socialist Government to win the peace. And it was for them to make the most of the remaining resources of the nation, to heal the wounds of war, to maintain our position in the world, and to give some measure of happiness and reviving prosperity to the men and women who had fought well. . . ."

Then he added:

Unhappily, these men called to the august task of setting the country on its feet again, were obsessed and dominated by party and class prejudice, and they cared far more for pleasing their own extremists than solving the grim troubles of the aftermath which beset us all. I do not blame them so much for the mistakes they have made, many and grievous though they may be. I blame them for the wrongful choice, in caring more for their party theories and dogma than about the revival of our strength . . ."

Unfortunately for England, her Socialists picked the wrong time for vast reforms, reorganizations and the remaking of a people. The Socialists, for some reason, assumed that the United States would underwrite these experiments no matter what they cost. They are surprised that this country asks for facts and figures, for accounts, for specific data. They entered upon their revolution believing that they would have a blank check on the American treasury.

Churchill had no such illusions. He said of the Socialist schemes:

"I do not believe that any of these methods will aid us in our economic crisis. The arrival of unwilling workers in industries to which they are strangers may well do more harm than good. Efficient arrangements for the steady and selective supply of raw materials would give far more fruitful results in a great many industries and over the whole field. Rarely, if ever in history, have the noble and altruistic qualities to which Mr. Attlee appealed been developed in the human race by compulsion. On the contrary, it is from resistance to tyranny in all its varied forms that the qualities which dignify and glorify mankind have sprung to life . . ."

The pity of it is that the British worker's efficiency has been destroyed. I have some figures given by Mr. P. Lamartine Yates in 1937 comparing the agricultural output of British farmer and farm worker with those of other European countries and it is interesting to note that the Britisher comes out first:

Net Agricultural Value Produced per Head

Denmark	£155
Netherlands	£120
Belgium	£100
Switzerland	£100
France	£ 90
Germany	£ 70

George Winder, in the "Nineteenth Century and After", makes the point:

"Under the new Agricultural Bill the British farmer is to be subjected to discipline and if, fn the opinion of certain monitors appointed by the State, he fails to cultivate his farm efficiently, it is to be taken from him, even though it may have been in the possession of his family for a hundred years."

When the Russians took the land from the kulaks, the world was horrified; yet British socialism proposes to do the same thing through a County Agricultural Executive Committee which is to be a creature of the Minister of Agriculture.

In a word, the British farmer is to be bureaucratized which means ultimately serfdom. As one studies what the British socialists are trying to do, it appears that their trend is not toward Communism but toward Fascism — toward Mussolini's type of Fascism. That would indeed be a tragic consequence of this war.

Marshall Seen Mobilizing World Opinion Behind U. S. Position

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—What Secretary Marshall's speech before the United Nations really means is that the Department of State has failed to come to a diplomatic agreement with Russia on the major questions of the day and has decided instead to try to mobilize world opinion behind the American position.

All suggestions that the United States deal directly with Russia and try to dispose on a broad scale of all questions in a single agreement apparently have been of no avail. Evidently the Department of State has come to a conclusion widely propagandized thus far in America —namely, that the Russians are not to be trusted and that negotiation is futile.

When nations do not trust each other, they usually go to war sooner or later, being provoked into war by some overt act.

The planners in the State Department insist there is not to be any war because neither side wants it, but they overlook the fact that national pride often produces a war that nobody wants because one side or the other gives provocation publicly and the other side does not care to back down in humiliation.

If the Department of State feels it can continue to attack Russia in the public press and before so important a gathering as the United Nations and if the Soviets by their daily propaganda feel they must attack the good faith of the United States, there is little hope that the debate in the United Nations assembly will elleviate hurt feelings or produce an atmosphere in which diplomacy can be effective.

Things Needing Explanation

What the Department of State has not explained is why it has failed to negotiate directly a general settlement of all Russian-American questions and why it has insisted on piecemeal handling of disputes in different parts of the world while proclaiming a policy of hostility to Russian interests in the Near East as evidenced in the announcement of the Truman Doctrine.

Russian cooperation in the Marshall Plan was made impossible from the standpoint of Soviet pride because it was linked up with the Truman doctrine, which was considered by Russia an attack on her interests in the Near East.

The peace of the world has often been advanced at critical moments by public disclosure of all the facts. It has often been retarded by emotional outbursts of governmental spokesmen at a time when diplomacy has ceased to exert a constructive influence.

When the Korean question, for example, is dumped into the United Nations Assembly, it is a confession that diplomacy has failed. The U. N. Charter does not give any authority to settle questions growing out of the war. Unles. America takes the position that the Russian attitude in Korea is a "threat to the peace of the world," there is no legal reason to justify bringing it before the Assembly.

Has the Department of State given up all hope of negotiating on a general scale with Russia? Is the submission of the American case to the Assembly a last step in desperation to mobilize world opinion so that, if war comes, America will have the backing of allies throughout the globe?

This question will be asked from now on because when a subject like Korea is submitted to the Assembly, it is wholly different from any procedural questions such as are involved in the veto or in the appointment of a security committee to observe world trends. It means that if the Korean question is to go before the Assembly now, the German and European questions growing out of World War II may similarly be submitted at a future date.

Misinterpretation of Talk Feared

Maybe that is the plan of Secretary Marshall, but it would be regrettable if his speech is interested to mean that he and his planners see only war as the eventual outcome. For in rejecting an negotiations with the Russians, the alternative is economic coercion by the U. S. and its allies.

While almost everybody in official circles professes to believe war is not near and that it is not inevitable, the persons responsible for our foreign policy do not seem to be able to answer the question of "what next" if Russia declines to be coerced by our public statements or by our use of dollars in Greece or by our economic aid to Europe. A re-examination of the record of our diplomacy in relation to Russia might be helpful in determining what are the bases for Russian disturst of the United States and, Russia. Can nothing be done any more by negotiation between the two countries that ought to respect one another and trust one another?

Country In Condition Which Amounts To Serious Emergency

By MARK SULLIVAN

In Washington, talk about a special session of Congress increases from day to day, but decision about it does not become more visible. On the contrary the mounting talk is for the most part mounting controversy over whether a special session should be called.

One contention is about responsibility for calling a special session. When Congress adjourned in July it provided, with deliberation, that a special session could be called by the heads of that body. The effect and presumably the intention was calling or not calling a special session should not be left wholly in the discretion of the president. This has the frequent effect of divided responsibility. The President and the heads of Congress have opportunity for mutually passing the buck if conditions tempt either to do so. Since the President belongs to one party, while Congress is controlled by the other, a partisan contention is involved. Added to the contention over calling a special session are several others, arising out of the things a special session might do — what the President might ask it to do, contrary to the wish of Congress and the Republicans, and what Congress might do of its own initiative, contrary to the wish of the President and the Democrats.

Main Reason Is European Aid

The whole condition makes for one of those stalemates which affect the ability of a Democratic government of divided powers to function adequately and in time. Beneath all is a somber fact, that this country is in a condition which amounts to serious emergency.

The main reason for which a special session of Congress is advocated is to act upon relief to European countries. Threat of collapse in Europe, and the consequences it would have to us, is serious enough and the imminence of it increases daily. In addition to that is a domestic emergency.

This country is in serious danger of inflation of a disastrous degree. When a special session of Congress to handle this is proposed, more contention arises. Republicans charge that the danger of inflation is blameable upon President Truman and upon the Democratic Administration over a number of years. Democrats counter-charge that the threat is blameable upon the too early ending of price control under OPA. Under this arises further contention. While President Truman strongly urged retention of OPA, the limitation of its powers which he vetoed was done by the Congress preceding the present one, in which the Democrats were in control.

Permeating the contentions on this point is one area of silence, as significant as the most vocal of the contentions. This is about the part played in rising prices and threat of inflation by the government policy of supporting prices of farm products, food. Without putting undue emphasis on this one among several aspects of high prices and inflation, the very silence about it has a weight of its own. Partly the silence is due, without much doubt, to reluctance on the part of leaders of both parties to stress a condition affecting farmers, as a group having political power. Partly the silence is due to lack of general understanding of the mechanisms by which the government prevents reduction of prices of farm products. At this moment the government is actively supporting prices of some farm products, and has mechanism for supporting several more.

In Town Meeting of the Air this week, the question posed was "How can we stop rising prices now?" The four speakers were Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson; Mayor of Minneapolis and former Professor of Political Science at the University of Minnesota, Hubert H. Humphrey; Republican Congressman from Nebraska, Howard H. Buffett; and Oscar Palmer, an Arizona businessman who is regional director of the National Association of Manufacturers.

All Spoke Comprehensively

All spoke comprehensively, covering as a group the causes and proposed cures for rising prices. But so far as was heard by this writer, listening with some intentness, none of the speakers mentioned, certainly did not dwell upon, the government policy and practice of supporting prices of farm products. Not, that is, until the meeting was opened to questions from the audience. At that point Secretary Anderson was put on the carpet about his Department's buying of potatoes, eggs, and other commodities, and, as to potatoes, destroying some of those bought. Part of Secretary Anderson's answer was that price support is decreed by existing acts of Congress, which he is carrying out. He did not see what anyone must sense, that modification of the statutes for price support is one reason for a special session of Congress.

So long as leaders of both parties, including President Truman, are silent about price support of farm products, all Mr. Truman's many attempts to reduce the general price level by admonition, to "talk prices down," are unconvincing. And so long as the statutes for price support of farm products remain a barrier, attempts to reduce the price level by voluntary actions, buyers' strikes, are likely to be vain.

Divorced Mother Of Two Children Attempts Suicide

Shoots Self In Head With Rifle

By MRS. JOSEPH H. TAYLOR

KEYSER, W. Va. — Mrs. Mamie Howdyshell Gray, 34, divorced mother of two teen-age children, was admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital about 1 a. m. yesterday, suffering from a self-inflicted bullet wound in the head.

The woman apparently shot herself with a .22 calibre rifle at her home on Ridge Street, Police said. The bullet was deflected by a bone and emerged from the top of her head. Potomac Valley Hospital attaches stated today that her condition is "fair."

Floyd Blizzard, 20, a roomer in the home, stated that yesterday at noon, Mrs. Gray swallowed two pills containing an unidentified poison in an earlier attempt to end her life. The pills made her sick, but had no other effect.

Blizzard said the woman asked him to write a note to her children at the time. The note he wrote stated: "Junior and Sis: I love you. Doesn't matter what I have did."

Blizzard said he told Lester, the 15-year-old son, about the note and that both of them hid a box of shells for the rifle, and decided to say nothing about the incident. Martha "Sis" Gray is the 13 year old daughter of Mrs. Gray. Blizzard stated that the woman told him not to give the note to the children until yesterday.

About 10:30 Thursday night, Blizzard stated, he, the children and Mary Perko, an overnight guest, retired for the night. About 12:30, Mrs. Gray called her son, Lester to her room and he found her lying in a pool of blood. The police were called and they summoned an ambulance to take the woman to the hospital.

State officers Lawrence McDonald and Abie Dawson are investigating the case, and have placed no charges. So far, no motive has been found for the suicide attempt. The note written by Blizzard was found near the woman and she had added a postscript. It was addressed to a person whose name appears to be "Pete," although the writing is not clear. It reads, "Love you. Look after Sis for me, will you," and is signed, "Mom."

Mrs. Gray was widowed by her first husband, the father of the children and had remarried a man named Biser, whom she divorced later.

IF WAR COMES—MACHINE TOOLS ARE READY—Machine tools, one of the top headaches for the United States when the armament program for World War II was started, are being stored today for use if trouble again strikes in the next 20 years. In the 45 acres of floor space of the $65,000,000 Bell Bomber plant at Marietta, Ga., will be $200,000,000 worth of standard machines to make other machines. Lathes, grinders, casting machines, welding machines, die presses and other basic tools are rolled into the big plant on freight cars (left). They are processed with oil spray and other techniques (center) so that they will remain in top working condition for a generation, if necessary. Then they are stored (right) ready to be rushed to manufacturers who will need them if and when the country again needs war goods quickly. Today, 500 men are employed on the storage job and Maj. Guy M. Foster, Army man in charge says they could be shipped out at the rate of 100 carloads a day, if needed. The machines, ready for almost instant use, can prevent agonizing waits for "machine tools."

Older Women Like New Skirt Styles But Younger Sets Frown On Them

By DR. GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Sept. 18—The "New Look" is having its day before the bar of public opinion, and verdict is thumbs down by almost two to one.

Americans, polled by the Institute, vote against the calf-length skirts dictated by fashion experts for the 1948 well-dressed women. With many men the whole thing boils down to pocketbook matter; they particularly find the revolutionary style change a senseless waste of time, effort and money.

But—and the dress industry is probably well aware of this situation—older women approve the longer skirts. Because they donned them at least once before in their romantic days the sudden shift does not seem so radical to them as it does to their younger sisters. Generally speaking, the more mature matrons have more money and fewer obligations so can afford to make costly wardrobe changes.

The nine out of ten adults in a national survey who had followed the furore over lowering hemlines were asked:

"Do you think women should adopt the new skirt length—or should they refuse to adopt it and stick to the present length?"

The results:

	For Longer Skirts	Against Longer Skirts	No Opinion
National	31%	53%	16%
Men	23	55	22
Women	39	50	11

While the Institute survey shows majority disapproval of lengthened frocks, this by no means indicates a failure to put the new style over.

The fact that four out of ten women already want to adopt the longer measurements provides an immediate market for merchants stocking up with garments in the latest mode. Because of the keeping-up-with-Mrs. Jones tradition, many women who now frown on the change may be expected to follow suit.

Women just emerging from their teens dislike hiding their legs almost as much as men hate the idea. Here's how the women line up by age:

	For Longer Skirts	Against Longer Skirts	No Opin.
21-29 years	34%	55%	11%
30-49 years	36	53	11
50 and over	48	40	12

Although the "New Look" supposedly requires a silhouette figure, fat women applaud the change in greater number than the slim type, feeling, perhaps, that the lengthened skirt will streamline their figures. And on the West Coast, the land of "leg art," the women oddly enough give greater approval to dropping hemlines than anywhere else in the country. It is interesting to note that women living on farms and smaller communities react practically the same as supposedly sophisticated city dwellers.

Reasons for approving the longer skirts range all the way from the woman who said "I'm tickled pink; few women have pretty legs," to the burly he-man who philosophized, "It saves the jumping eyes of truckmen like myself—eyes jumping from wheel to women." On the other hand, a middle-aged woman in New Jersey said the change is "awful because it looks bad and it will raise prices."

One helpful male offered a common-sense rule for women to follow when trying to decide whether to be enslaved by the new fashion or not: "If the legs are nice, wear short skirts; if bad, cover them with long skirts."

The controversy stirred up by rebels against the new lengths is giving the dress and allied industries millions of dollars worth of free advertising. Every rebellion organized by groups such as "The Little Below the Knee Club" adds grist to the publicity mill.

Already 96 out of every 100 women are conscious to this burning issue, and 92 per cent of the men. Future historians may record that at the same time only about half the American voting population have heard or read about the Marshall Plan.

In many countries lilies are commonly regarded as symbols of purity. This belief first arose from the widespread use of lilies on Oriental dowry rugs.

ALL NEW GAS
Heating Installations
DISCONTINUED

FOR the protection of all customers, effective September 20, 1947, no additional principal gas space heating equipment can be approved for installation on our lines. This restriction has been adopted with the deepest regret, but under present conditions, there is no alternative.

Since March 1, 1947, we have restricted installations of heating equipment on a priority system. Even these priorities must now be eliminated, as they have been received at a rate which, if continued, would seriously hinder our ability to maintain satisfactory service for customers in their present use of gas.

Customers may continue to file applications for principal space heating service, and approvals will be granted in the order in which they are received whenever it becomes possible to modify restrictions. In addition, in the case of newly constructed premises, where the owner or contractor has not as yet filed an application and where:

(a) heating equipment designed exclusively for gas has been purchased and installation is completed, or under way; or such applications will be considered for approval providing they are filed with the company on or before September 30, 1947, but subject to the condition that, if approval is given, the foundation of the building must be completed prior to January 1, 1948, or such approval shall become void.

LACK OF FACILITIES . . . but no shortage of gas in producing fields

As previously pointed out, there is no shortage of gas in producing fields. Lack of essential materials, such as steel pipe, compressors, valves and accessories, has prevented construction—by our suppliers and ourselves—of the necessary facilities for transporting and distributing sufficient additional volume of gas to this area. This condition has existed since the early stages of the war—but, throughout this period, the use of gas has increased at a rapidly accelerating rate. It is a situation over which we and our suppliers of gas have had no control, in spite of long-planned expansion of our services.

Restrictions will be modified as soon as possible

Every effort has been and continues to be made by our suppliers and ourselves to obtain materials and to construct facilities necessary for serving the complete requirements of our customers. However, in fairness to all who are planning for the future use of gas heat, unless the situation improves far more rapidly than indicated at present, there is little likelihood that restrictions can be relaxed in any way before the summer of next year.

Health Officials Lifts Quarantine In Tucker County

By HELEN COLLETT

PARSONS, W. Va.—The infantile paralysis quarantine which has been in effect throughout Tucker County since Wednesday has been lifted by health authorities.

County Superintendent Reardon Cuppett has announced the schools will reopen Monday morning and fair officials state that the Tucker County Fair, which is scheduled to open next Wednesday at Parsons, will get under way as planned.

The order to lift the ban, effective immediately, came yesterday from State Health Department headquarters at Charleston.

Although there are no reported cases of polio in Tucker county, a former Parsons resident succumbed to the disease this morning.

The victim was JoAnne Barb, eight-year-old daughter of Mrs. Lucretia (Hoffman) Barb and the late Sgt. Joseph C. Barb. Stricken at her home in Elkins on Wednesday, the child was rushed to the Morris Memorial Hospital at Milton, W. Va., where she died at 4 a. m. yesterday.

Born in Parsons, June 30, 1939, the Barb child is survived by her mother, two sisters and two brothers, Dorcas, Linda Lou, David Allen and James Clifford and her paternal great grandmother, Mrs. Hattie Hart, Parsons. Her father was killed in action in the Pacific during World War II.

The Barb family moved from Parsons a year ago. The paternal grandparents of the victim, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Barb, reside in Parsons, while the maternal grandparents, Rev. and Mrs. Hoye Hoffman, are residents of Dailey, W. Va.

Youth Director To Be Sub District Speaker

Miss Dorothy Orowine, youth director for the Baltimore conference, will be the guest speaker at the monthly meeting of the Cumberland Sub-district Methodist Youth Fellowship, which will be held in the form of a rally at 8 o'clock, September 29, in the Cresaptown Methodist Church.

The speaker will center her talk around fellowship programs and activities for the local church groups. At the meeting, which is to be the first of the year, plans for activities and social functions will be formulated with Jean Curl presiding. The devotionals will be conducted by Barbee Sue Mansfield.

A social hour will conclude the business session and the recreational period is being planned by Harry Diehl. Refreshments will be served by members of the Cresaptown Youth Fellowship.

Mrs. Wilkes Heads Class

Swanson Memorial Bible Class of Second Baptist Church elected officers and had a program on missions at the meeting Thursday night at the church. Mrs. A. T. Wilkes was named president; Mrs. Elmer Emerick, first vice president; Mrs. Marvin McBride, second vice president; Mrs. Paul Williams, third vice president; Mrs. Edith Yutzy, first secretary; Mrs. Olive Morton, second secretary and Mrs. D. W. Robinson, treasurer.

Reports of mission work were given by four members of the Missionary Society. They consisted of the work on the Canton, Gough Street Missions, Good Will Center, and Young People's Work in Baltimore.

WIFE PRESERVERS

Small hooked rugs, when very dirty, should be washed at home. First clean them thoroughly with the vacuum cleaner. Add a few drops of ammonia to soap jelly—1-2 c. mild soap in 1 quart boiling water, cooled until jellied, then beaten with an egg beater until no liquid is left. Lay the rug on the table, and scrub a small area with a stiff brush and the lather, using a circular motion. Rinse with a sponge wrung quite dry of lukewarm water. Rinse again, then go over the damp area with a dry cloth. Repeat until the whole surface is clean.

IF WAR COMES—MACHINE TOOLS ARE READY—Machine tools, one of the top headaches for the United States when the armament program for World War II was started, are being stored today for use if trouble again strikes in the next 20 years. In the 45 acres of floor space of the $65,000,000 Bell Bomber plant at Marietta, Ga., will be $200,000,000 worth of standard machines to make other machines. Lathes, grinders, casting machines, welding machines, die presses and other basic tools are rolled into the big plant on freight cars (left). They are processed with oil spray and other techniques (center) so that they will remain in top working condition for a generation, if necessary. Then they are stored (right) ready to be rushed to manufacturers who will need them if and when the country again needs war goods quickly. Today, 500 men are employed on the storage job and Maj. Guy M. Foster, Army man in charge says they could be shipped out at the rate of 100 carloads a day, if needed. The machines, ready for almost instant use, can prevent agonizing waits for "machine tools."

Older Women Like New Skirt Styles But Younger Sets Frown On Them

By DR. GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Sept. 18—The "New Look" is having its day before the bar of public opinion, and verdict is thumbs down by almost two to one.

Americans, polled by the Institute, vote against the calf-length skirts dictated by fashion experts for the 1948 well-dressed women. With many men the whole thing boils down to pocketbook matter; they particularly find the revolutionary style change a senseless waste of time, effort and money.

But — and the dress industry is probably well aware of this situation —older women approve the longer skirts. Because they donned them at least once before in their romantic days the sudden shift does not seem so radical to them as it does to their younger sisters. Generally speaking, the more mature matrons have more money and fewer obligations so can afford to make costly wardrobe changes.

The nine out of ten adults in a national survey who had followed the furore over lowering hemlines were asked:

"Do you think women should adopt the new skirt length—or should they refuse to adopt it and stick to the present length?"

The results:

	For Longer Skirts	Against Longer Skirts	No Opinion
National	31%	53%	16%
Men	23	55	22
Women	39	50	11

While the Institute survey shows majority disapproval of lengthened frocks, this by no means indicates a failure to put the new style over.

The fact that four out of ten women already want to adopt the longer measurements provides an immediate market for merchants stocking up with garments in the latest mode. Because of the keeping-up-with-Mrs. Jones tradition, many women who now frown on the change may be expected to follow suit.

Women just emerging from their teens dislike hiding their legs almost as much as men hate the idea. Here's how the women line up by age:

	For Longer Skirts	Against Longer Skirts	No Opin.
21-29 years	34%	55%	11%
30-49 years	36	53	11
50 and over	48	40	12

Although the "New Look" supposedly requires a silhouette figure, fat women applaud the change in greater number than the slim type, feeling, perhaps, that the lengthened skirt will streamline their figures. And on the West Coast, the land of "leg art," the women oddly enough give greater approval to dropping hemlines than anywhere else in the country. It is interesting to note that women living on farms and smaller communities react practically the same as supposedly sophisticated city dwellers.

Reasons for approving the longer skirts range all the way from the woman who said "I'm tickled pink; few women have pretty legs," to the burly he-man who philosophized, "It saves the jumping eyes of truckmen like myself—eyes jumping from wheel to women." On the other hand, a middle-aged woman in New Jersey said the change is "awful because it looks bad and it will raise prices."

One helpful male offered a common-sense rule for women to follow when trying to decide whether to be enslaved by the new fashion or not: "If the legs are nice, wear short skirts; if bad, cover them with long skirts."

The controversy stirred up by rebels against the new lengths is giving the dress and allied industries millions of dollars worth of free advertising. Every rebellion organized by groups such as "The Little Below the Knee Club" adds grist to the publicity mill.

Already 96 out of every 100 women are conscious to this burning issue, and 92 per cent of the men. Future historians may record that at the same time only about half the American voting population have heard or read about the Marshall Plan.

In many countries lilies are commonly regarded as symbols of purity. This belief first arose from the widespread use of lilies on Oriental dowry rugs.

NORMA JUNE SCHRAMM ENTERS NURSES SCHOOL

BY DAVID F. KIRK

BARTON — Miss Norma June Schramm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Schramm, is one of 59 girls who have registered in the September class at Union Memorial Hospital, Baltimore, School for Nurses.

She was accompanied to Baltimore this week by her parents and a sister, Patty. On registration day refreshments were served to the new students and their parents on the lawns of the hospital.

Health Officials Lifts Quarantine In Tucker County

By HELEN COLLETT

PARSONS, W. Va.—The infantile paralysis quarantine which has been in effect throughout Tucker County since Wednesday has been lifted by health authorities.

County Superintendent Reardon Cuppett has announced the schools will reopen Monday morning and fair officials state that the Tucker County Fair, which is scheduled to open next Wednesday at Parsons, will get under way as planned.

The order to lift the ban, effective immediately, came yesterday from State Health Department headquarters at Charleston.

Although there are no reported cases of polio in Tucker county, a former Parsons resident succumbed to the disease this morning.

The victim was JoAnne Barb, eight-year-old daughter of Mrs. Lucretia (Hoffman) Barb and the late Sgt. Joseph C. Barb. Stricken at her home in Elkins on Wednesday, the child was rushed to the Morris Memorial Hospital at Milton, W. Va., where she died at 4 a. m. yesterday.

Born in Parsons, June 30, 1939, the Barb child is survived by her mother, two sisters and two brothers, Dorcas, Linda Lou, David Allen and James Clifford and her paternal great grandmother, Mrs. Hattie Hart, Parsons. Her father was killed in action in the Pacific during World War II.

The Barb family moved from Parsons a year ago. The paternal grandparents of the victim, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Barb, reside in Parsons, while the maternal grandparents, Rev. and Mrs. Hoye Hoffman, are residents of Dailey, W. Va.

Youth Director To Be Sub District Speaker

Miss Dorothy Ordwine, youth director for the Baltimore conference, will be the guest speaker at the monthly meeting of the Cumberland Sub-district Methodist Youth Fellowship, which will be held in the form of a rally at 8 o'clock, September 29, in the Cresaptown Methodist Church.

The speaker will center her talk around fellowship programs and activities for the local church groups. At the meeting, which is to be the first of the year, plans for activities and social functions will be formulated with Jean Curl presiding. The devotionals will be conducted by Barbee Sue Mansfield.

A social hour will conclude the business session and the recreational period is being planned by Harry Diehl. Refreshments will be served by members of the Cresaptown Youth Fellowship.

Mrs. Wilkes Heads Class

Swanson Memorial Bible Class of Second Baptist Church elected officers and had a program on missions at the meeting Thursday night at the church. Mrs. A. T. Wilkes was named president; Mrs. Elmer Emerick, first vice president; Mrs. Marvin McBride, second vice president; Mrs. Paul Williams, third vice president; Mrs. Edith Yutzy, first secretary; Mrs. Olive Morton, second secretary and Mrs. D. W. Robinson, treasurer.

Reports of mission work were given by four members of the Missionary Society. They consisted of the work on the Canton, Gough Street Missions, Good Will Center, and Young People's Work in Baltimore.

Heating Installations DISCONTINUED

FOR the protection of all customers, effective September 20, 1947, no additional principal gas space heating equipment can be approved for installation on our lines. This restriction has been adopted with the deepest regret, but under present conditions, there is no alternative.

Since March 1, 1947, we have restricted installations of heating equipment on a priority system. Even these priorities must now be eliminated, as they have been received at a rate which, if continued, would seriously hinder our ability to maintain satisfactory service for customers in their present use of gas.

Customers may continue to file applications for principal space heating service, and approvals will be granted in the order in which they are received whenever it becomes possible to modify restrictions. In addition, in the case of newly constructed premises, where the owner or contractor has not as yet filed an application and where:

(a) heating equipment designed exclusively for gas has been purchased and installation is completed, or under way; or

(b) applicant has entered into a contract for heating equipment designed exclusively for gas . . .

such applications will be considered for approval providing they are filed with the company on or before September 30, 1947, but subject to the condition that, if approval is given, the foundation of the building must be completed prior to January 1, 1948, or such approval shall become void.

LACK OF FACILITIES . . . but no shortage of gas in producing fields

As previously pointed out, there is no shortage of gas in producing fields. Lack of essential materials, such as steel pipe, compressors, valves and accessories, has prevented construction—by our suppliers and ourselves—of the necessary facilities for transporting and distributing sufficient additional volume of gas to this area. This condition has existed since the early stages of the war—but, throughout this period, the use of gas has increased at a rapidly accelerating rate. It is a situation over which we and our suppliers of gas have had no control, in spite of long-planned expansion of our services.

Restrictions will be modified as soon as possible

Every effort has been and continues to be made by our suppliers and ourselves to obtain materials and to construct facilities necessary for serving the complete requirements of our customers. However, in fairness to all who are planning for the future use of gas heat, unless the situation improves far more rapidly than indicated at present, there is little likelihood that restrictions can be relaxed in any way before the summer of next year.

Homer A. Welsh To Wed Esther Wilson Smith

Ceremony To Be Performed Today

Mrs. Esther Wilson Smith, daughter of Joseph Wilson, Bedford Road, will become the bride of Homer Andrew Welsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Welsh, 514 Riehl Avenue, today.

The wedding ceremony is to be solemnized at 2 o'clock this afternoon in Trinity Lutheran Church with Rev. Philip C. Priester officiating. The church will be decorated with vases of white flowers and candelabra of tall tapers. The traditional wedding marches and nuptial music will be played by the church organist.

Mrs. William Zinn will be the bride's matron of honor and only attendant and Elmer Welsh will serve as his brother's best man.

The bride has chosen a gray suit, with black hat and black accessories for her wedding. With it she will wear a corsage of yellow roses. Her matron of honor will wear a navy blue costume with white rosebud corsage. Mrs. Welsh will wear a plum colored dress with gray hat and black accessories for her son's wedding.

The bride-elect attended Fort Hill High School and prior to her recent resignation was employed by the G. C. Murphy Company. Her fiance attended Greene Street Junior High School and spent three years in the Army Air Force. He operates his own service station in Bowling Green.

Following a wedding trip through Virginia Mr. Welsh and his bride will reside at 514 Riehl Avenue.

District Nurses Group Plans Outing

District No. 1, Maryland State Nurses Association will resume its meetings after the summer recess, with a picnic, September 24 with a covered dish supper, at 6:30 in Constitution Park.

Miss Mary Neal will preside at the short business session, after which an impromptu social will conclude the evening. Plans will also be discussed for a possible card party to be held sometime next month.

The committee in charge of arrangements includes Mrs. Isabelle Laughlin, Mrs. Gladys Brooks and Mrs. Ora May Robinson Lewis.

LaSalle Mothers Club Plans Party

The executive board of the LaSalle Mothers Club will entertain the mothers of the freshmen at LaSalle High School with an informal reception, September 30 in St. Patrick's Social Center, beginning at 8:15.

Greetings will be extended by Mrs. Charles D. Shaffer, president of the club, and an informal get acquainted hour will be held, after which refreshments are to be served.

Receiving the guests will be Brother Clement, principal of LaSalle; Mrs. Shaffer, Mrs. Frederick Y. Borden, Mrs. Joseph Madden, Mrs. Joseph Wood and Mrs. George Hughes.

The first business session of the year of the club will be held October 14.

Centre Street Church School To Meet

The first regular meeting of the Centre Street Methodist Church School P-TA since the summer recess, will be held, September 26, beginning at 8 o'clock.

Rev. W. Randolph Keefe, pastor of Grace Baptist Church, will be the guest speaker and will be introduced by Mrs. Erick Roeder, president. C. H. Furtney will lead the devotionals.

During the business session plans will be discussed and formulated for enlarging the church library as this year's project. The library was begun last spring when the organization was organized.

Events In Brief

The Cumberland Business and Professional Women's Club will hold it's usual dinner meeting at 5:30 Tuesday night at Central YMCA. A program on Public Relations will be presented under the chairmanship of Miss Mary Sowerby.

The Ladies Auxiliary of Canton Allegany No. 4 IOOF will meet at 8 tonight at the Odd Fellows hall.

FALL COATS

Full, Flared, Flamboyant

MAD PLAID . . . Handsome black and white blanket plaid great coat with high, flaring collar. Both are designs by Joseph Stein.

HOODWINKER . . . Typical of the fall silhouette is this full-backed coat in soft wool suede with detachable hood, trim collar.

There's drama in the fall coat lineup—a swashbuckling silhouette that should bring cheers from those who are tired of austere and timid fashions.

Designers have gone to town with a reckless disregard of yardage, and the result is an array of coats long, wide and handsome. Generously flared backs are standard equipment on most of the new coats for fall and winter, and attached or detachable hoods are all over the place.

Fabrics are rich and varied, with top honors going to the velvety velours which haven't been seen since the war, and to a new broadcloth that shines like satin.

The new coats, like the new dresses, are considerably longer than those of last winter. Many have dashing big collars which may be turned up to warm the ears. All have a new generous silhouette, usually with fullness concentrated in back.

There are a few short coats around, but the full length styles are far more numerous. Colors are rich and glowing, with deep hunter's green and deep red in high favor, bold plaids well up in the running and, of course, black as the perennial favorite.

For those who can't afford a new fur coat this winter, or who simply don't like them, there are fabric coats that are tops in elegance, completely untrimmed, designed to be worn with a dramatic fur hat or muff.

Fur trimmed coats also are back full force, as are the fur-lined models that are favorites of sports fans and campus belles.

Union WSCS Has Meeting, Program

Mrs. Oscar S. Wilson, Valley Road, was hostess to members of the Union Woman's Society of Christian Service of Centenary Methodist Church, Wednesday night at her home.

"Ye Shall Know the Truth and the Truth Shall Make You Free" was the subject of the devotional period led by Mrs. Ruthella Fey. Mrs. Ralph Ferguson read the Scripture reading from the Gospel of Luke. The members joined in the singing of the hymns, "I Think When I Read That Sweet Story of Old" and "Where He Leads Me, I Will Follow."

Miss Nyna Fey had charge of the business session and reported on the Centenary official board meeting and the money turned over to the trustees of the church towards the payment of the new furnace to be installed next month.

A report of sick members and sick visits made was also given. Mrs. Fey gave a report as Sunshine chairman; Mrs. Steve Bowling reported on the Missionary program presented by the church women recently and gave an article on missionary work. The meeting closed with the singing of "Abide with Me" and the benediction; after which Mrs. John Wentling was in charge of a Bible quiz.

Others attending the meeting were Mrs. George Windish, Mrs. John Twigg, Mrs. Albert Smouse, Mrs. Edward Lundien, Mrs. Richard H. Bready, Mrs. Augustus McElfish, Miss Christine Windish, Miss Regina Ferguson, Mrs. Maxine Wilmot and Miss Deidre Wilson.

The next meeting of the society will be held at the parsonage on October 15, with Mrs. John Twigg and Mrs. Bready as cohostesses.

Patricia Rupert Becomes Bride Of P. S. Thompson

Bridal Couples Take Wedding Trip Together

Mrs. Edythe Rupert 816 Sylvan Avenue, announces the marriage of her daughter, Miss Patricia Ann Rupert, to Paul Shannon Thompson, 148 Bedford Street, son of Mrs. Henry Welsh, Petersburg, W. Va., and Fletcher Thompson, 441 Walnut Street.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the Glenmore Street residence of Rev. Paul Rotenberry, minister of the Church of Christ, with Rev. Mr. Rotenberry officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin E. Trenton were their attendants. Mr. and Mrs. Trenton had been married earlier in the afternoon by Rev. Charles W. Bogan in St. Patrick's rectory.

The bride was attired in a brown silk crepe, street length dress, fashioned with the new gathered sleeve, jewel neckline and full skirt. With it she wore a small brown and gold hat and brown accessories. A corsage of yellow rosebuds completed her costume. Her matron of honor wore a green costume with brown accessories and a corsage of white and pink rosebuds.

The bride was a member of the June graduating class of Ursuline Academy, where she was a member fo the Glee Club, Lavoisier Club and on the basketball team.

The bridegroom, a veteran of approximately three years service in the Army, was in active combat in the ETO and also with the Army of Occupation. Since his discharge he is employed by his father in the contracting business.

Immediately following the ceremony the two bridal couples left on a motor trip. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Thompson will reside with her mother. Mr. and Mrs. Trenton will make their home in Keyser.

Niece Of Local Women Is Bride Of J. W. S. Foster, Jr.

Ceremony Performed In Garrison Forest

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mayer Shriver, "Alsenborn" Pikesville, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Ruth Lee French Shriver, to John Walter Smith Foster, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Walter Smith Foster, Worthington Valley. The ceremony was performed last Monday at 4 o'clock, in St. Thomas' Church, Garrison Forest, with Dr. Philip J. Jensen officiating. The traditional wedding marches and a program of nuptial music was played by Mrs. Mary Mason.

Miss Kathleen Jensen was the maid of honor and Mrs. Lawrence K. Harper, Jr., Miss Elizabeth Whealton, Miss Constance Sheedy, Miss Marjory Fisher, Miss Elsie Symington Foster and Miss Elizabet Chesur Shriver were the bridesmaids. Franklin Rea Foster served as best man and Johns Janney Hoffman, David L. F. Rambert, John Dougnfield Hoxal and Charles Mayer Shriver, Jr., served as ushers.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a white taffeta gown adorned with a Rose Point butterfly, and fashioned with a court train. A veil of old family Rose Point lace completed her costume. With it she carried a bouquet of white orchids.

Her attendants wore chartreuse taffeta gowns and headdress, and carried bouquets of autumn flowers and foliage from California. Mrs. Shriver chose a navy blue crepe and blue ostrich hat for her daughter's wedding, and with it she wore a lavender orchid. Mrs. Foster's gown was of beige crepe, with which she wore a chartreuse orchid hat and green orchid corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Garrison Forest School and House in the Pines. She is a member of the Junior League and was a member of the faculty of House in the Pines. The bridegroom is a graduate of Gilman Country School, The Hill School, and Lehigh University. A pilot in the Air Corps for two years, he is now connected with Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Shriver entertained with a reception at their home, honoring their daughter and her bridal party, after which the couple left by plane for Bermuda. For traveling the bride wore a green wool suit with ostrich hat to match. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Foster will reside in a cottage on Alsenborn.

Homer A. Welsh To Wed Esther Wilson Smith

Ceremony To Be Performed Today

Mrs. Esther Wilson Smith, daughter of Joseph Wilson, Bedford Road, will become the bride of Homer Andrew Welsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Welsh, 514 Riehl Avenue, today.

The wedding ceremony is to be solemnized at 2 o'clock this afternoon in Trinity Lutheran Church with Rev. Philip C. Priester officiating. The church will be decorated with vases of white flowers and candelabra of tall tapers. The traditional wedding marches and nuptial music will be played by the church organist.

Mrs. William Zinn will be the bride's matron of honor and only attendant and Elmer Welsh will serve as his brother's best man.

The bride has chosen a gray suit, with black hat and black accessories for her wedding. With it she will wear a corsage of yellow roses. Her matron of honor will wear a navy blue costume with white rosebud corsage. Mrs. Welsh will wear a plum colored dress with gray hat and black accessories for her son's wedding.

The bride-elect attended Fort Hill High School and prior to her recent resignation was employed by the G. C. Murphy Company. Her fiance attended Greene Street Junior High School and spent three years in the Army Air Force. He operates his own service station in Bowling Green.

Following a wedding trip through Virginia Mr. Welsh and his bride will reside at 514 Riehl Avenue.

District Nurses Group Plans Outing

District No. 1, Maryland State Nurses Association will resume its meetings after the summer recess, with a picnic, September 24 with a covered dish supper, at 6:30 in Constitution Park.

Miss Mary Neal will preside at the short business session, after which an impromptu social will conclude the evening. Plans will also be discussed for a possible card party to be held sometime next month.

The committee in charge of arrangements includes Mrs. Isabelle Laughlin, Mrs. Gladys Brooks and Mrs. Ora May Robinson Lewis.

LaSalle Mothers Club Plans Party

The executive board of the LaSalle Mothers Club will entertain the mothers of the freshmen at LaSalle High School with an informal reception, September 30 in St. Patrick's Social Center, beginning at 8:15.

Greetings will be extended by Mrs. Charles D. Shaffer, president of the club, and an informal get acquainted hour will be held, after which refreshments are to be served.

Receiving the guests will be Brother Clement, principal of LaSalle; Mrs. Shaffer, Mrs. Frederick Y. Borden, Mrs. Joseph Madden, Mrs. Joseph Wood and Mrs. George Hughes.

The first business session of the year of the club will be held October 14.

Centre Street Church School To Meet

The first regular meeting of the Centre Street Methodist Church School P-TA since the summer recess, will be held, September 26, beginning at 8 o'clock.

Rev. W. Randolph Keefe, pastor of Grace Baptist Church, will be the guest speaker and will be introduced by Mrs. Erick Roeder, president. C. H. Furtney will lead the devotionals.

During the business session plans will be discussed and formulated for enlarging the church library as this year's project. The library was begun last spring when the organization was organized.

Events In Brief

The Cumberland Business and Professional Women's Club will hold it's usual dinner meeting at 5:30 Tuesday night at Central YMCA. A program on Public Relations will be presented under the chairmanship of Miss Mary Sowerby.

Court Cardinal Gibbons CDA will hold a social tomorrow night at 8:30 at the home.

The weekly dance of Cumberland Lodge BPO Elks will be held tonight in the cocktail lounge. Music by the Society Ramblers will be from 9 until 12:30.

A 500 card party will be held at 8:30 tonight at Malta Temple, Prospect Square.

The Ladies Shrine Club will meet at the temple, Tuesday followed by a card party.

The Ladies Auxiliary of Canton Allegany No. 4 IOOF will meet at 8 tonight at the Odd Fellows hall.

FALL COATS

Full, Flared, Flamboyant

MAD PLAID . . . Handsome black and white blanket plaid great coat with high, flaring collar. Both are designs by Joseph Stein.

HOODWINKER . . . Typical of the fall silhouette is this full-backed coat in soft wool suede with detachable hood, trim collar.

There's drama in the fall coat lineup—a swashbuckling silhouette that should bring cheers from those who are tired of austere and timid fashions.

Designers have gone to town with a reckless disregard of yardage, and the result is an array of coats long, wide and handsome. Generously flared backs are standard equipment on most of the new coats for fall and winter, and attached or detachable hoods are all over the place.

Fabrics are rich and varied, with top honors going to the velvety velours which haven't been seen since the war, and to a new broadcloth that shines like satin.

The new coats, like the new dresses, are considerably longer than those of last winter. Many have dashing big collars which may be turned up to warm the ears. All have a new generous silhouette, usually with fullness concentrated in back.

There are a few short coats around, but the full length styles are far more numerous. Colors are rich and glowing, with deep hunter's green and deep red in high favor, bold plaids well up in the running and, of course, black as the perennial favorite.

For those who can't afford a new fur coat this winter, or who simply don't like them, there are fabric coats that are tops in elegance, completely untrimmed, designed to be worn with a dramatic fur hat or muff.

Fur trimmed coats also are back full force, as are the fur-lined models that are favorites of sports fans and campus belles.

Union WSCS Has Meeting, Program

Mrs. Oscar S. Wilson, Valley Road, was hostess to members of the Union Woman's Society of Christian Service of Centenary Methodist Church, Wednesday night at her home.

"Ye Shall Know the Truth and the Truth Shall Make You Free" was the subject of the devotional period led by Mrs. Ruthella Fey. Mrs. Ralph Ferguson read the Scripture reading from the Gospel of Luke. The members joined in the singing of the hymns, "I Think When I Read That Sweet Story of Old" and "Where He Leads Me, I Will Follow."

Miss Nyna Fey had charge of the business session and reported on the Centenary official board meeting and the money turned over to the trustees of the church towards the payment of the new furnace to be installed next month.

A report of sick members and sick visits made was also given. Mrs. Fey gave a report as Sunshine chairman; Mrs. Steve Bowling reported on the Missionary program presented by the church women recently and gave an article on missionary work. The meeting closed with the singing of "Abide with Me" and the benediction; after which Mrs. John Wentling was in charge of a Bible quiz.

Others attending the meeting were Mrs. George Windish, Mrs. John Twigg, Mrs. Albert Smouse, Mrs. Edward Lundien, Mrs. Richard H. Bready, Mrs. Augustus McElfish, Miss Christine Windish, Miss Regina Ferguson, Mrs. Maxine Wilmot and Miss Deidre Wilson.

The next meeting of the society will be held at the parsonage on October 15, with Mrs. John Twigg and Mrs. Bready as cohostesses.

Mrs. Edythe Rupert 816 Sylvan Avenue, announces the marriage of her daughter, Miss Patricia Ann Rupert, to Paul Shannon Thompson, 148 Bedford Street, son of Mrs. Henry Welsh, Petersburg, W. Va., and Fletcher Thompson, 441 Walnut Street.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the Glenmore Street residence of Rev. Paul Rotenberry, minister of the Church of Christ, with Rev. Mr. Rotenberry officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin E. Trenton were their attendants. Mr. and Mrs. Trenton had been married earlier in the afternoon by Rev. Charles W. Bogan in St. Patrick's rectory.

The bride was attired in a brown silk crepe, street length dress, fashioned with the new gathered sleeve, jewel neckline and full skirt. With it she wore a small brown and gold hat and brown accessories. A corsage of yellow rosebuds completed her costume. Her matron of honor wore a green costume with brown accessories and a corsage of white and pink rosebuds.

The bride was a member of the June graduating class of Ursuline Academy, where she was a member fo the Glee Club, Lavoisier Club and on the basketball team.

The bridegroom, a veteran of approximately three years service in the Army, was in active combat in the ETO and also with the Army of Occupation. Since his discharge he is employed by his father in the contracting business.

Immediately following the ceremony the two bridal couples left on a motor trip. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Thompson will reside with her mother. Mr. and Mrs. Trenton will make their home in Keyser.

Niece Of Local Women Is Bride Of J. W. S. Foster, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mayer Shriver, "Alsenborn" Pikesville, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Ruth Lee French Shriver, to John Walter Smith Foster, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Walter Smith Foster, Worthington Valley. The ceremony was performed last Monday at 4 o'clock, in St. Thomas' Church, Garrison Forest, with Dr. Philip J. Jensen officiating. The traditional wedding marches and a program of nuptial music was played by Mrs. Mary Mason.

Miss Kathleen Jensen was the maid of honor and Mrs. Lawrence K. Harper, Jr., Miss Elizabeth Whealton, Miss Constance Sheedy, Miss Marjory Fisher, Miss Elsie Symington Foster and Miss Elizabet Chesur Shriver were the bridesmaids. Franklin Rea Foster served as best man and Johns Janney Hoffman, David L. F. Rambert, John Dougnfield Hoxal and Charles Mayer Shriver, Jr., served as ushers.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a white taffeta gown adorned with a Rose Point butterfly, and fashioned with a court train. A veil of old family Rose Point lace completed her costume. With it she carried a bouquet of white orchids.

Her attendants wore chartreuse taffeta gowns and headdress, and carried bouquets of autumn flowers and foliage from California. Mrs. Shriver chose a navy blue crepe and blue ostrich hat for her daughter's wedding, and with it she wore a lavender orchid. Mrs. Foster's gown was of beige crepe, with which she wore a chartreuse orchid hat and green orchid corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Garrison Forest School and House in the Pines. She is a member of the Junior League and was a member of the faculty of House in the Pines. The bridegroom is a graduate of Gilman Country School, The Hill School, and Lehigh University. A pilot in the Air Corps for two years, he is now connected with Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Shriver entertained with a reception at their home, honoring their daughter and her bridal party, after which the couple left by plane for Bermuda. For traveling the bride wore a green wool suit with ostrich hat to match. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Foster will reside in a cottage on Alsenborn.

Fall News In Furs

NEW SILHOUETTES . . . Above are three fur coats typical of the varied fall trends. Left, luxurious mink with new wide collar, raglan shoulders, wide sleeves tightly cuffed at the wrist, and full, rippling back; center, black Alaska seal cutaway three-quarter length, Peter-Pan collar with self ties and Gibson Girl sleeves, both designed by Harra; right. Persian broadtail casual coat in shirttail style with broadcloth accents, metal buttons, tapered sleeves, designed by B. Weinstein.

By DOROTHY ROE

There's headline news in fur coats for fall, as well as in dresses and hats.

The "look-backward" trend that has slipped pads from shoulders to hips in the dress silhouette and has recreated the hat styles of 1911 is also evident in high-style fur coats shown for next fall and winter.

In its most extreme version, the new fur silhouette goes back to 1920, with sloping, narrow shoulders, big shawl collars and a wraparound line. Full length coats are much longer, to match the longer skirt line, but there are still many three-quarter and fingertip lengths available.

Many new coats have tapered sleeves and deep, tight-fitting cuffs, instead of the loose, roll-back sleeve styles of last season.

Big collars are seen on many models—a boon to girls with cold ears.

There's a trend toward dolman and raglan sleeves, with deep, loose armholes.

Some of the longer wraparound coats have less fullness than formerly, but there remains a strong liking for the full,flared back.

The extreme changes in silhouette appears only in high-style collections. Moderately priced coats stick to more conservative lines.

Prices, at first expected to be much less this season, show little change. Furs are still expensive—but workmanship and styling are top level, even in the budget class.

In Oriental art the bat is a symbol of maternity. At one time Oriental rugs with bats in the corners were eagerly sought by barren women as a maternity charm. The value of such magic carpets is not recorded.

Fall News In Furs

By DOROTHY ROE

There's headline news in fur coats for fall, as well as in dresses and hats.

The "look-backward" trend that has slipped pads from shoulders to hips in the dress silhouette and has recreated the hat styles of 1911 is also evident in high-style fur coats shown for next fall and winter.

In its most extreme version, the new fur silhouette goes back to 1920, with sloping, narrow shoulders, big shawl collars and a wraparound line. Full length coats are much longer, to match the longer skirt line, but there are still many three-quarter and fingertip lengths available.

Many new coats have tapered sleeves and deep, tight-fitting cuffs, instead of the loose, roll-back sleeve styles of last season.

Big collars are seen on many models—a boon to girls with cold ears.

There's a trend toward dolman and raglan sleeves, with deep, loose armholes.

Some of the longer wraparound coats have less fullness than formerly, but there remains a strong liking for the full,flared back.

The extreme changes in silhouette appears only in high-style collections. Moderately priced coats stick to more conservative lines.

Prices, at first expected to be much less this season, show little change. Furs are still expensive—but workmanship and styling are top level, even in the budget class.

In Oriental art the bat is a symbol of maternity. At one time Oriental rugs with bats in the corners were eagerly sought by barren women as a maternity charm. The value of such magic carpets is not recorded.

First Red Cross Swimming Course To Be Held Soon

Classes Will Start Next Tuesday Night

A preliminary 15-hour course which is required in preparation for a Red Cross swimming instructor's training course to be held here next month will be conducted September 23 through October 3 at the Central YMCA pool, according to Mrs. Lee W. Witherup, executive secretary of Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross.

James E. Kelley, Jr., water safety chairman for the county chapter, will be the instructor for the preliminary course, with the first class scheduled for Tuesday, September 23, from 5:30 to 7 p. m.

The classes will be held daily at those hours, with the exception of Saturday and Sunday, for the 10-day period.

Registration for the preliminary course will be open until next Tuesday. All applicants must be at least 19 years of age. No charge will be made for either course, and Red Cross swimming instructors' certificates will be presented to those successfully completing both courses.

Robert Earl, first aid and water safety representative from eastern area Red Cross headquarters in Alexandria, Va., will teach the main 15-hour training course at the "Y" pool, beginning October 13.

Persons interested in taking the courses are asked to contact Kelley or the local Red Cross office. Mrs. Witherup explained the courses were planned to provide instructors for the "learn to swim" campaign instituted last year for county grade school children.

Maryland War Dead Shipments To Start Oct. 10

According to the War Department, state and local committees composed of members of veterans organizations, the National Guard and the Maryland Military Districts will be formed to coordinate the departments procedure for the return and burial of World War II dead.

Among cities in the state where these groups are being formed are Cumberland, Oakland, Hagerstown and Frederick. The chairmen of the various committees will be announced at an early date.

Figures compiled by the Maryland Historical Society indicate that more than 4,000 men from Maryland were buried overseas. Of this number it is estimated that approximately 77 percent will be returned to this country for burial.

The first shipment to arrive will bear the remains of those buried in Hawaii and is expected to arrive in San Francisco about October 10. The first shipment from Europe will arrive in New York about October 25 bearing remains from the Henri Chappelle Cemetery in Belgium.

Upon arrival of the remains at San Francisco or New York, the next of kin will be notified by telegram and names released to the press 24 hours later. These telegrams will advise the next of kin that the bodies have arrived in the United States and that they will receive further information from the Quartermaster General.

Fifteen distribution points have been established. The one serving Maryland will be the Philadelphia Quartermaster General Depot. Remains of Maryland men will be shipped direct to Philadelphia where the Second Army will have a detachment to provide an escort of appropriate rank, service and race for each body forwarded from that point.

When arrangements have been made for shipment the next of kin will be notified by telegram that the remains will arrive on a certain date and will request that the Philadelphia Quartermaster General Depot be advised whether the remains should be delivered to the home, undertaker or to a National Cemetery.

The next of kin is also advised that if military funeral honors are desired they should contact a local veterans organization. If appropriate arrangements cannot be made through the local veterans organization the next of kin will be requested to so inform the Philadelphia Depot.

Court Asked To Rule On Sales Agreement

A petition was filed in Circuit Court yesterday by Fletcher L. Thompson, Walnut Street, against Casper Hobell, asking the Court to decree that Hobell fulfill terms of an agreement of sale of nine lots in the Potomac Park area.

The petition, filed for Thompson by his attorney, Edward J. Ryan, was accompanied by a sales agreement, in which Hobell agreed to sell nine lots to Thompson for $1,000. Thompson was to pay $100 in services in remodeling work at Hobell's store, and then to pay $25 per month until the lots were paid for.

Thompson claims he did the work which paid the $100 and offered Hobell monthly payments, but Hobell has refused to accept payments and has declined to acknowledge the agreement. Clarence Shutter prepared the agreement January 7, last.

Thompson wants the contract fulfilled as agreed.

Miss Maryland Attending St. Mary's College

Miss Carolyn Jean Dixon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dixon, Fayette Street, who won the title of "Miss Maryland 1947" and represented this city and state at the Atlantic City Miss America pageant early this month, is attending St. Mary's Junior College, St. Mary's City, Md.

Miss Dixon has enrolled for a course of training as a medical secretary and is also studying vocal and piano music.

DEATHS

Rev. W. R. Keefe, Jr., pastor of Grace Baptist Church, will officiate and burial will be in Hillcrest Burial Park.

WILLIAM COOK RITES

A funeral service for William H. Cook, 69, a former resident of this city, who died Wednesday in Philadelphia, Pa., will be conducted tomorrow afternoon in the Stein Funeral Home. Burial will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Judge Henderson To Address Jaycees

Associate Judge George Henderson will be guest speaker at the state directors meeting of the Maryland Junior Association of Commerce to be held in Hagerstown Saturday and Sunday, September 27 and 28.

About 20 officers, directors and committee chairman of the local Jaycee organization, and several from Frostburg expect to attend, according to John Robb, local president.

Wife Prefers Charge

Justice of the Peace C. A. Jewell, Ridgeley, last night issued a warrant for the arrest of Pell Morris, Wiley Ford, W. Va., on a charge of assault and battery preferred by his wife.

Mrs. Morris testified she was lying on the couch at her home when her husband came home drunk and beat her upon her face and head with his fists, authorities said. Constable R. A. Greene was asked to serve the warrant.

Judges Sign Five Divorce Decrees In Circuit Court

Three Women, Two Men Win Actions

Five divorce decrees were signed yesterday by Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge George Henderson, in Circuit Court.

Russell J. Myers was divorced from Ruth E. Myers, and each was given the custody of one of their two children. The couple married here June 8, 1935 and lived on Columbia Street until February 1, 1946 when they separated and the wife went to reside with friends on Louisiana Avenue, taking one child with her and leaving the other with her father. It was testified the couple lived in the same house for several months without speaking to each other.

Marcel Llewellyn was divorced from Philip Llewellyn, and she was given the custody of their two small children, but the husband must support them, subject to the supervision of Juvenile Court. The couple married August 7, 1937.

James R. McCoy, who resides at Algonquin Hotel, was divorced from Clela B. McCoy, whom he married in Papillion, Neb., April 18, 1929. They separated in Memphis, Tenn., in August 1943, and Mrs. McCoy's present whereabouts are unknown here.

Elsie A. Smith, of Baltimore Avenue, was divorced from Earl S. Smith, and was given the right to resume her maiden name, Elsie A. Litton. The couple married May 8, 1943, here, and separated October 1, 1944.

Etta Lewis was divorced from James M. Lewis, and given the right to her maiden name, Etta Williston. She now resides in Baltimore where she is employed, and testified that they were married here April 15, 1944 and separated October 1, 1945. While living in Cumberland, they had an apartment on Columbia Street.

A suit for divorce was filed by Virginia Anna Mattingly vs John Joseph Mattingly.

Plan Open House

The Corriganville School open house will be held, September 24, under the sponsorship of the Corriganville P.-T. A. An informal party from 8 until 10 o'clock, it is being given for the purpose for the parents to become acquainted with the school.

A concert by the Mt. Savage Band will feature the entertainment program. A social hour will conclude the evening.

State Music Club Board To Meet

The Maryland Federation of Music Clubs will hold its fall board meeting, September 24, in the Hotel Alexander, Hagerstown, beginning at 10:30 a. m. with Mrs. Robert E. Clapp, Frederick, presiding.

Mrs. Harold H. Nesbitt, new chairman of "Music in Industry" will speak at the luncheon, outlining her plans for expansion of this department. Mrs. B. S. L. Davis will report on the federation's project, "Music in the Hospitals."

Members of the board, who may attend from here, are Mrs. Henry C. Swearingen, second vice president; Mrs. Frank Stuart Rowe, historian; Mrs. Robert L. Critchfield, district director; Mrs. S. Lua Syckes, Sr., Mrs. Richard Trevaskis, Sr., Mrs. Mabel Pope, Mrs. Arthur Bright, Mrs. Marguerite Richards, Jack E. Platt, Prof. and Mrs. Maurice Matteson, Frostburg.

District Legion Auxiliary To Honor Heads Tomorrow

Mountain District, American Legion Auxiliary, will entertain the department president and honor the retiring district vice president tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Legion Home.

Mrs. Earl Poorbaugh, Baltimore, department president, will present a charter to Chilcott-Cresap Unit, 209, Cresaptown; and one to Proctor-Kildow Unit, Oakland. She also will dedicate a flag for James P. Love Unit, Lonaconing, and give her report on the national convention.

Mrs. Martha McNary will preside and receive unit reports at her final meeting prior to retiring from office October 20 at the Presidents and Secretaries Conference, Baltimore. During the latter meeting Mrs. Charles Cole, Frostburg, past president of Farrady Unit, will be installed as vice president of the district.

Fort Cumberland Unit will be hostess tomorrow, with Mrs. Effie Vogel and Mrs. Elsie Kilroy co-chairmen.

Elementary Principals To Hold Dinner-Meeting

The Elementary Principals Association of Allegany County will hold its opening meeting of the season, Monday, in the form of a dinner at Guntertown, beginning at 6:15. Miss Bernice Winner, principal of Midland Elementary School and president of the association, will preside and introduce Charles L. Kopp, who will be the guest speaker.

Earl Brain, principal of Beall Elementary School, Frostburg, is Program chairman.

The regular business session will follow the program.

Classes Will Start Next Tuesday Night

A preliminary 15-hour course which is required in preparation for a Red Cross swimming instructor's training course to be held here next month will be conducted September 23 through October 3 at the Central YMCA pool, according to Mrs. Lee W. Witherup, executive secretary of Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross.

James E. Kelley, Jr., water safety chairman for the county chapter, will be the instructor for the preliminary course, with the first class scheduled for Tuesday, September 23, from 5:30 to 7 p. m.

The classes will be held daily at those hours, with the exception of Saturday and Sunday, for the 10-day period.

Registration for the preliminary course will be open until next Tuesday. All applicants must be at least 19 years of age. No charge will be made for either course, and Red Cross swimming instructors' certificates will be presented to those successfully completing both courses.

Court Asked To Rule On Sales Agreement

A petition was filed in Circuit Court yesterday by Fletcher L. Thompson, Walnut Street, against Casper Hobell, asking the Court to decree that Hobell fulfill terms of an agreement of sale of nine lots in the Potomac Park area.

The petition, filed for Thompson by his attorney, Edward J. Ryan, was accompanied by a sales agreement, in which Hobell agreed to sell nine lots to Thompson for $1,000. Thompson was to pay $100 in services in remodeling work at Hobell's store, and then to pay $25 per month until the lots were paid for.

Thompson claims he did the work which paid the $100 and offered Hobell monthly payments, but Hobell has refused to accept payments and has declined to acknowledge the agreement. Clarence Shutter prepared the agreement January 7, last.

Thompson wants the contract fulfilled as agreed.

Judge Henderson To Address Jaycees

Associate Judge George Henderson will be guest speaker at the state directors meeting of the Maryland Junior Association of Commerce to be held in Hagerstown Saturday and Sunday, September 27 and 28.

About 20 officers, directors and committee chairman of the local Jaycee organization, and several from Frostburg expect to attend, according to John Robb, local president.

Wife Prefers Charge

Justice of the Peace C. A. Jewell, Ridgeley, last night issued a warrant for the arrest of Pell Morris, Wiley Ford, W. Va., on a charge of assault and battery preferred by his wife.

Mrs. Morris testified she was lying on the couch at her home when her husband came home drunk and beat her upon her face and head with his fists, authorities said. Constable R. A. Greene was asked to serve the warrant.

Judges Sign Five Divorce Decrees In Circuit Court

Three Women, Two Men Win Actions

Five divorce decrees were signed yesterday by Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge George Henderson, in Circuit Court.

Russell J. Myers was divorced from Ruth E. Myers, and each was given the custody of one of their two children. The couple married here June 8, 1935 and lived on Columbia Street until February 1, 1946 when they separated and the wife went to reside with friends on Louisiana Avenue, taking one child with her and leaving the other with her father. It was testified the couple lived in the same house for several months without speaking to each other.

Marcel Llewellyn was divorced from Philip Llewellyn, and she was given the custody of their two small children, but the husband must support them, subject to the supervision of Juvenile Court. The couple married August 7, 1937.

James R. McCoy, who resides at Algonquin Hotel, was divorced from Clela B. McCoy, whom he married in Papillion, Neb., April 18, 1929. They separated in Memphis, Tenn., in August 1943, and Mrs. McCoy's present whereabouts are unknown here.

Elsie A. Smith, of Baltimore Avenue, was divorced from Earl S. Smith, and was given the right to resume her maiden name, Elsie A. Litton. The couple married May 8, 1943, here, and separated October 1, 1944.

Etta Lewis was divorced from James M. Lewis, and given the right to her maiden name, Etta Williston. She now resides in Baltimore where she is employed, and testified that they were married here April 15, 1944 and separated October 1, 1945. While living in Cumberland, they had an apartment on Columbia Street.

A suit for divorce was filed by Virginia Anna Mattingly vs John Joseph Mattingly.

Plan Open House

The Corriganville School open house will be held, September 24, under the sponsorship of the Corriganville P.-T. A. An informal party from 8 until 10 o'clock, it is being given for the purpose for the parents to become acquainted with the school.

A concert by the Mt. Savage Band will feature the entertainment program. A social hour will conclude the evening.

State Music Club Board To Meet

The Maryland Federation of Music Clubs will hold its fall board meeting, September 24, in the Hotel Alexander, Hagerstown, beginning at 10:30 a. m. with Mrs. Robert E. Clapp, Frederick, presiding.

Mrs. Harold H. Nesbitt, new chairman of "Music in Industry" will speak at the luncheon, outlining her plans for expansion of this department. Mrs. B. S. L. Davis will report on the federation's project, "Music in the Hospitals."

Members of the board, who may attend from here, are Mrs. Henry C. Swearingen, second vice president; Mrs. Frank Stuart Rowe, historian; Mrs. Robert L. Critchfield, district director; Mrs. S. Lua Syckes, Sr., Mrs. Richard Trevaskis, Sr., Mrs. Mabel Pope, Mrs. Arthur Bright, Mrs. Marguerite Richards, Jack E. Platt, Prof. and Mrs. Maurice Matteson, Frostburg.

District Legion Auxiliary To Honor Heads Tomorrow

Mountain District, American Legion Auxiliary, will entertain the department president and honor the retiring district vice president tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Legion Home.

Mrs. Earl Poorbaugh, Baltimore, department president, will present a charter to Chilcott-Cresap Unit, 209, Cresaptown; and one to Proctor-Kildow Unit, Oakland. She also will dedicate a flag for James P. Love Unit, Lonaconing, and give her report on the national convention.

Mrs. Martha McNary will preside and receive unit reports at her final meeting prior to retiring from office October 20 at the Presidents and Secretaries Conference, Baltimore. During the latter meeting Mrs. Charles Cole, Frostburg, past president of Farrady Unit, will be installed as vice president of the district.

Fort Cumberland Unit will be hostess tomorrow, with Mrs. Effie Vogel and Mrs. Elsie Kilroy co-chairmen.

Elementary Principals To Hold Dinner-Meeting

The Elementary Principals Association of Allegany County will hold its opening meeting of the season, Monday, in the form of a dinner at Guntertown, beginning at 6:15. Miss Bernice Winner, principal of Midland Elementary School and president of the association, will preside and introduce Charles L. Kopp, who will be the guest speaker.

Earl Brain, principal of Beall Elementary School, Frostburg, is Program chairman.

The regular business session will follow the program.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Fathers Are Right In Opposing Marriages Of Girls, 15

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

My girl friend and I want to get married. We are 15 years old and the boys we want to marry are 16. Our mothers said yes, but our fathers said no.

My girl friend thinks we should run away. The four of us have money of our own, and the boys could get jobs.

We all agreed that we would do as you said, so would you please answer this as soon as you can, for we are tempted to run away.

FOUR LOVERS."

Dear "Four Lovers":

You would be a very foolish quartette indeed if you carried out any such idea as you have in mind. Those boys and girls who are ready to marry and settle down in their teens are very rare indeed, as few teen-agers are mature enough to be prepared to cop with the many problems which marriage inevitably brings. At any such age, boys and girls should be free to go about with their friends and have the good times that belong to that period of life.

If you intend to take my advice, as you say, you will put the idea of marriage right out of your heads and make up your minds to devote yourselves to the interests and activities on which you should be concentrating at this time.

State of Confusion

Dear Miss Fairfax:

There are two boys that I love dearly. I have gone out with one for about three months, and with the other for about four weeks. When I'm with one I think of the other.

The one I have gone with the shortest time asked me to go steady with him, but I don't know what I should do. Please give me some advice. "CONFUSION."

Dear "Confusion":

I am afraid that you will stay in the state you describe in your signature if you do not know your own mind any better than you appear to.

I have said over and over again that anyone who is unable to decide which one of two people he likes the better isn't seriously interested in either.

I don't know how old you are, but I suspect you are very young and consequently I advise you to stop trying to make yourself fall "in love" with anyone. My advice is to have a lot of friends and wait until someone comes along whom you feel sure about before you think of "going steady."

Pointing out that every community has a basic economy, he declared it behooved the Chamber of Commerce to determine fundamentals upon which the community depends for its livelihood, growth and development, and then to have a sound, efficient and realistic program of aims and purposes, adapted to the neds of the particular community.

Mr. Ewald spoke of the three major fields of endeavor as local activities, state and regional activities and participation in national affairs, but he stressed local activities as of prime importance with ideas and opinions coming from as many members as possible.

He urged development of the highest type of business leadership to wipe out America's economic illiteracy. He pictured the American public as wanting information.

Charles L. Briner, president of the group, mentioned projects now underway and expected, including the railroad station, the water supply, the street signs, clock on the court house, and the train service. Senator I. M. Fraley served as toastmaster, Mayor A. G. Hesen welcomed the group. Announcement was made of future dinner meetings with J. THE "CARRY"

There are parts of North America through which men can travel a thousand miles by canoe! But not all of the journey is easy paddling on glassy lakes, or lazy drifting before friendly currents. There are choppy rivers and swirling rapids. And when the river becomes un-navigable, or the lake ends . . . there is always a "carry."

A "carry" isn't easy. You have to shoulder your duffle-packed craft and make your way slowly overland to the next stretch of water. You have no choice in the matter . . . you must make the "carry" or you can't go on.

Life isn't much different than a journey by canoe. There are "carries" that must be made if we are to go on. A man can't escape the burdened miles that are part of his journey.

The strength we need for such times is not physical, but spiritual. It doesn't come from vitamins—it comes from FAITH.

The Church has helped millions to make the "carries" of life. The Church can help YOU.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to Church on Sunday and read your Bible daily

THE "CARRY"

There are parts of North America through which men can travel a thousand miles by canoe! But not all of the journey is easy paddling on glassy lakes, or lazy drifting before friendly currents. There are choppy rivers and swirling rapids. And when the river becomes un-navigable, or the lake ends . . . there is always a "carry."

A "carry" isn't easy. You have to shoulder your duffle-packed craft and make your way slowly overland to the next stretch of water. You have no choice in the matter . . . you must make the "carry" or you can't go on.

Life isn't much different than a journey by canoe. There are "carries" that must be made if we are to go on. A man can't escape the burdened miles that are part of his journey.

The strength we need for such times is not physical, but spiritual. It doesn't come from vitamins—it comes from FAITH.

The Church has helped millions to make the "carries" of life. The Church can help YOU.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to Church on Sunday and read your Bible daily

KEYSER, W. Va., Sept. 19 — Keyser High School packed its scoring punch in the second and third quarters today to defeat Charles Town High School by the score of 19 to 0. It was the Golden Tornado's second victory of the season.

Charles "Ace" Emery's pass to his brother Paul from the 4-yard line netted the initial touchdown in the second period. Dallas Adams marked up the second six-pointer late in the same stanza on a 12-yard run.

Johnny Spitzer's 25-yard gallop netted the final score in the third quarter and Calhoun made the extra point on a quarterback sneak.

Keyser's forward line gave a good account of itself. Charles Town was limited to 11 net yards on the ground while Keyser piled up 256.

"Ace" Emery tore off gains of 30, 18, 14 and 10 yards, Spitzer 25, 24 and 20 and Adams 16 and 12.

BEDFORD, Pa., Sept. 19 — A crowd of 4,200 persons saw Coach Bruce Fisher's Bedford High School eleven chalk up its second victory of the home campaign tonight over Richland Township High. The score was 26 to 0.

The Bisons pushed over their first touchdown in the second quarter after a sustained march from their own 38. Gene Beegle set the stage for the score when he ran off right tackle for 16 yards to the two. Mike Williams toted the leather over the final stripe and also place-kicked the point.

A short pass over center, Williams to Beegle produced the second score in the third period.

In the final period Allen Hershberger ran 12 yards off right guard for the third six-pointed and Beegle racked up the final touchdown on a quarterback sneak from the 9. Williams passed to Diehl for the extra point.

Thirty-one Bedford players saw action in the game.

The Bisons will play Westmont High of Johnstown, here next Friday night. Lineups:

CLARKSBURG'S MIDGET FULLBACK SUFFERED BROKEN COLLARBONE

James "Winkie" Ransone, midget substitute fullback of St. Mary's High School of Clarksburg, W. Va., suffered a fractured collarbone in the game with LaSalle here Thursday night, it was revealed yesterday by Brother Gregory, director of athletics at the North Centre Street school.

Ransone, who tips the beam at 95 pounds, got into the game late and made three nice gains in succession. Then he was tackled hard and injured. Dr. John K. Rozum examined Ransone and stated that the lad had suffered a fractured collarbone.

Most of the members of St. Mary's squad remained here overnight but one group took Ransone back to Clarksburg for an X-ray examination.

When asked why a little fellow like Ransone made three nice gains in as many tries, one of the LaSalle players replied: "The guy was too small, we couldn't see him."

A lightning-fast, explosive and devastating ground attack and old Father Time combined last night to give the Fort Hill High Sentinels a thrilling 27-14 victory over the Moorefield High Yellow Jackets on the gridiron at Fort Hill Stadium before a cheering throng of 4,500 fans.

The win successfully opened the Scarlet and White football season and brought their record to one victory and one defeat this year. The loss was the first in two games for Coach Johnny Paugh's Potomac Valley Conference champions.

Plunging, running, shifting through the visiting Jackets forward wall almost at will the Cumberland City Champs took only eight plays to march 61 yards for the first touchdown in the game, added another six-pointer early in the second period on 10 scrimmage plays—this time going 52 yards for the score—and then put the game on ice in the third stanza with two more touchdowns.

Complete 17 of 21 Passes

The Jackets were able to dent the husky Sentinel forwards for a total of 86 net yards from scrimmage, but probably the finest aerial game seen in the stadium in many years made the Paughmen a constant threat throughout the contest and almost had the Scarlet and White gridders reeling from the ropes on several occasions. Altogether Moorefield, sparked by big George Hott, 1946 All-Conference back in the PVC, connected for 17 passes in 21 attempts and rolled up the almost unbelievable total of 275 yards through the air.

Moorefield lost the ball on downs on the Fort Hill 39 midway in the initial quarter and the first time the Sentinels had their hands on the pigskin they marched to their first score, in just eight plays. Jim Manges and Ray Stevenson cracked the line for 14 and 16 yards, Stevenson made 15 and more and Manges and Stevenson picked up seven and four more yards throughout the line as Fort Hill racked up four consecutive first downs to put the ball on the Moorefield 5. From this point Stevenson cracked left tackle for the touchdown. Manges added the extra point from placement to make it 7-0.

Moorefield came right back and the Hahnmen began to get a look at the sparkling passing game the Jackets were scheduled to unleash. Loring Vance, little pepperpot quarterback for the Jackets, tossed one to Harry Welton for a first on the Fort Hill 42. Another pass made it a first on the Sentinel 30. George Hott then faded far back and tossed a beauty into the arms of Bill Raines and the right halfback was brought down on the Fort Hill 2 where Hott plunged over on the next play. Hott's placement was good and the count was knotted at 7-7 as the quarter ended.

Fort Hill came back and took the

Cards Down Cubs By 5 To 2 Score

Al Brazle Hurls Team To Victory

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 19 (INS)—The St. Louis Cardinals ended a six game losing streak and remained in the mathematical contention for the National League pennant by defeating the Chicago Cubs, 5 to 2, tonight before 13,595 fans.

The Cardinals remain nine games behind the Brooklyn Dodgers in the waning days of the National League pennant race.

St. Louis has 10 more games scheduled while Brooklyn has only eight more to play.

Al Brazle throttled the Cubs with seven hits to bring the Red Birds out of their losing streak, although he had to have help from Howard Pollet in the ninth inning when he loaded the bases with one out.

Terry Moore, captain of the Cardinals who was presented with a new automobile and various other gifts at a pre-game fete, gave Brazle a 2-0 lead in the first inning when he singled with the bases loaded. Al Schoendienst, who had three hits, doubled in the fifth and scored later on Stan Musials' single with what proved to be the winning run.

Bill Nicholson pounded out his 24th home run of the season to start a two-run rally in the seventh inning for the Cubs, but Enos Slaughter matched the blow in the seventh—his tenth homer of the season.

Schoendienst drove in the final run, Johnny Schmitz gave up the first three runs, dropping his eighteenth decision of the year. Emil Kush finished.

Rocking Chair Loop Tilt Ends In 3-3 Deadlock

Elks Take 6-0 Lead, Moose Rally In 5th

Spotting their opponents six runs in the first two innings, Manager "Red" Payne's Cumberland Loyal Ordler of Moose tossers rallied for five runs in the fifth to knot the count at 7-7 in the third game of their Rocking Chair Softball League championship series with the B.P.O. Elks yesterday at Community Park. Darkness halted the game with the score deadlocked after seven innings of play had been completed.

Clash Again Monday

The teams will clash again on Monday at 6 p. m. at Community Park. The Moose won the toss and will be the home team.

Trailing 6-0 going into the third the Moose began whittling down the Elks' lead by scoring two runs. Robinson was safe on an error by Roy Whiteman. After John Angellatta flied out, Frank Fogtman singled Robinson to second. Then Frank Williams hammered a triple to center for two tallies.

Minnicks Ties Score

The Moose took a 7-2 lead in the fourth but the "big blow" came in the fifth when Skipper Payne's outfit registered five markers. Ed Roberts walked and moved to second on a single by Bob Wade. Claude Robinson hit safely to fill the bases. Wilkinson walked Angellatta, forcing in a run. Then Fogtman drew a pass, sending over another marker. Williams delivered a base wallop, scoring the third run of the inning and the bags were still loaded. Russ Minnicks tied up the score by singling the fourth and fifth runs of the inning. After Ed Schrader flied out Glenn Shaffer walked, filling the hassocks again. The rally died when Jackson went out on a fly.

Schrader speared Dick Bruce's line drive in the third and Bruce Mackey turned in a shoestring catch of Lonnie Jackson's drive near the right field foul line to provide the best fielding plays. Box:

Jackie Robinson Besieged By Fans

Dodger Star Tickled By Noisy Welcome

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP) — Jackie Robison, negro first baseman of the Brooklyn Dodgers, was besieged in a telephone booth today by several hundred fans, mostly white, as the National League leaders came home to a tumultuous reception.

A half dozen police were summoned to rescue Robinson, and the crowd then followed him into the subway station, leaping over turnstiles to pursue him into the train.

"I love it. It's wonderful," said Robinson when asked how he felt about the noisy welcome in Pennsylvania station. "I wasn't running away. The only thing I wanted was to call my wife and let her know I was back in town. It's wonderful. I'm tickled silly."

Robinson's heavy hitting was a big factor in the western road trip of the Dodgers during which the league championship was virtually assured.

The Dodgers split up after the train arrived and as a result a score of varied receptions occurred.

Mrs. Harold Reese couldn't find her husband, and over the loud speaker came the announcement, "Peewee Reese, meet your party in the station master's office." That started a mass rush that also brought out police reserves.

Young women in the crowd carried signs with such legends as "It Wasn't In The Cards," and "Leave Us Give The Yankees A Bum's Rush."

NEW YORK ADOPTS RACE HORSE BAN

NEW YORK, Sept. 19. (INS)—The stabling committee of New York tracks banned shipment of race horses into New York State today because a new case of swamp fever has appeared in an unidentified "near-by locality."

The ruling prevents William Helis, Calumet Farm and other big stables from sending their stake horses from New Jersey to Belmont Park to keep their engagements. However, Calumet already has moved in its big three—Armed, Bewitch and Citation.

Krug Purchases Stock I.. Los Angeles Rams

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 19 (AP)—The Los Angeles Rams announced today that Secretary of the Interior Julius A. Krug had become a part owner of that National Professional Football League club.

The announcement quoted Dan Reeves, Rams' owner, as saying that Krug and Fred Levy, Jr., Los Angeles businessman, had jointly taken over 25 percent of the stock. Levy, a part owner when the team was in Cleveland, sold out when he entered service in 1943.

Amvets And Hyndman Open Series Sunday

Clapper To Oppose Poffenberger Here

Survivors of the four-team playoffs, Manager Norman Gerdeman's Cumberland Amvets and Manager Walter "Pete" Cook's Hyndman Firemen will meet tomorrow at 3:30 p. m. at Community Park in the initial game of their series for the championship of the Bi-State Baseball League. The team winning two games will be crowned champions of the 10-team circuit.

Gerdeman has nominated his undefeated righthander, Cletus "Boots" Poffenberger to pitch the first game while Hyndman is expected to trot out Paul Clapper, who scored the only victory for Hyndman over the locals in the four-game series during the regular season.

Clapper Won Opener

Clapper gained a 6-4 decision over John Lecorcheck on April 27. Then the Louis Wolford Post tossers bagged three straight from the Pensylvanians. On June 1, Danny Drew defeated Haverlak here, 4-1. Ken Clark, the outfielder-pitcher, gained an 11-2 decision over the Firemen on July 6 and on August 10 "Boots" Poffenberger won over Tommy Burns, now playing football at V. P. I., 9 to 0.

Since returning from the minor leagues, Clapper pitched Hyndman into the playoff finals by bagging two in a row from Westvaco, 3-2 and 5-2. Poffenberger, who won seven consecutive games during the regular Bi-State campaign, hurled the Amvets into the finals by mastering the Lonaconing Republican Club 8-3 and 10-0.

Amvets Hitting .335

The Amvets hit the ball at a .335 clip during the 36-game season while Hyndman pounded the pellet for .305 as a team.

Hyndman will be the scene of the second game on Sunday, September 28. The site for the third game if necessary will be decided by the toss of a coin. It will be played Sunday, October 5.

Jim Demaret Leads By Single Stroke

ATLANTA, Sept. 19 (AP)—Jimmy Demaret of Oaji, Calif., fired a two-under-par 69 to take the lead in the $10,000 North Fulton Open Golf Tournament Friday.

His 34-35 in the second round over the 6,707-yard North Fulton course gave him a 36-hole total of 140 and a one-stroke lead over Tommy Wright of Knoxville, Tenn. Wright had a 34-33—67 for a 36-hole 141.

Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn., also came in with a second-round 67, missing a three-foot putt on the eighteenth which would have given him a 66. He was out in 33 and back in 34 for a 142 total.

Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago shot with a 33-34 for the day's third 67. He had 143 for 36 holes.

Tied with Middlecoff at 142 were George Payton, Hampton, Va., Johnny Palmer, Badin, N. C., and Toney Penna, Cincinnati.

Third round play begins Saturday morning with the finals Sunday.

Rookie Blanks Nats, Rain Halts Contest

BOSTON, Sept. 19 (AP) — Charles (Chuck) Stobbs, 18-year-old southpaw from Norfolk, Va., pitched three flawless innings against the Washington Senators today before the game was called on account of the weather in his first starting assignment for the Boston Red Sox.

A hard rain came up, causing the umpires to call time after the third inning when the Red Sox were leading the Senators, 2-0. Later the game was postponed. A double-header will be played tomorrow.

Stobbs got a hit in the second inning, his only time at bat.

An all sports star at Granby High in Norfolk, Stobbs was signed by the Red Sox and sent to their farm team at Lynn, Mass., in the New England League at the start of the current season. He won nine and lost two for the Lynn Red Sox.

SPORTS TRAIL

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP) — We have an idea a couple of pen pals will play a prominent part in the coming world series.

Bullpen pals of the starting pitchers, that is, for right now it looks like Hugh Casey of the Dodgers and Joe Page of the Yankees probably will be called on about the seventh inning to try to write the happy ending more than seldom.

HUGH CASEY

In fact, the outcome of the series may depend on the effectiveness of these two guys of the finishing school, as on the records of the starting pitchers there isn't one who is a good bet to do a complete nine-inning job.

Either they have histories of sore arms or they just get tired, and both the Yankees and Dodgers have come in on a wing and a prayer, so to speak. Or two wings, one of the starter and the other belonging to either Casey, the right hander, or Page, the leftist, depending on which club the starting pitcher worked for.

Frank Shea and Spud Chandler, who normally would be rated nine-inning chuckers for the Yankees, have been troubled by sore arms, as has Allie Reynolds, although both Shea and Reynolds turned in commendable full-time jobs their last times out, after the pennant was won.

Ralph Branca, ace of the Brooklyn staff, has a tendency to get wild in the late innings, and Vic Lombardi is inclined to get wild early. An effort is being made to build up Hal Gregg's confidence so he can be used in a starting role.

Joe Hatten is strictly Cub and Phillie man. That is, of his first 13 victories seven were registered over Chicago and six over the Philadelphia club. Harry Taylor is an arm case, so if he was in condition to start he'd undoubtedl need help before it was over.

Both Lombardi and Hatten are southpaws, and the Yankees eat southpaws for breakfast every morning. Casey, a right hander, would come in pretty handy in relief should either of these portsiders start getting their lumps.

Casey, incidentally, appeared against the Yanks in a relief role in three games in the 1941 series. He lost the third game when the Yanks nicked him for two runs in the eighth after Freddie Fitzsimmons had held them scoreless for seven innings.

And he also lost the fourth game, but had Mickey Owen held the third strike which Tommy Henrich had swung at Hugh would have been the winner.

Page, as of yesterday, had a record of 14 victories against seven defeats, and Casey had won nine while losing four. A relief pitcher's value always isn't discernable in the won and lost record, however, as he can save many a game and get no credit.

If we were to pick the man most likely to go the full nine innings in the series this year we think we'd name that ancient mariner, Bobo Newsom. He's been around a long, long time, but he has plenty of know-how and when surrounded by a huge crowd, with plenty at stake, he is at his best. There's a lot of showboat in the old gaffer, but he can come through when the chips are down.

But we still string along with the idea that it will be Page vs. Casey in the series. They may not get credit for a victory or be charged with a defeat, but they'll be in there to cork up rallies and save games for other guys.

Penn State Plays Washington Today

Kentucky-Mississippi Top South's Schedule

By International News Service

The 1947 collegiate football campaign gets under way Saturday afternoon and night with half a dozen corking games on tap, instead of the usual crop of early season setups.

Penn State, leading eastern eleven, tackles a veteran Washington State in a headline attraction.

Kentucky vs. Mississippi is the south's leading game. In the Southwest, Texas tangles with Texas Tech. The Mid-West presents Kansas vs. Texas Christian, and Kansas State vs. the Oklahoma Aggies. The Far West offers California vs. Santa Clara.

Other games include Alabama vs. Mississippi Southern; Iowa vs. North Dakota State; Arkansas vs. Northwest Louisiana; Villanova vs. Kings Point; South Carolina vs. Newberry; Iowa State vs. Iowa Teachers; Missouri vs. St. Louis; Texas Aggies vs. Southwestern (Texas); Clemson vs. Presbyterian; Tulsa vs. West Texas; and Montana State vs. Colorado Mines.

Shkor Scores K.O.

BOSTON, Sept. 19 (INS)—Johnny Shkor, 218, of Boston, scored a technical knockout tonight in two minutes, 35 seconds of the second round over Tony Ferry, 195, of Fall River, at Boston Garden.

MAYOR OF NEW YORK GETS 500 REQUESTS FOR SERIES TICKETS

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP)—Mayor William O'Dwyer, who has all the worries of conducting the government of the largest city in the world, has more now—world series ticket requests.

City Hall said more than 500 requests for tickets have come to O'Dwyer from various national, state and municipal officials. They are turned over to the Dodgers and Yankee clubs.

Janiro Is Victor In New York Bout

Ohioan Beats Pellone In Fight At Garden

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP)—Young Tony Janiro, who has the baby-face of a choir boy and the fighting instinct of a killer, punched out a smashing victory over tough Tony Pellone in ten savage rounds in Madison Square Garden tonight to qualify for a shot at Welterweight Champion Ray Robinson. Janiro scaled 150; Pellone 146¼.

Served up as a "sacrificial lamb" against bigger, rougher Jake Lamotta in his last Garden appearance, the baby-faced youngster from Youngstown (Ohio) got back among the welterweights tonight and won going away.

He had to do it the hard way, too, because from the start to finish, Pellone was guilty of flagrant use of his head at close quarters, actually butting so hard in the fourth he made the Ohioan's nose bleed. Although Referee George Walsh warned the tough New York clouter in half-a-dozen rounds, he penalized Pellone with loss of only one round for "constant use of the head."

The crowd of 13,904 who chipped in to a gross gate of $55,389 to welcome big-league beak-busting back to the Garden after the summer ham-and-egg doldrums, howled repeatedly at Pellone's butting tactics.

The decision was unanimous on the part of the referee and both judges. The Associated Press score card had Janiro for out in front, five rounds to two, with three even as they slugged it out in a bristling pier-six brawl.

Hawthorne To Stage $56,600 Race Today

CHICAGO, Sept. 19 (AP) — Hawthorne's $56,600 Gold Cup, richest stake in the 58 year history of the track, will be decided tomorrow over a mile and a quarter route with the entry of Plumper and Letmenow, owned by Hal Price Headley, Lexington, Ky., probably going to the post favorite.

Victory will be worth $39,100 to the owner of the winning thoroughbred.

Plumper, carying top weight of 122 pounds, will be ridden by Jockey Steve Brooks.

Letmenow will be burdened with only 103 pounds and will be ridden by the youthful Threal Williams, an apprentice.

Louis Arnone Made LaSalle Final Score

Louis Arnone and not Donald Sheffler scored the final touchdown made by LaSalle in its 34-0 victory over St. Mary's of Clarksburg Thursday night at Fort Hill stadium.

This fact was revealed last night by one of the LaSalle "spotters" who admitted he mistook Sheffler for Arnone. The latter snared Mickey Clark's 28-yard pass for the touchdown. Earlier in the game Sheffler scored on a pass. He was credited with two touchdowns in the summary.

KEYSER, W. Va., Sept. 19 — Keyser High School packed its scoring punch in the second and third quarters today to defeat Charles Town High School by the score of 19 to 0. It was the Golden Tornado's econd victory of the season.

Charles "Ace" Emery's pass to his brother Paul from the 4-yard line netted the initial touchdown in the second period. Dallas Adams marked up the second six-pointer late in the same stanza on a 12-yard run.

Johnny Spitzer's 25-yard gallop netted the final score in the third quarter and Calhoun made the extra point on a quarterback sneak.

Keyser's forward line gave a good account of itself. Charles Town was limited to 11 net yards on the ground while Keyser piled up 256.

"Ace" Emery tore off gains of 30, 18, 14 and 10 yards, Spitzer 25, 24 and 20 and Adams 13 and 12.

Coach "Tack" Clark used 28 members of his squad in the game. The lineups:

Jackie Robinson Besieged By Fans

Dodger Star Tickled By Noisy Welcome

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP) — Jackie Robison, negro first baseman of the Brooklyn Dodgers, was besieged in a telephone booth today by several hundred fans, mostly white, as the National League leaders came home to a tumultuous reception.

A half dozen police were summoned to rescue Robinson, and the crowd then followed him into the subway station, leaping over turnstiles to pursue him into the train.

"I love it. It's wonderful," said Robinson when asked how he felt about the noisy welcome in Pennsylvania station. "I wasn't running away. The only thing I wanted was to call my wife and let her know I was back in town. It's wonderful. I'm tickled silly."

Robinson's heavy hitting was a big factor in the western road trip of the Dodgers during which the league championship was virtually assured.

The Dodgers split up after the train arrived and as a result a score of varied receptions occurred.

Mrs. Harold Reese couldn't find her husband, and over the loud speaker came the announcement, "Peewee Reese, meet your party in the station master's office." That started a mass rush that also brought out police reserves.

Young women in the crowd carried signs with such legends as "It Wasn't In The Cards," and "Leave Us Give The Yankees A Bum's Rush."

NEW YORK ADOPTS RACE HORSE BAN

NEW YORK, Sept. 19. (INS)—The stabling committee of New York tracks banned shipment of race horses into New York State today because a new case of swamp fever has appeared in an unidentified "near-by locality."

The ruling prevents William Helis, Calumet Farm and other big stables from sending their stake horses from New Jersey to Belmont Park to keep their engagements. However, Calumet already has moved in its big three—Armed, Bewitch and Citation.

Krug Purchases Stock In Los Angeles Rams

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 19 (AP)—The Los Angeles Rams announced today that Secretary of the Interior Julius A. Krug had become a part owner of that National Professional Football League club.

The announcement quoted Dan Reeves, Rams' owner, as saying that Krug and Fred Levy, Jr., Los Angeles businessman, had jointly taken over 25 percent of the stock. Levy, a part owner when the team was in Cleveland, sold out when he entered service in 1943.

Rocking Chair Loop Tilt Ends In 3-3 Deadlock

Elks Take 6-0 Lead, Moose Rally In 5th

Spotting their opponents six runs in the first two innings, Manager "Red" Payne's Cumberland Loyal Ordler of Moose tossers rallied for five runs in the fifth to knot the count at 7-7 in the third game of their Rocking Chair Softball League championship series with the B.P.O. Elks yesterday at Community Park. Darkness halted the game with the score deadlocked after seven innings of play had been completed.

Clash Again Monday

The teams will clash again on Monday at 6 p. m. at Community Park. The Moose won the toss and will be the home team.

Trailing 6-0 going into the third the Moose began whittling down the Elks' lead by scoring two runs. Robinson was safe on an error by Roy Whiteman. After John Angellatta flied out, Frank Fogtman singled Robinson to second. Then Frank Williams hammered a triple to center for two tallies.

Minnicks Ties Score

The Moose took a 7-2 lead in the fourth but the "big blow" came in the fifth when Skipper Payne's outfit registered five markers. Ed Roberts walked and moved to second on a single by Bob Wade. Claude Robinson hit safely to fill the bases. Wilkinson walked Angellatta, forcing in a run. Then Fogtman drew a pass, sending over another marker. Williams delivered a base wallop, scoring the third run of the inning and the bags were still loaded. Russ Minnicks tied up the score by singling the fourth and fifth runs of the inning. After Ed Schrader flied out Glenn Shaffer walked, filling the hassocks again. The rally died when Jackson went out on a fly.

Schrader speared Dick Bruce's line drive in the third and Bruce Mackey turned in a shoestring catch of Lonnie Jackson's drive near the right field foul line to provide the best fielding plays. Box:

Jim Demaret Leads By Single Stroke

ATLANTA, Sept. 19 (AP)—Jimmy Demaret of Oaji, Calif., fired a two-under-par 69 to take the lead in the $10,000 North Fulton Open Golf Tournament Friday.

His 34-35 in the second round over the 6,707-yard North Fulton course gave him a 36-hole total of 140 and a one-stroke lead over Tommy Wright of Knoxville, Tenn. Wright had a 34-33—67 for a 36-hole 141.

Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn., also came in with a second-round 67, missing a three-foot putt on the eighteenth which would have given him a 66. He was out in 33 and back in 34 for a 142 total.

Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago shot with a 33-34 for the day's third 67. He had 143 for 36 holes.

Tied with Middlecoff at 142 were George Payton, Hampton, Va., Johnny Palmer, Badin, N. C., and Toney Penna, Cincinnati.

Third round play begins Saturday morning with the finals Sunday.

Amvets And Hyndman Open Series Sunday

Clapper To Oppose Poffenberger Here

Survivors of the four-team playoffs, Manager Norman Gerdeman's Cumberland Amvets and Manager Walter "Pete" Cook's Hyndman Firemen will meet tomorrow at 3:30 p. m. at Community Park in the initial game of their series for the championship of the Bi-State Baseball League. The team winning two games will be crowned champions of the 10-team circuit.

Gerdeman has nominated his undefeated righthander, Cletus "Boots" Poffenberger to pitch the first game while Hyndman is expected to trot out Paul Clapper, who scored the only victory for Hyndman over the locals in the four-game series during the regular season.

Clapper Won Opener

Clapper gained a 6-4 decision over John Lecorcheck on April 27. Then the Louis Wolford Post tossers bagged three straight from the Pensylvanians. On June 1, Danny Drew defeated Haverlak here, 4-1. Ken Clark, the outfielder-pitcher, gained an 11-2 decision over the Firemen on July 6 and on August 10 "Boots" Poffenberger won over Tommy Burns, now playing football at V. P. I., 9 to 0.

Since returning from the minor leagues, Clapper pitched Hyndman into the playoff finals by bagging two in a row from Westvaco, 3-2 and 5-2. Poffenberger, who won seven consecutive games during the regular Bi-State campaign, hurled the Amvets into the finals by mastering the Lonaconing Republican Club 8-3 and 10-0.

Amvets Hitting .335

The Amvets hit the ball at a .335 clip during the 36-game season while Hyndman pounded the pellet for .305 as a team.

Hyndman will be the scene of the second game on Sunday, September 28. The site for the third game if necessary will be decided by the toss of a coin. It will be played Sunday, October 5.

Rookie Blanks Nats, Rain Halts Contest

BOSTON, Sept. 19 (AP) — Charles (Chuck) Stobbs, 18-year-old southpaw from Norfolk, Va., pitched three flawless innings against the Washington Senators today before the game was called on account of the weather in his first starting assignment for the Boston Red Sox.

A hard rain came up, causing the umpires to call time after the third inning when the Red Sox were leading the Senators, 2-0. Later the game was postponed. A doubleheader will be played tomorrow.

Stobbs got a hit in the second inning, his only time at bat.

An all sports star at Granby High in Norfolk, Stobbs was signed by the Red Sox and sent to their farm team at Lynn, Mass., in the New England League at the start of the current season. He won nine and lost two for the Lynn Red Sox.

SPORTS TRAIL

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP) — We have an idea a couple of pen pals will play a prominent part in the coming world series.

Bullpen pals of the starting pitchers, that is, for right now it looks like Hugh Casey of the Dodgers and Joe Page of the Yankees probably will be called on about the seventh inning to try to write the happy ending more than seldom.

HUGH CASEY

In fact, the outcome of the series may depend on the effectiveness of these two guys of the finishing school, as on the records of the starting pitchers there isn't one who is a good bet to do a complete nine-inning job.

Either they have histories of sore arms or they just get tired, and both the Yankees and Dodgers have come in on a wing and a prayer, so to speak. Or two wings, one of the starter and the other belonging to either Casey, the right hander, or Page, the leftist, depending on which club the starting pitcher worked for.

Frank Shea and Spud Chandler, who normally would be rated nine-inning chuckers for the Yankees, have been troubled by sore arms, as has Allie Reynolds, although both Shea and Reynolds turned in commendable full-time jobs their last times out, after the pennant was won.

Ralph Branca, ace of the Brooklyn staff, has a tendency to get wild in the late innings, and Vic Lombardi is inclined to get wild early. An effort is being made to build up Hal Gregg's confidence so he can be used in a starting role.

Joe Hatten is strictly Cub and Phillie man. That is, of his first 13 victories seven were registered over Chicago and six over the Philadelphia club. Harry Taylor is an arm case, so if he was in condition to start he'd undoubtedl need help before it was over.

Both Lombardi and Hatten are southpaws, and the Yankees eat southpaws for breakfast every morning. Casey, a right hander, would come in pretty handy in relief should either of these portsiders start getting their lumps.

Casey, incidentally, appeared against the Yanks in a relief role in three games in the 1941 series. He lost the third game when the Yanks nicked him for two runs in the eighth after Freddie Fitzsimmons had held them scoreless for seven innings.

And he also lost the fourth game, but had Mickey Owen held the third strike which Tommy Henrich had swung at Hugh would have been the winner.

Page, as of yesterday, had a record of 14 victories against seven defeats, and Casey had won nine while losing four. A relief pitcher's value always isn't discernable in the won and lost record, however, as he can save many a game and get no credit.

If we were to pick the man most likely to go the full nine innings in the series this year we think we'd name that ancient mariner, Bobo Newsom. He's been around a long, long time, but he has plenty of know-how and when surrounded by a huge crowd, with plenty at stake, he is at his best. There's a lot of showboat in the old gaffer, but he can come through when the chips are down.

But we still string along with the idea that it will be Page vs. Casey in the series. They may not get credit for a victory or be charged with a defeat, but they'll be in there to cork up rallies and save games for other guys.

BEDFORD, Pa., Sept. 19 — A crowd of 4,200 persons saw Coach Bruce Fisher's Bedford High School eleven chalk up its second victory of the home campaign tonight over Richland Township High. The score was 26 to 0.

The Bisons pushed over their first touchdown in the second quarter after a sustained march from their own 38. Gene Beegle set the stage for the score when he ran off right tackle for 16 yards to the two. Mike Williams toted the leather over the final stripe and also place-kicked the point.

A short pass over center, Williams to Beegle produced the second score in the third period.

In the final period Allen Hershberger ran 12 yards off right guard for the third six-pointed and Beegle racked up the final touchdown on a quarterback sneak from the 9. Williams passed to Diehl for the extra point.

Thirty-one Bedford players saw action in the game.

Janiro Is Victor In New York Bout

Ohioan Beats Pellone In Fight At Garden

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP)—Young Tony Janiro, who has the baby-face of a choir boy and the fighting instinct of a killer, punched out a smashing victory over tough Tony Pellone in ten savage rounds in Madison Square Garden tonight to qualify for a shot at Welterweight Champion Ray Robinson. Janiro scaled 150; Pellone 146¼.

Served up as a "sacrificial lamb" against bigger, rougher Jake Lamotta in his last Garden appearance, the baby-faced youngster from Youngstown (Ohio) got back among the welterweights tonight and won going away.

He had to do it the hard way, too, because from the start to finish, Pellone was guilty of flagrant use of his head at close quarters, actually butting so hard in the fourth he made the Ohioan's nose bleed. Although Referee George Walsh warned the tough New York clouter in half-a-dozen rounds, he penalized Pellone with loss of only one round for "constant use of the head."

The crowd of 13,904 who chipped in to a gross gate of $55,389 to welcome big-league beak-busting back to the Garden after the summer ham-and-egg doldrums, howled repeatedly at Pellone's butting tactics.

The decision was unanimous on the part of the referee and both judges. The Associated Press score card had Janiro for out in front, five rounds to two, with three even as they slugged it out in a bristling pier-six brawl.

Hawthorne To Stage $56,600 Race Today

CHICAGO, Sept. 19 (AP) — Hawthorne's $56,600 Gold Cup, richest stake in the 58 year history of the track, will be decided tomorrow over a mile and a quarter route with the entry of Plumper and Letmenow, owned by Hal Price Headley, Lexington, Ky., probably going to the post favorite.

Victory will be worth $39,100 to the owner of the winning thoroughbred.

Plumper, carying top weight of 122 pounds, will be ridden by Jockey Steve Brooks.

Letmenow will be burdened with only 103 pounds and will be ridden by the youthful Threal Williams, an apprentice.

Louis Arnone Made LaSalle Final Score

Louis Arnone and not Donald Sheffler scored the final touchdown made by LaSalle in its 34-0 victory over St. Mary's of Clarksburg Thursday night at Fort Hill stadium.

This fact was revealed last night by one of the LaSalle "spotters" who admitted he mistook Sheffler for Arnone. The latter snared Mickey Clark's 28-yard pass for the touchdown. Earlier in the game Sheffler scored on a pass. He was credited with two touchdowns in the summary.

CLARKSBURG'S MIDGET FULLBACK SUFFERED BROKEN COLLARBONE

James "Winkie" Ransone, midget substitute fullback of St. Mary's High School of Clarksburg, W. Va., suffered a fractured collarbone in the game with LaSalle here Thursday night, it was revealed yesterday by Brother Gregory, director of athletics at the North Centre Street school.

Ransone, who tips the beam at 95 pounds, got into the game late and made three nice gains in succession. Then he was tackled hard and injured. Dr. John K. Rozum examined Ransone and stated that the lad had suffered a fractured collarbone.

Most of the members of St. Mary's squad remained here overnight but one group took Ransone back to Clarksburg for an X-ray examination.

When asked why a little fellow like Ransone made three nice gains in as many tries, one of the LaSalle players replied:

"The guy was too small, we couldn't see him."

Al Brazle Hurls Team To Victory

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 19 (INS)—The St. Louis Cardinals ended a six game losing streak and remained in the mathematical contention for the National League pennant by defeating the Chicago Cubs, 5 to 2, tonight before 13,595 fans.

The Cardinals remain nine games behind the Brooklyn Dodgers in the waning days of the National League pennant race.

St. Louis has 10 more games scheduled while Brooklyn has only eight more to play.

Al Brazle throttled the Cubs with seven hits to bring the Red Birds out of their losing streak, although he had to have help from Howard Pollet in the ninth inning when he loaded the bases with one out.

Terry Moore, captain of the Cardinals who was presented with a new automobile and various other gifts at a pre-game fete, gave Brazle a 2-0 lead in the first inning when he singled with the bases loaded. Al Schoendienst, who had three hits, doubled in the fifth and scored later on Stan Musials' single with what proved to be the winning run.

Bill Nicholson pounded out his 24th home run of the season to start a two-run rally in the seventh inning for the Cubs, but Enos Slaughter matched the blow in the seventh—his tenth homer of the season.

Schoendienst drove in the final run, Johnny Schmitz gave up the first three runs, dropping his eighteenth decision of the year. Emil Kush finished.

Ott Makes Room For Youngsters

Manager Of Giants Quits Active List

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP)—Mel Ott's 22-year-old playing career came to an end today when the New York Giants manager announced he had removed himself from the active list to make room for rookies from the minor league farm system.

Mel Ott

The personable 38-year-old native of Gretna, La., has been with the Giants since he reported to the late John McGraw at the age of 16.

Playing with the Giants from 1926 through 1947, and managing since 1941, Ott has appeared in three world series and 11 all-star games. He holds the modern record for service with one club and a host of home run marks. His lifetime batting average was .304.

Among other important records, he has hit more home runs than any other player in the history of the National League, 511; secored more runs, 2,876; batted in more runs, 1,860; hit for most total bases, 5,041; collected most bases balls, 1,708; most extra base hits, 1,071, and most extra bases on long hits, 2,165. For eight years he hit 30 or more homers a season.

Pancho Segura Weds

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP)—Francisco (Pancho) Segura, 26-year-old Ecuadorian tennis player who now lives in New York, was married today to Virginia Spencer Smith, 19, Forest Hills. The ceremony was performed by Municipal Judge William S. Katzenstein.

Segura, tenth ranking amateur in the United States, and his bride will go to Los Angeles, where he will play in a tournament next week, and may go to Ecuador this fall.

Game Rescheduled

The football game originally scheduled yesterday afternoon between Thomas and Petersburg High Schools will be played today at 2:30 p. m. in Thomas. The contest was rescheduled when the polio quarantine was lifted in Tucker County.

By JOHN W. KNOWLTON

A lightning-fast, explosive and devastating ground attack and old Father Time combined last night to give the Fort Hill High Sentinels a thrilling 27-14 victory over the Moorefield High Yellow Jackets on the gridiron at Fort Hill Stadium before a cheering throng of 4,500 fans.

The win successfully opened the Scarlet and White football season and brought their record to one victory and one defeat this year. The loss was the first in two games for Coach Johnny Paugh's Potomac Valley Conference champions.

Plunging, running, shifting through the visiting Jackets forward wall almost at will the Cumberland City Champs took only eight plays to march 61 yards for the first touchdown in the game, added another six-pointer early in the second period on 10 scrimmage plays—this time going 52 yards for the score—and then put the game on ice in the third stanza with two more touchdowns.

Complete 17 of 21 Passes

The Jackets were able to dent the husky Sentinel forwards for a total of 86 net yards from scrimmage, but probably the finest aerial game seen in the stadium in many years made the Paughmen a constant threat throughout the contest and almost had the Scarlet and White gridders reeling from the ropes on several occasions. Altogether Moorefield, sparked by big George Hott, 1946 All-Conference back in the PVC, connected for 17 passes in 21 attempts and rolled up the almost unbelievable total of 275 yards through the air.

Moorefield lost the ball on downs on the Fort Hill 39 midway in the initial quarter and the first time the Sentinels had their hands on the pigskin they marched to their first score, in just eight plays. Jim Manges and Ray Stevenson cracked the line for 14 and 16 yards, Stevenson made 15 and more and Manges and Stevenson picked up seven and four more yards throughout the line as Fort Hill racked up four consecutive first downs to put the ball on the Moorefield 5. From this point Stevenson cracked left tackle for the touchdown. Manges added the extra point from placement to make it 7-0.

Moorefield came right back and the Hahnmen began to get a look at the sparkling passing game the Jackets were scheduled to unleash. Loring Vance, little pepperpot quarterback for the Jackets, tossed one to Harry Welton for a first on the Fort Hill 42. Another pass made it a first on the Sentinel 30. George Hott then faded far back and tossed a beauty into the arms of Bill Raines and the right halfback was brought down on the Fort Hill 2 where Hott plunged over on the next play. Hott's placement was good and the count was knotted a 7-7 as the quarter ended.

Fairmont Softballers To Invade Frostburg

FROSTBURG, Sept. 19 — R. D. Preston, former resident of Frostburg, will bring his Club Delight all-star soft ball team of Fairmont, W. Va., Sunday, September 21, to play the Aristocrats and Chubby's team of the Frostburg Softball league. The games will be played on the athletic field of Frostburg State Teachers' College, commencing 3 p. m. The Club Delight team won the district championship of Fairmont, W. Va.

Bills Trim Rockets

CHICAGO, Sept. 19—(AP)—George Ratterman, Buffalo quarterback, tossed four touchdown passes as the Bills defeated the Chicago Rockets 31 to 14 tonight in an All-America Football Conference game in Soldier Field before 22,685 fans.

Chicago Cards Win

DALLAS, Sept. 19 (AP) — Paul Christman flipped a pass to Marshall Goldberg in the coffin corner with less than three minutes to go for the touchdown that brought the Chicago Cardinals a 7-3 victory over the Boston Yanks tonight in a National Football League exhibition game.

Bewitch Is Eligible

LAUREL, Md., Sept. 19 (AP)—Calumet Farm's Undefeated Bewitch heads a list of 151 two-year-old fillies still eligible for the 22nd running of the $25,000-added Selma Stakes at Laurel race course Oct. 25.

The daughter of Bull Lea and Potheen already has accounted for five stakes in her list of seven straight triumphs.

Coon Dog Sold For $800

EASTON, Md., Sept. 19 (AP) — Something of a record was set when O. N. Andrew, breeder and trainer of coon dogs, sold his Sweet Sue, 4-year-old champion, to Gibbon, Minn., dog fancier for $800.

Sweet Sue has won 35 ribbons in three years of show competition.

Allegany High Gridders To Play Somerset Eagles Tonight

Teams To Play Fifth Annual Contest Here

Seven Lettermen To Start For AHS

Allegany High School's football team will make its 1947 debut tonight when it plays Coach George Pfrogrer's Somerset (Pa.) High School Eagles in Fort Hill Stadium at 8 o'clock.

It will mark the fifth meeting of the schools on the gridiron since 1943 and the Campers will be angling for their fourth triumph. Somerset scored the lone victory last fall on its home field, 25-6.

Scores of past games were:

1943—Allegany 7, Somerset 6
1944—Allegany 20, Somerset 0
1945—Allegany 13, Somerset 6
1946—Somerset 25, Allegany 6

Somerset started AHS on its way to a poor season by winning the initial contest in 1946. The locals won only two games, lost seven and tied one.

Bruce Slated To Start

In tonight's game Robert Pence starts his second season as head coach of the Campobello eleven. His probable starting lineup will contain five lettermen—Vernall, Piper, Ruehl, Dawson and Swan, while Lease and Cecil are the backfield veterans. Earl "Lefty" Bruce, ace sprinter of the Campers' track team, who is slated to start at right halfback tonight, failed to play last year because of the fact he suffered a broken collarbone before the season got under way.

Somerset will be engaging in its second contest of the season. The Eagles, coached by George Pfrogner, battled the Bedford (Pa.) Bisons to a 12-12 deadlock last Friday night. The Buffaloes are scheduled to play LaSalle here later in the season.

Allegany will play 10 games this season. In addition to Somerset, the Cambobello gridders will play Ridgeley, Keyser, LaSalle, Moorefield and Fort Hill here and Beall, Hagerstown, Roosevelt-Wilson (Clarksburg) and Martinsburg away from home.

Season Tickets On Sale

Ralph R. Webster, principal of AHS, announced yesterday that season tickets for home games are now on sale at the school and Wilson Hardware Company. The tickets are good for home games with Somerset, Ridgeley, Keyser and Moorefield. Those holding season tickets will have priority on reservations for the Thanksgiving Day game with Fort Hill.

Mrs. Bowie Wins In Net Tourney

Tops Miss Ruppenthal To Advance To Finals

Mrs. Gordon Bowie advanced to the finals of the women's singles of the County tennis tournamet by defeating Miss Margaret Ruppenthal, on the Country Club courts, 6-3, 8-4.

Mrs. Bowie will play Mrs. Ralph Higgins in the finals of the county tournament for this year's championship. Mrs. Higgins won the women's singles of the city tennis tournament recently, and the Dingle tournament early in the season.

Sunday afternoon at 2:30, at the Country Club, Miss Betty Flake and L. E. Van Sant play Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bowie in the finals for the County mixed doubles championship.

This evening at 4:30, on the Dingle courts, Maurice Bernstein and Jack Evans play Ed Harvey and Bob Sutton in men's doubles. Two other teams remain in this event: Walter Davis and Harold Brown, and John Clemmer and William Harrison, the latter team being in the finals.

Barber, Allen Named Series Broadcasters

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP)—Paul Jonas, sports director for the Mutual Broadcasting System, said today that A. B. (Happy) Chandler, commissioner of baseball, had named Walter L. (Red) Barber and Mel Allen as broadcasters for the World Series.

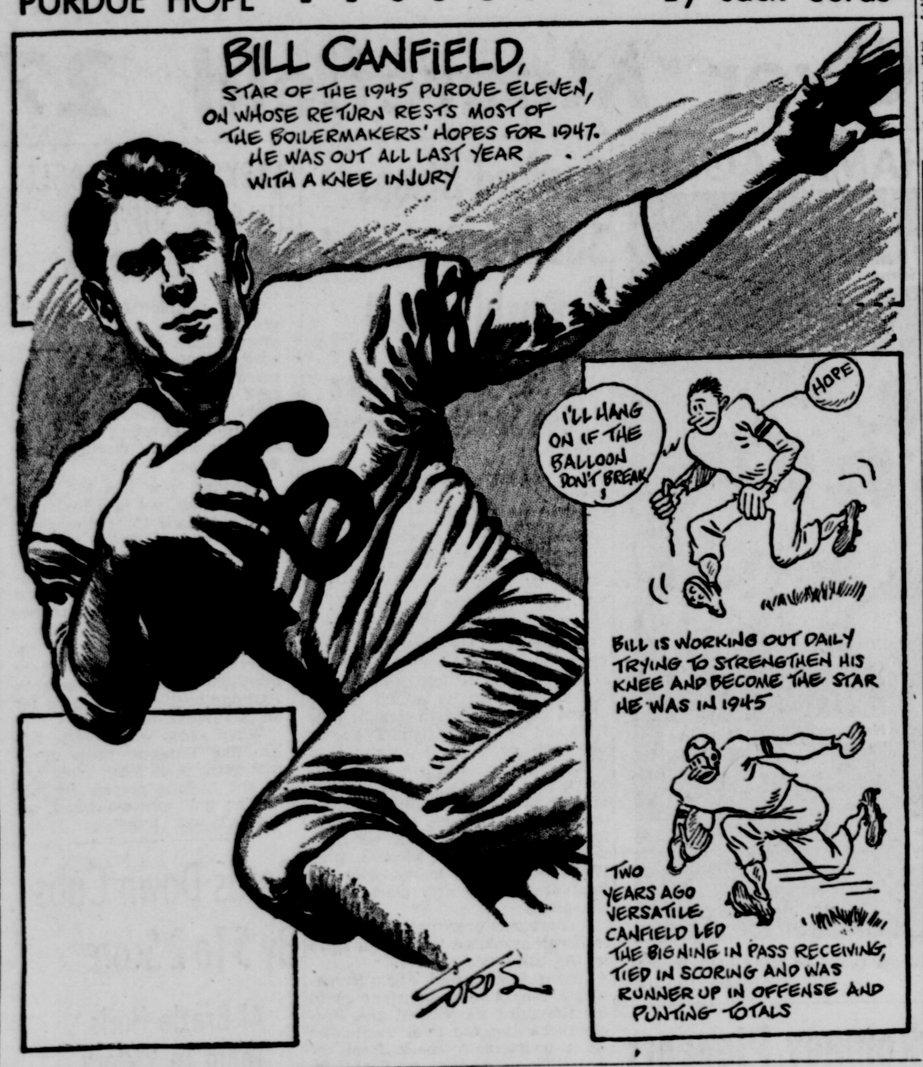

Barber has broadcast Brooklyn Dodgers games for almost a decade while Allen has aired games of the New York Yankees for the past two years since his discharge from the Army.

No Race Meet Extension

CAMDEN, N. J., Sept. 19 (AP) — Garden State Park's 42-day race meeting will not be extended to raise funds to fight swamp fever.

William E. Charles, Jr., secretary of the New Jersey division of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association, made the statement today after a request by the HBPA for a week's extension beyond October 11 to fight the deadly disease that affects horses.

Allegany High Gridders To Play Somerset Eagles Tonight

Teams To Play Fifth Annual Contest Here

Seven Lettermen To Start For AHS

Allegany High School's football team will make its 1947 debut tonight when it plays Coach George Pfrogrer's Somerset (Pa.) High School Eagles in Fort Hill Stadium at 8 o'clock.

It will mark the fifth meeting of the schools on the gridiron since 1943 and the Campers will be angling for their fourth triumph. Somerset scored the lone victory last fall on its home field, 25-6.

Scores of past games were:

1943—Allegany 7, Somerset 6
1944—Allegany 20, Somerset 0
1945—Allegany 13, Somerset 6
1946—Somerset 25, Allegany 6

Somerset started AHS on its way to a poor season by winning the initial contest in 1946. The locals won only two games, lost seven and tied one.

Bruce Slated To Start

In tonight's game Robert Pence starts his second season as head coach of the Campobello eleven. His probable starting lineup will contain five lettermen—Vernall, Piper, Ruehl, Dawson and Swan, while Lease and Cecil are the backfield veterans. Earl "Lefty" Bruce, ace sprinter of the Campers' track team, who is slated to start at right halfback tonight, failed to play last year because of the fact he suffered a broken collarbone before the season got under way.

Annual Hog Show Will Be Held On Monday, Sept. 29

100 Pigs Expected For Oakland Event

By GEORGE H. HANST

OAKLAND, Md.—The annual fat hog show and sale for members of the Future Farmers of America and 4-H Clubs will be conducted on Monday, September 29, at the Accident Stock Yards, it was announced by Joseph Steger, assistant county agent.

Mr. Steger said he was expecting around 100 pigs in the event as a number of club members had selected their animals early this year and had been caring for them and keeping records preparatory to the sale.

In the morning they will be weighed and divided into three classes, heavy, medium and light, and will be graded for blue ribbon, red and white ribbon classes. A grand champion and reserve champion will be selected. The public auction sale will then be conducted in the afternoon.

Judging will be in charge of Ural Bee, animal husbandryman of the University of Maryland. He and Mr. Steger were in the county this week inspecting baby beeves and completing arrangements for the show and sale.

Last year at the auction the grand champion brought 37 cents a pound. Entries of Donald Fratz, Accident, have been winners in two previous years.

Qualifies As Eagle Scout

Richard Leighton qualified for the rank of Eagle Scout at a meeting of the Scout Board of Review Thursday evening and will become the 18th scout of the Oakland Troop to achieve that rank since the troop's inception in October, 1924.

Leighton became eligible for the award when he completed five merit badges in camp this summer and passed them before the Board. They were life-saving, camping, bird study, cooking and automobiling. The first four are required merit badges.

Leighton has been a Life Scout since September 13, 1946. Before a scout may become an Eagle he must pass 21 merit badges, 12 of which are required ones. In addition to the four he passed other required ones are first aid, personal health, public health, civics, pioneering, pathfinding, safety, and athletics or physical development. Optional merit badges which he passed were automobiling, reading, stamp collecting, music, gardening, swimming, hiking, electricity and scholarship.

Leighton's Eagle badge will be awarded him at a father-son dinner to be sponsored by the Lions Club here some time in November. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert C. Leighton and is a senior in Oakland High School.

Former scouts of Oakland troop who received the Eagle rank were Thomas A. Gonder, Bernard I. Gonder, Robert Stemple, James Lee, Kenneth Stahl, McClelland Dixon, George Altstetter and Guy Gregg, in 1926 and 1927; Ward Hinebaugh, 1930; Harley Dawson, 1931; Kenneth Lawton, 1933; Robert Lawton, Charles Mason, Howard Naylor, Horace O'Donnell and Hopwood Wooddell, 1934; and Robert B. Sincell, 1941.

Brown Directs Band

Russell H. Brown, Oakland, has been named director of the Oakland Fire Department Band, it was announced by the committee. He will take over the duties of the late Harry S. Mickey, whose death occurred several weeks ago. A practice session was held Monday but it was announced that regular practice sessions would be Tuesday evenings, promptly at 7:30, and would last until 9 or 9:15.

The band committee includes Joseph Stanton, L. M. Fraley, Emroy Bolden, Robert W. Lohr and A. G. Gortner.

Plan Fall Program

The fall program for Homemakers Clubs was planned at a meeting of the Executive Board at the office of the Home Demonstration Agent this week.

Achievement Day, the annual county fall meeting, is scheduled for October 23, in the Lutheran Church at Grantsville. Miss Venia M. Kellar, assistant director of extension in Maryland, will be one of the speakers. There will be an election of county vice-president and secretary. Other features are to be announced by Mrs. Mary Orr Hayward, agent.

On December 4, 5 and 6, open house will be at the agent's office in the postoffice building, Oakland. Hostess clubs will be Deer Park, Mt. Lake Park and Oakland.

A program planning meeting is to be held October 1 in the agent's office and all county committees are to be present. Miss Helen Irene Smith, home management specialist; Miss Helen Shelby, clothing specialist; and Miss Margaret McPheeters, foods specialist, will meet with individual committees to assist them in planning their program for 1948.

C. E. Fike Dies

Clarence Elmer Fike, aged 67, of near Friendsville, was found dead about a hundred yards in rear of his home on Wednesday afternoon about 5 o'clock. He had left home about 5 o'clock that morning. Death was laid to natural causes. He was born January 18, 1880, at Cove, a son of the late Thomas and Laura B. Spear Fike. He engaged in farming and was a member of the Methodist Church at Friendsville.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Laura B. Fike, three sons, Stanley Fike, Mt. Lake Park; Emerson and Woodrow Fike, both of Friendsville; two daughters, Mrs. Gertrude Burkhard, Accident; and Mrs. Josephine Coffman, Friendsville, and three grandchildren.

A funeral service was conducted yesterday at 2:30 p. m. in the home with interment in the Humberson Cemetery near Friendsville.

Large Rattlesnake Found

A large rattlesnake, measuring 40 inches in length, was killed on Meadow Mountain on the Bloomington road, by Mark Moon, constable, who exhibited it in Oakland. The snake was in the road and both front and rear right wheels passed over its body. It had nine rattles. According to Moon, seeing a rattler in that area is a common sight, another one having been killed there a few days previous.

Murder Trial Scheduled

The September Term of the Garrett County Circuit Court will convene Monday morning, September 22, with both Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge George Henderson on the bench.

One of the important cases will be the trial of James William Hoover, 28, charged with the murder of Elzie F. Layman, on July 31.

Four Enlist In Army

Sgt. Blair Robinette, army recruiter, said four men had been forwarded to Cumberland for enlistment: David Y. Knox, route 1, Oakland, 3 years, Corps of Engineers, Pacific Theatre; Raymond D. Greaser, Shallmer, with previous service, enlisted for three years, unassigned, European Theatre; George W. Timmerman, Deer Park, 3 years, Armored Force in the Pacific Theatre; Patsy C. Perry, Deer Park, previous service, enlisted for three years, unassigned, in European Theatre.

Miss Marie Copleston is visiting in Baltimore.

ELEVATED DOGS—Retired Policeman H. R. Tyler, Portland, Ore., had a very big dog and a very small yard. He decided the only direction the dog could run was up. So he built his dog pen that way: a series of ramps, tacked to trees, and leading upward to a railed-in platform overlooking the suburb. "Bounce," the pit bull-shepherd dog, liked it. He liked it so well that when Policeman Tyler moved, later, to a 10-acre yard, Bounce was dissatisfied. He couldn't spot approaching strangers for barking-at purposes. So Tyler built another upward kennel. Four ramps lead to a platform, high in a fir tree. Both "Bounce" and a new dog, "Toby," like the treetop kennel better than all the 10 acres below. They romp up and down; sleep on the platform in hot weather; stay up for hours, watching everyone who nears the Tyler land.

Cooper Outlines Lunch Program To Jackson P-TA

By M. R. MERRBACH

LONACONING — William Paul Cooper, director of the school lunch program for Allegany County schools, addressed the Parent-Teacher Association recently at Jackson school.

He outlined the operation of the lunch program which will begin Monday, September 22, at Jackson Elementary. The cost of a weekly ticket will be $1.20, he said.

The cafeteria, which operates on a non-profit basis, is established for the benefit of all children to receive daily requirements by a well-balanced menu. Mrs. Bertha Devlin has been appointed cook.

Lunches will be served on trays at Jackson School and the children will eat in their classrooms. The cost of the kitchen that has been arranged for the cafeteria is $1,000.

Advantages of the cafeteria are giving proper training to eat nutritious foods; better education in associating with other children and as a result have better table manners and social graces; receiving well-balanced lunches over a period of time, and better lunches from a financial standpoint.

Kelly Grapes Wins 8-County Award For Conversation

By THOMAS WILLIAMS

ROMNEY,, W. Va., A Baltimore and Ohio Railway representative met with J. P. Kuykendall, District Conservationist, Thursday for the purpose of selecting an Area I soil conservation winner and to formulate plans for the annual contest starting October 1.

Those meeting with Mr. Kuykendall were L. S. Hartley, B. & O. Agriculture Agent; L. L. Lough, Soil Conservation Service; George Sharpe, Agriculture Extension Service and Dewey Cornell from the State Experiment Station, all of Morgantown.

The group selected Kelley Grapes, Hoy area, winner. Mr. Grapes will be in competition with other Area winners in the State. Area 1 is comprised of Jefferson, Berkeley, Morgan, Hampshire, Hardy, Grant, Pendleton and Minera counties.

This contest is held to encourage farmers in the territory served by the B. and O. to conserve all natural resources on their farms by adopting a sound soil, water and forest conservation program.

The B. and O. feels that the conservation of soil, water and forests is a responsibility affecting the farmer, the manufacturer and the consumer and that good land use and the adoption of soil management practices and cropping spstems that provide for soil, water and forest conservation and improvement is necessary to the permanent economic welfare of the nation.

Agencies cooperating with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in this work are the District soil conservation governing bodies of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania and New York with the assistance of the Agriculture Extension Service, the Soil Conservation Service and other agricultural agencies.

Points considered in selecting winners are: 1. Good land use, 2. Establishment of soil and water conserving practices; 3. Maintenance of practices applied, and 4. Progress based upon resources available. The Area award is a $100 U. S. Savings Bond.

The records of all area winners will be judges for the selection of the B. and O. Systemwide Conservation Champion for the current year, to whom will be awarded an all-expense trip to the annual meeting of Friends of the Land or some other suitable meeting. The award will be made by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

School Patrol Organized

The State Police with the cooperation of Sheriff Heber Parsons and County School Superintendent A. C. Loy are organizing a school patrol in 13 schools in Hampshire County. The Springfield Graded School under the direction of principal Homer Loy instituted the patrol system last year.

Capable boys will be selected to act as patrolmen and their duties will be to conduct children across highways and help direct traffic at these crossings. Patrolmen will be furnished white belts and badges approved by the American Automobile Association.

Three Polio Cases Noted

Romney has three cases of polio. Early in the month, Bobby Summer, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Summer, was stricken. He was immediately taken to the Monongahela General Hospital in Morgantown where all polio cases from this area are taken. His condition is reported to be good.

On Tuesday, Frank Bittner, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bittner, became ill, and was diagnosed as having polio. He was taken to Morgantown where he is receiving treatment.

The third case was that of John Dawson, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dawson of the Shanks area. The Morgantown hospital being filled to capacity, the Dawson boy

Miss Jackson To Become Bride Of James Thompson

Wedding To Be Held This Morning At 10

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG — The marriage of James C. Thompson, son of Mrs. Nellie Thompson, 84 East Main Street and the late Jerome Thompson, and Miss Catherine L. Jackson, daughter of Mrs. Alice Jackson and the late John Jackson, 19 Washington Street, will be solemnized today at 10 a. m., in St. Michael's Catholic Church with Rev. Francis E. Montgomery, administrator, celebrant of the nuptial mass.

The attendants will be Mrs. Michael J. Byrnes, Jr., Baltimore, sister of the bride, as matron of honor and William J. Thompson, Washington, brother of the bridegroom, as best man. The traditional wedding hymns of the Catholic Church will be sung by Mrs. Carmen Maurey with Mrs. Richard Goldsworthy playing the organ accompaniments.

The bride, to be given in marriage by her brother, Joseph Jackson, will wear a white satin dress with a front panel of lace, long pointed sleeves, and full gathered skirt. Her finger tip veil will be held by a crown of satin and lace. She will carry a bridal bouquet of white pom poms.

The matron of honor will wear a white satin gown with fitted bodice and a bustle effect over a full gathered skirt. She will wear a Victorian bonnet with matching mits and carry a bouquet of old fashioned flowers.

Following the wedding ceremony at the church, a reception will be held at the bride's home from 1 to 3 p. m. After a short wedding trip to Baltimore and other points in the east, the couple will reside here.

The bride is a graduate of St. Michael's parochial school, Ursuline Academy, Cumberland, class of 1940, and the Ursuline Business School, class of 1941.

The bridegroom, an employe of the Celanese Corporation, is a veteran of World War II. He was inducted into the military service in 1943 while serving with the British War Mission, Washington, and after serving two years, most of which was spent with the Army in the South Pacific, he was honorably discharged on February, 1946.

Concert Scheduled

The Arion Band, with Darrell Zeller directing, will give an open air concert tomorrow at 8:30 p. m. in front of the Gunter Hotel. This will be probably the last outdoor concert of the current season. The program will include a number of new selections recently received by the band.

Enlists In Army

Vincent Monahan, 17, Midland, has enlisted in the Army Air Force for a three year period. A son of Mrs. Grace Deshel, Portersville, Pa., and the late Michael Monahan, he resided for the past several years with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Monahan. Before being accepted by the army, he will be required to take a physical examination in Baltimore, October 23.

Brethren Council To Meet

The Council of the Church of the Brethren, Beall Street, will hold its annual meeting Monday, September 22, at 7:30 p. m., in the church with Rev. Alonza Fike, Accident, Md., presiding. All members of the council are asked to attend.

Miss Gunter Is Wed

Miss Margaret Gunter, granddaughter of Mrs. Mary Gunter, West Main Street, and daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gunter, became the bride of James Roy Sleeman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sleeman, East Main Street, in a ceremony performed last night at 8 o'clock in St. Paul's Lutheran Church. Rev. Justus H. Liesmann, pastor, officiated.

The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. John R. Davis, Frostburg. The bride wore a brown tweed suit with a corsage of yellow roses, and her matron of honor was attired in a black dress with matching accessories and a corsage of red roses.

A reception in honor of the bridal party was held immediately after the ceremony at the home of the bridegroom's parents. The couple will leave Monday on a wedding trip, after which they will reside in Frostburg.

Mrs. Sleeman, a graduate of Beall High School, is employed at the Celanese plant. Her husband, also a Beall High graduate, served 32 months in the Pacific theater with the Seabees during World War II. He is engaged in the contracting business with his father.

Personals

Midshipman Walter L. Helbig, of the U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md., is here the guest of his aunt, Miss Olive Wilderman, Centennial Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Williford, Anderson, N. C., are guests of G. Dud Hocking, East Main Street. Mrs. Williford is a niece of the late Mrs. Hocking, the former Miss Minnie Staples.

Mrs. Rose Boynes, Kansas City, Mo., a former resident, is staying at the Gunter Hotel with her two daughters on her second visit here in 65 years. Mrs. Boynes returned to Frostburg because of the serious illness of her sister, Mrs. Bradford Blocher, who is a patient in Memorial Hospital, Cumberland. She is also a sister of Wilbur Wade, retired salesman of this city.

Laurel Falls Group Elects O. B. Lauver As New President

By W. A. SHOEMAKER

MEYERSDALE, Pa.—At a recent annual election of officers of the Laurel Falls Association, Owen B. Lauver, manager of Dairy Dale Milk, Inc., was elected president of the organization for the coming year. Other officers elected were Carl Clapper, vice president; John H. Cover, treasurer; S. S. Susser, secretary, and the following directors: Norman Walker, road supervision; W. E. Gnagey, landscaping; Ralph Nicholson, water and sanitation; Daniel Critchfield, sports and concessions; T. A. McKenzie, buildings; W. D. Baker, utilities, and Frank P. Brown, publicity.

The Pennsylvania Electric Company has completed the installation of electric service line throughout the resort at a cost of approximately $17,000. The main club house and several cabins owned by individuals have already been wired and are receiving the service. Two large flood lights are also being installed to illuminate the parking area.

A rifle range is in process of construction and a rifle team is being organized for competitive shooting matches to be held throughout the outdoor season.

Will Go To Costa Rica

Mr. and Mrs. David Solt, who have been guests for the past several weeks of Mrs. Solt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. DiValentino, will leave tomorrow for Miami, Fla., from where they expect to go by plane on September 26, to Costa Rica to conduct mission work among the natives.

Mrs. Solt is a graduate of the Meyersdale High School and also of the Philadelphia School of the Bible. Mr. Solt is a graduate of Swarthmore College in Radio engineering and also attended the Bible school at Philadelphia. A new radio station is being erected at San Jose, Costa Rica, which will be managed by Mr. Solt. The mission organization, which was established 25 years ago by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Strachan, and is non-sectarian, operating a Bible seminary, a hospital and an orphanage, is known as the Latin American Mission, with headquarters at Ridgefield Park, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Solt were speakers Wednesday evening at a special service held in the Main Street Brethren Church, Meyersdale.

Marriage Is Announced

Mrs. Belle Getty has announced the marriage of her daughter, Miss Thelma Mae Getty, to Philip Beachy Reich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip G. Reich, in a double-ring ceremony in the rectory of SS. Philip and James' Catholic Church, Thursday, September 11, at 7 p. m. The pastor, Rev. A. J. Becktold, officiated.

Following the reception the couple left on a honeymoon at points of interest in the eastern states.

Both are graduates of the Meyersdale High School. They will reside in Baltimore, Md., while the bridegroom attends University of Maryland. The bridegroom is a Navy veteran of World War II, having served 34 months, more than a year of which was spent in Hawaii. The bride is a graduate of the Memorial School of Nursing, Cumberland.

Entertain Friends

Mrs. Harry M. Cooke and Miss Kate Olinger, Broadway street, entertained a group of friends at a luncheon Thursday afternoon at Hollywood Inn.

Covers for 36 guests were laid at a table decorated with centerpieces of pink and white snapdragons and asparagus fern.

Mrs. Mary Sherril, of Pittsburgh, professional reader, read the comedy, "What Every Woman Knows."

Guests from Kansas City, Mo.; Washington, Pittsburgh, Meyersdale, Salisbury, Berlin and Somerset were present at the event.

Personals

Harold Merrill and Dr. John T. Shipley, Garrett, have gone to Palm Beach, Fla., to survey the damage done to Merrill property by the hurricane.

1st Lt. Paul R. Ryland, son of Mrs. W. H. Ryland and the late Dr. Ryland, is here to spend a month's furlough visiting his mother and sister, Miss Mary Ryland. Lt. Ryland has been assigned to the Fifth Airforce in Japan. At the conclusion of his leave he will report to Elgin Field, Fla.

Episcopal Church Donates Hall For Temorary Guard Quarters

Combat Engineer Company Planned

By GEORGE H. HANST

OAKLAND, Md., Procurement of suitable temporary quarters for the proposed national guard unit here, and definite progress toward actual organization were two of the things disclosed at a public meeting held this week in the Court House.

It was announced by Lt. Col. C. I. Claypoole that the official vestry of the Episcopal church here had given its consent at the luncheon meeting the day previous for the use of the Parish House as temporary quarters for the proposed unit, free of charge, which was one of the requirements in the establishment of a guard in Oakland.

The decision to form a combat engineer company, recommended by National Guard headquarters, was also made at the meeting by a unanimous vote of those present. There was a choice of either a combat engineer company or an artillery battery. With the acceptance of the former the Oakland unit will be part of an engineer battalion which also includes companies at Leonardtown, LaPlata and Prince Frederick.

Only one thing now needs to be accomplished before actual recruiting of men would begin, according to Col. Claypoole, and that is the selection of an officer for company commander. The local committee had several names of persons who had served as officers in World War II, and one from among those available will be recommended in the near future, it was stated.

Upon commissioning of the company commander, Col. Claypoole said he would return to Oakland to assist in recruiting men for the company. Two officers and 17 men are needed to get the unit under way, after which the state guard will ask for federal recognition; then it will be necessary to add 17 men every 90 days until the peacetime strength of 134 men is reached, it was explained.

Prior to the last war the Maryland Guard numbered 3,300, but in the drive to get 622,500 national guardsmen throughout the United States, Maryland has been assigned a total of 9,300.

The age limit is 17 to 35 unless the person interested has had previous military service. He pointed out that persons 17 to 20 joining the national guard would not be called for universal training if the latter was enacted into law.

It was also pointed out that the formation of a unit, in addition to bringing an armory here, would mean $30,000 to $50,000 additional annual revenue to the people of Oakland. The National Guard plans to spend $2,000 to $3,000 to put the Parish House in proper condition for a temporary armory. If at the end of a year it is demonstrated that the organization is growing and appears to be successful, it will be recommended that the armory be built. This will be a structure costing around $140,000, money for which is already provided, it was stated. The permanent site, 200 by 300 feet, already has been offered by the American Legion post here, adjoining the Legion home on Fourth street.

The meeting was in charge of Stuart F. Hamill, Jr., chairman of the local committee. Officers here for the Monday discussion besides General Milton A. Reckord, were Maj. Gen. Washington Bowie, Brig. Gen. Harry C. Ruhl, but all three continued to Cincinnati for another meeting while Col. Claypoole remained here for the public meeting.

Elias Heads Teachers

Edwin Elias, instructor at Grantsville School, was elected president of the Garrett County Teachers Association at a meeting in Oakland High School in connection with the recent all-day session there. He takes the place of Merle Frantz Oakland Elementary principal, who served as president last year.

Others named were Ernest Spoerlein, Oakland High, vice-president; Ann Dilgard, Oakland Elementary, treasurer; and Kathryn Speicher, Accident, secretary.

Another meeting of teachers is planned at Accodent on the first Saturday in October at 10 a. m., at which time a program of activity for the year an dobjectives of the group will be outlined. Delegates to the state convention, to be held in Baltimore thel atter part of October, also will be named.

Civic Club To Meet

Members of the Oakland Civic club will meet next Wednesday afternoon, September 24, at 2:30 at the home of Mrs. Paul B. Naylor to arrangef or a luncheon on Tuesday, September 30, at which time Mrs. Roy D. Whitlock, president of the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs, Baltimore, will address the group.

The luncheon will be at the William-James Hotel and reservations are being taken by Mrs. Emroy Bolden or Mrs. O. T. Graser.

C. of C. Head Speaks

Acceptance of greater community responsibilities by our business men as the best means of developing our American communities and that Chambes of Commerce are one of the best vehicles for this purpose, was stressed by W. G. Ewald, secretary of the Baltimore Association of Commerce, the principal speaker at the dinner meeting of the Mount Top Chamber of Commerce, last evening at the Mt. Lake Hotel.

Approximately 100 persons attended the dinner to hear Mr. Ewald give his views on "The Role of Business in the Post-War Period."

"A more active participation in civic affairs and in the betterment of the communities in which we live," was his challenge to local business men, if our American communities are to grow and develop as they should.

"No group is better qualified to furnish community leadership than those who have the greatest financial stake, those who create the jobs, those who produce the wealth and through their creative and produc-

Annual Hog Show Will Be Held On Monday, Sept. 29

100 Pigs Expected For Oakland Event

By GEORGE H. HANST

OAKLAND, Md.—The annual fat hog show and sale for members of the Future Farmers of America and 4-H Clubs will be conducted on Monday, September 29, at the Accident Stock Yards, it was announced by Joseph Steger, assistant county agent.

Mr. Steger said he was expecting around 100 pigs in the event as a number of club members had selected their animals early this year and had been caring for them and keeping records preparatory to the sale.

In the morning they will be weighed and divided into three classes, heavy, medium and light, and will be graded for blue ribbon, red and white ribbon classes. A grand champion and reserve champion will be selected. The public auction sale will then be conducted in the afternoon.

Judging will be in charge of Ural Bee, animal husbandryman of the University of Maryland. He and Mr. Steger were in the county this week inspecting baby beeves and completing arrangements for the show and sale.

Last year at the auction the grand champion brought 37 cents a pound. Entries of Donald Fratz, Accident, have been winners in two previous years.

Qualifies As Eagle Scout

Richard Leighton qualified for the rank of Eagle Scout at a meeting of the Scout Board of Review Thursday evening and will become the 18th scout of the Oakland Troop to achieve that rank since the troop's inception in October, 1924.

Leighton became eligible for the award when he completed five merit badges in camp this summer and passed them before the Board. They were life-saving, camping, bird study, cooking and automobiling. The first four are required merit badges.

Leighton has been a Life Scout since September 13, 1946. Before a scout may become an Eagle he must pass 21 merit badges, 12 of which are required ones. In addition to the four he passed other required ones are first aid, personal health, public health, civics, pioneering, pathfinding, safety, and athletics or physical development. Optional merit badges which he passed were automobiling, reading, stamp collecting, music, gardening, swimming, hiking, electricity and scholarship.

Leighton's Eagle badge will be awarded him at a father-son dinner to be sponsored by the Lions Club here some time in November. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert C. Leighton and is a senior in Oakland High School.

Former scouts of Oakland troop who received the Eagle rank were Thomas A. Gonder, Bernard I. Gonder, Robert Stemple, James Lee, Kenneth Stahl, McClelland Dixon, George Altstetter and Guy Gregg, in 1926 and 1927; Ward Hinebaugh, 1930; Harley Dawson, 1931; Kenneth Lawton, 1933; Robert Lawton, Charles Mason, Howard Naylor, Horace O'Donnell and Hopwood Wooddell, 1934; and Robert B. Sincell, 1941.

Brown Directs Band

Russell H. Brown, Oakland, has been named director of the Oakland Fire Department Band, it was announced by the committee. He will take over the duties of the late Harry S. Mickey, whose death occurred several weeks ago. A practice session was held Monday but it was announced that regular practice sessions would be Tuesday evenings, promptly at 7:30, and would last until 9 or 9:15.

The band committee includes Joseph Stanton, L. M. Fraley, Emroy Bolden, Robert W. Lohr and A. G. Gortner.

Plan Fall Program

The fall program for Homemakers Clubs was planned at a meeting of the Executive Board at the office of the Home Demonstration Agent this week.

Achievement Day, the annual county fall meeting, is scheduled for October 23, in the Lutheran Church at Grantsville. Miss Venia M. Kellar, assistant director of extension in Maryland, will be one of the speakers. There will be an election of county vice-president and secretary. Other features are to be announced by Mrs. Mary Orr Hayward, agent.

On December 4, 5 and 6, open house will be at the agent's office in the postoffice building, Oakland. Hostess clubs will be Deer Park, Mt. Lake Park and Oakland.

A program planning meeting is to be held October 1 in the agent's office and all county committees are to be present. Miss Helen Irene Smith, home management specialist; Miss Helen Shelby, clothing specialist; and Miss Margaret McPheeters, foods specialist, will meet with individual committees to assist them in planning their program for 1948.

C. E. Fike Dies

Clarence Elmer Fike, aged 67, of near Friendsville, was found dead about a hundred yards in rear of his home on Wednesday afternoon about 5 o'clock. He had left home about 5 o'clock that morning. Death was laid to natural causes. He was born January 18, 1880, at Cove, a son of the late Thomas and Laura B. Spear Fike. He engaged in farming and was a member of the Methodist Church at Friendsville.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Laura B. Fike, three sons, Stanley Fike, Mt. Lake Park; Emerson and Woodrow Fike, both of Friendsville; two daughters, Mrs. Gertrude Burkhard, Accident; and Mrs. Josephine Coffman, Friendsville, and three grandchildren.

A funeral service was conducted yesterday at 2:30 p. m. in the home with interment in the Humberson Cemetery near Friendsville.

Large Rattlesnake Found

A large rattlesnake, measuring 40 inches in length, was killed on Meadow Mountain on the Bloomington road, by Mark Moon, constable, who exhibited it in Oakland. The snake was in the road and both front and rear right wheels passed over its body. It had nine rattles. According to Moon, seeing a rattler in that area is a common sight, another one having been killed there a few days previous.

Murder Trial Scheduled

The September Term of the Garrett County Circuit Court will convene Monday morning, September 22, with both Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge George Henderson on the bench.

One of the important cases will be the trial of James William Hoover, 28, charged with the murder of Elzie F. Layman, on July 31.

Four Enlist In Army

Sgt. Blair Robinette, army recruiter, said four men had been forwarded to Cumberland for enlistment: David Y. Knox, route 1, Oakland, 3 years, Corps of Engineers, Pacific Theatre; Raymond D. Greaser, Shallmer, with previous service, enlisted for three years, unassigned, European Theatre; George W. Timmerman, Deer Park, 3 years, Armored Force in the Pacific Theatre; Patsy C. Perry, Deer Park, previous service, enlisted for three years, unassigned, in European Theatre.

Cooper Outlines Lunch Program To Jackson P-TA

By M. R. MERRBACH

LONACONING — William Paul Cooper, director of the school lunch program for Allegany County schools, addressed the Parent-Teacher Association recently at Jackson school.

He outlined the operation of the lunch program which will begin Monday, September 22, at Jackson Elementary. The cost of a weekly ticket will be $1.20, he said.

The cafeteria, which operates on a non-profit basis, is established for the benefit of all children to receive daily requirements by a well-balanced menu. Mrs. Bertha Devlin has been appointed cook.

Lunches will be served on trays at Jackson School and the children will eat in their classrooms. The cost of the kitchen that has been arranged for the cafeteria is $1,000.

Advantages of the cafeteria are giving proper training to eat nutritious foods; better education in associating with other children and as a result have better table manners and social graces; receiving well-balanced lunches over a period of time, and better lunches from a financial standpoint.

All are members of Morning Star Temple No. 1, Pythian Sisters. They attended a memorial service Thursday night, a banquet and dance yesterday, with business sessions yesterday and today.

Fire Marshals Chosen

Fire marshals were chosen at Central High school today to aid in fire drills at the school. Those selected were George Kelly, Charles Groves, Bobby Muir, Roy Llewellyn, Alex Patton, William Nightingale, Harold Stafford, Win Rowan, Jack Woods, Lowell Sowers, Don Ritchie, James Alexander, Joe Reinhart and Paul Cook.

A fire drill was held at 1:15 p. m. with the entire student body marching to the outside in one minute and 45 seconds.

Fire drills are held at the local high school at least once a month. Regulations have been established for the safety of all. The drills are an orderly procedure, conducted without boisterous manners in order to avoid hysteria or dangerous excitement in case of actual fire.

Assembly Features Talks

Lowell Sowers told of experiences at "Boys State" at Camp Meade this summer at the assembly held today in the auditorium of Central School. Lowell Sowers, Joe Love, Jean Weber and Shirley Rowan of the senior class, were chosed by the ELEVATED DOGS—Retired Policeman H. R. Tyler, Portland, Ore., had a very big dog and a very small yard. He decided the only direction the dog could run was up. So he built his dog pen that way: a series of ramps, tacked to trees, and leading upward to a railed-in platform overlooking the suburb. "Bounce," the pit bull-shepherd dog, liked it. He liked it so well that when Policeman Tyler moved, later, to a 10-acre yard, Bounce was dissatisfied. He couldn't spot approaching strangers for barking-at purposes. So Tyler built another upward kennel. Four ramps lead to a platform, high in a fir tree. Both "Bounce" and a new dog, "Toby," like the treetop kennel better than all the 10 acres below. They romp up and down; sleep on the platform in hot weather; stay up for hours, watching everyone who nears the Tyler land.

ROMNEY, W. Va., A Baltimore and Ohio Railway representative met with J. P. Kuykendall, District Conservationist, Thursday for the purpose of selecting an Area I soil conservation winner and to formulate plans for the annual contest starting October 1.

Those meeting with Mr. Kuykendall were L. S. Hartley, B. & O. Agriculture Agent; L. L. Lough, Soil Conservation Service; George Sharpe, Agriculture Extension Service and Dewey Cornell from the State Experiment Station, all of Morgantown.

The group selected Kelley Grapes, Hoy area, winner. Mr. Grapes will be in competition with other Area winners in the State. Area 1 is comprised of Jefferson, Berkeley, Morgan, Hampshire, Hardy, Grant, Pendleton and Minera counties.

This contest is held to encourage farmers in the territory served by the B. and O. to conserve all natural resources on their farms by adopting a sound soil, water and forest conservation program.

The B. and O. feels that the conservation of soil, water and forests is a responsibility affecting the farmer, the manufacturer and the consumer and that good land use and the adoption of soil management practices and cropping spstems that provide for soil, water and forest conservation and improvement is necessary to the permanent economic welfare of the nation.

Agencies cooperating with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in this work are the District soil conservation governing bodies of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania and New York with the assistance of the Agriculture Extension Service, the Soil Conservation Service and other agricultural agencies.

Points considered in selecting winners are: 1. Good land use, 2. Establishment of soil and water conserving practices; 3. Maintenance of practices applied, and 4. Progress based upon resources available. The Area award is a $100 U. S. Savings Bond.

The records of all area winners will be judges for the selection of the B. and O. Systemwide Conservation Champion for the current year, to whom will be awarded an all-expense trip to the annual meeting of Friends of the Land or some other suitable meeting. The award will be made by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

School Patrol Organized

The State Police with the cooperation of Sheriff Heber Parsons and County School Superintendent A. C. Loy are organizing a school patrol in 13 schools in Hampshire County. The Springfield Graded School under the direction of principal Homer Loy instituted the patrol system last year.

Capable boys will be selected to act as patrolmen and their duties will be to conduct children across highways and help direct traffic at these crossings. Patrolmen will be furnished white belts and badges approved by the American Automobile Association.

Three Polio Cases Noted

Romney has three cases of polio. Early in the month, Bobby Summer, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Summer, was stricken. He was immediately taken to the Monongahela General Hospital in Morgantown where all polio cases from this area are taken. His condition is reported to be good.

On Tuesday, Frank Bittner, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bittner, became ill, and was diagnosed as having polio. He was taken to Morgantown where he is receiving treatment.

The third case was that of John Dawson, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dawson of the Shanks area. The Morgantown hospital being filled to capacity, the Dawson boy

Miss Jackson To Become Bride Of James Thompson

Wedding To Be Held This Morning At 10

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG — The marriage of James C. Thompson, son of Mrs. Nellie Thompson, 84 East Main Street and the late Jerome Thompson, and Miss Catherine L. Jackson, daughter of Mrs. Alice Jackson and the late John Jackson, 19 Washington Street, will be solemnized today at 10 a. m., in St. Michael's Catholic Church with Rev. Francis E. Montgomery, administrator, celebrant of the nuptial mass.

The attendants will be Mrs. Michael J. Byrnes, Jr., Baltimore, sister of the bride, as matron of honor and William J. Thompson, Washington, brother of the bridegroom, as best man. The traditional wedding hymns of the Catholic Church will be sung by Mrs. Carmen Maurey with Mrs. Richard Goldsworthy playing the organ accompaniments.

The bride, to be given in marriage by her brother, Joseph Jackson, will wear a white satin dress with a front panel of lace, long pointed sleeves, and full gathered skirt. Her finger tip veil will be held by a crown of satin and lace. She will carry a bridal bouquet of white pom poms.

The matron of honor will wear a white satin gown with fitted bodice and a bustle effect over a full gathered skirt. She will wear a Victorian bonnet with matching mits and carry a bouquet of old fashioned flowers.

Following the wedding ceremony at the church, a reception will be held at the bride's home from 1 to 3 p. m. After a short wedding trip to Baltimore and other points in the east, the couple will reside here.

The bride is a graduate of St. Michael's parochial school, Ursuline Academy, Cumberland, class of 1940, and the Ursuline Business School, class of 1941.

The bridegroom, an employe of the Celanese Corporation, is a veteran of World War II. He was inducted into the military service in 1943 while serving with the British War Mission, Washington, and after serving two years, most of which was spent with the Army in the South Pacific, he was honorably discharged on February, 1946.

Concert Scheduled

The Arion Band, with Darrell Zeller directing, will give an open air concert tomorrow at 8:30 p. m. in front of the Gunter Hotel. This will be probably the last outdoor concert of the current season. The program will include a number of new selections recently received by the band.

Enlists In Army

Vincent Monahan, 17, Midland, has enlisted in the Army Air Force for a three year period. A son of Mrs. Grace Deshel, Portersville, Pa., and the late Michael Monahan, he resided for the past several years with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Monahan. Before being accepted by the army, he will be required to take a physical examination in Baltimore, October 23.

Brethren Council To Meet

The Council of the Church of the Brethren, Beall Street, will hold its annual meeting Monday, September 22, at 7:30 p. m., in the church with Rev. Alonza Fike, Accident, Md., presiding. All members of the council are asked to attend.

Miss Gunter Is Wed

Miss Margaret Gunter, granddaughter of Mrs. Mary Gunter, West Main Street, and daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gunter, became the bride of James Roy Sleeman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sleeman, East Main Street, in a ceremony performed last night at 8 o'clock in St. Paul's Lutheran Church. Rev. Justus H. Liesmann, pastor, officiated.

The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. John R. Davis, Frostburg. The bride wore a brown tweed suit with a corsage of yellow roses, and her matron of honor was attired in a black dress with matching accessories and a corsage of red roses.

A reception in honor of the bridal party was held immediately after the ceremony at the home of the bridegroom's parents. The couple will leave Monday on a wedding trip, after which they will reside in Frostburg.

Mrs. Sleeman, a graduate of Beall High School, is employed at the Celanese plant. Her husband, also a Beall High graduate, served 32 months in the Pacific theater with the Seabees during World War II. He is engaged in the contracting business with his father.

Personals

Midshipman Walter L. Helbig, of the U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md., is here the guest of his aunt, Miss Olive Wilderman, Centennial Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Williford, Anderson, N. C., are guests of G. Dud Hocking, East Main Street. Mrs. Williford is a niece of the late Mrs. Hocking, the former Miss Minnie Staples.

Mrs. Rose Boynes, Kansas City, Mo., a former resident, is staying at the Gunter Hotel with her two daughters on her second visit here in 65 years. Mrs. Boynes returned to Frostburg because of the serious illness of her sister, Mrs. Bradford Blocher, who is a patient in Memorial Hospital, Cumberland. She is also a sister of Wilbur Wade, retired salesman of this city.

Laurel Falls Group Elects O. B. Lauver As New President

By W. A. SHOEMAKER

MEYERSDALE, Pa.—At a recent annual election of officers of the Laurel Falls Association, Owen B. Lauver, manager of Dairy Dale Milk, Inc., was elected president of the organization for the coming year. Other officers elected were Carl Clapper, vice president; John H. Cover, treasurer; S. S. Susser, secretary, and the following directors: Norman Walker, road supervision; W. E. Gnagey, landscaping; Ralph Nicholson, water and sanitation; Daniel Critchfield, sports and concessions; T. A. McKenzie, buildings; W. D. Baker, utilities, and Frank P. Brown, publicity.

The Pennsylvania Electric Company has completed the installation of electric service line throughout the resort at a cost of approximately $17,000. The main club house and several cabins owned by individuals have already been wired and are receiving the service. Two large flood lights are also being installed to illuminate the parking area.

A rifle range is in process of construction and a rifle team is being organized for competitive shooting matches to be held throughout the outdoor season.

Will Go To Costa Rica

Mr. and Mrs. David Solt, who have been guests for the past several weeks of Mrs. Solt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. DiValentino, will leave tomorrow for Miami, Fla., from where they expect to go by plane on September 26, to Costa Rica to conduct mission work among the natives.

Mrs. Solt is a graduate of the Meyersdale High School and also of the Philadelphia School of the Bible. Mr. Solt is a graduate of Swarthmore College in Radio engineering and also attended the Bible school at Philadelphia. A new radio station is being erected at San Jose, Costa Rica, which will be managed by Mr. Solt. The mission organization, which was established 25 years ago by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Strachan, and is non-sectarian, operating a Bible seminary, a hospital and an orphanage, is known as the Latin American Mission, with headquarters at Ridgefield Park, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Solt were speakers Wednesday evening at a special service held in the Main Street Brethren Church, Meyersdale.

Marriage Is Announced

Mrs. Belle Getty has announced the marriage of her daughter, Miss Thelma Mae Getty, to Philip Beachy Reich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip G. Reich, in a double-ring ceremony in the rectory of SS. Philip and James' Catholic Church, Thursday, September 11, at 7 p. m. The pastor, Rev. A. J. Becktold, officiated.

Following the reception the couple left on a honeymoon at points of interest in the eastern states.

Both are graduates of the Meyersdale High School. They will reside in Baltimore, Md., while the bridegroom attends University of Maryland. The bridegroom is a Navy veteran of World War II, having served 34 months, more than a year of which was spent in Hawaii. The bride is a graduate of the Memorial School of Nursing, Cumberland.

Entertain Friends

Mrs. Harry M. Cooke and Miss Kate Olinger, Broadway street, entertained a group of friends at a luncheon Thursday afternoon at Hollywood Inn.

Covers for 36 guests were laid at a table decorated with centerpieces of pink and white snapdragons and asparagus fern.

Mrs. Mary Sherril, of Pittsburgh, professional reader, read the comedy, "What Every Woman Knows."

Personals

Harold Merrill and Dr. John T. Shipley, Garrett, have gone to Palm Beach, Fla., to survey the damage done to Merrill property by the hurricane.

1st Lt. Paul R. Ryland, son of Mrs. W. H. Ryland and the late Dr. Ryland, is here to spend a month's furlough visiting his mother and sister, Miss Mary Ryland. Lt. Ryland has been assigned to the Fifth Airforce in Japan. At the conclusion of his leave he will report to Elgin Field, Fla.

Episcopal Church Donates Hall For Temorary Guard Quarters

By GEORGE H. HANST

OAKLAND, Md., Procurement of suitable temporary quarters for the proposed national guard unit here, and definite progress toward actual organization were two of the things disclosed at a public meeting held this week in the Court House.

It was announced by Lt. Col. C. I. Claypoole that the official vestry of the Episcopal church here had given its consent at the luncheon meeting the day previous for the use of the Parish House as temporary quarters for the proposed unit, free of charge, which was one of the requirements in the establishment of a guard in Oakland.

The decision to form a combat engineer company, recommended by National Guard headquarters, was also made at the meeting by a unanimous vote of those present. There was a choice of either a combat engineer company or an artillery battery. With the acceptance of the former the Oakland unit will be part of an engineer battalion which also includes companies at Leonardtown, LaPlata and Prince Frederick.

Only one thing now needs to be accomplished before actual recruiting of men would begin, according to Col. Claypoole, and that is the selection of an officer for company commander. The local committee had several names of persons who had served as officers in World War II, and one from among those available will be recommended in the near future, it was stated.

Upon commissioning of the company commander, Col. Claypoole said he would return to Oakland to assist in recruiting men for the company. Two officers and 17 men are needed to get the unit under way, after which the state guard will ask for federal recognition; then it will be necessary to add 17 men every 90 days until the peacetime strength of 134 men is reached, it was explained.

Prior to the last war the Maryland Guard numbered 3,300, but in the drive to get 622,500 national guardsmen throughout the United States, Maryland has been assigned a total of 9,300.

The age limit is 17 to 35 unless the person interested has had previous military service. He pointed out that persons 17 to 20 joining the national guard would not be called for universal training if the latter was enacted into law.

It was also pointed out that the formation of a unit, in addition to bringing an armory here, would mean $30,000 to $50,000 additional annual revenue to the people of Oakland. The National Guard plans to spend $2,000 to $3,000 to put the Parish House in proper condition for a temporary armory. If at the end of a year it is demonstrated that the organization is growing and appears to be successful, it will be recommended that the armory be built. This will be a structure costing around $140,000, money for which is already provided, it was stated. The permanent site, 200 by 300 feet, already has been offered by the American Legion post here, adjoining the Legion home on Fourth street.

The meeting was in charge of Stuart F. Hamill, Jr., chairman of the local committee. Officers here for the Monday discussion besides General Milton A. Reckord, were Maj. Gen. Washington Bowie, Brig. Gen. Harry C. Ruhl, but all three continued to Cincinnati for another meeting while Col. Claypoole remained here for the public meeting.

Elias Heads Teachers

Edwin Elias, instructor at Grantsville School, was elected president of the Garrett County Teachers Association at a meeting in Oakland High School in connection with the recent all-day session there. He takes the place of Merle Frantz Oakland Elementary principal, who served as president last year.

Others named were Ernest Spoerlein, Oakland High, vice-president; Ann Dilgard, Oakland Elementary, treasurer; and Kathryn Speicher, Accident, secretary.

Another meeting of teachers is planned at Accodent on the first Saturday in October at 10 a. m., at which time a program of activity for the year an dobjectives of the group will be outlined. Delegates to the state convention, to be held in Baltimore thel atter part of October, also will be named.

Civic Club To Meet

Members of the Oakland Civic club will meet next Wednesday afternoon, September 24, at 2:30 at the home of Mrs. Paul B. Naylor to arrangef or a luncheon on Tuesday, September 30, at which time Mrs. Roy D. Whitlock, president of the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs, Baltimore, will address the group.

The luncheon will be at the William-James Hotel and reservations are being taken by Mrs. Emroy Bolden or Mrs. O. T. Graser.

C. of C. Head Speaks

Acceptance of greater community responsibilities by our business men as the best means of developing our American communities and that Chambes of Commerce are one of the best vehicles for this purpose, was stressed by W. G. Ewald, secretary of the Baltimore Association of Commerce, the principal speaker at the dinner meeting of the Mount Top Chamber of Commerce, last evening at the Mt. Lake Hotel.

Approximately 100 persons attended the dinner to hear Mr. Ewald give his views on "The Role of Business in the Post-War Period."

"A more active participation in civic affairs and in the betterment of the communities in which we live," was his challenge to local business men, if our American communities are to grow and develop as they should.

"No group is better qualified to furnish community leadership than those who have the greatest financial stake, those who create the jobs, those who produce the wealth and through their creative and produc-

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 19—(INS)—The decision to film "Richard The Lion Hearted," an American movie, in England, is surprising in view of the general confusion of the British market.

Maureen O'Hara

But, how could this historical saga of the English king, who led the crusades, be filmed anywhere else and have it authentic?

More than just filming it in England, Edward L. Alperson and Jack Jungmeyer Jr., who are making it for 20th, tell me they hope to get some scenes in the Holy Land, conditions permitting.

The story of Richard, the good king who reigned in 1189, and led the crusades, is known to every school child. When he came back from the crusades he found his country in distress.

We will also see Robin Hood, Friar Tuck, Prince John, Will Scarlet and all those beloved characters.

Blanche Sweet, who in her heydey was one of the screen's greatest artists, is returning to Hollywood, Oct. 1. She will be the guest of Mrs. Marie Crisp, who is also representing her, and she will talk about an important role in "Virgin Of the Gods."

Blanche is now married to Raymond Hackett, writer and actor, and she, herself, has done very well on the New York stage in "These Endearing Young Charms" and other Broadway plays.

When Blanche was married to Mickey Neilan, together they turned out top producers. That was the era of Gloria Swanson. Norma Talmadge, and other glamor girls who will never be forgotten.

The Ingrid Bergman hole in "Joan Of Lorraine" will be played by Louise Rainer when it opens in Detroit, Oct. 6. Brian Donlevy will be seen in the Sam Wanamaker part. He will get 20 percent of the gross.

The Humphrey Bogarts who came to town for her birthday, stopped in to say hello, and we had quite a talk. They start "Key Largo" in November and both of them are very enthusiastic about the prospects of having John Hutson direct them.

"I don't like the word genius much," said Bogey, "but he's a genius and lucky and eccentric as well."

Then Bogey went on to tell me that all of the fishermen he knew have been trying for years to catch a marlin. Huston came to Catalina for a weekend as David Selznick's guest and caught one in a few minutes.

Chatter in Hollywood: Something has happened to the Vivi Stokes-Lawrence Tierney hectic romance. Vivi, who was with Larry in the early days when he started his milk routine, and was giving him every encouragement, is suddely seen everywhere with Kurt Kruger

The Who's Who at West Point took a look at "The Spirit Of West Point" starring the Point's famous touchdown twins, Doc Blanchard and Glen Davis and let me hasten to tell you that the Army passed it without a single cut, claiming it to be the type of Americana needed today.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Stuart Barthelmess, who took it hard when Sonja Henie decided he was too young for her, is seen everywhere in New York with Betty Ammidon.

Dolores Moran has cancelled out of the New York play, "Yellow Slipper." She did not feel up to taking such a strenuous engagement.

United States Senator Olin D. Johnston of South Carolina, uncle of Bill Moss, Jane Withers' fiance, will arrive Saturday to attend the wedding.

Very hot even for a California September, between Janet Martin, Republic starlet and John Kerr of the frozen food family. They are both enrolled at U. S. C.

Jackie, the Lion, who has played in 500 pictures and earned as high as $50,000 some years, had a real birthday party on the Pine-Thomas set of "Caged Fury." Jackie is 30 years old and he was given ice cream and a big cake. Believe it or not, the jungle king, who is as tame as a kitten, likes them both.

Rory Calhoun doesn't care who knows how smitten he is with Crinne Calvary, Paramount lovely.

Ethel Barrymore is reading the script of "Look Homeward Angel" for the mother part.

The two latest Hollywood girls to go in business are Mrs. Louis Hayward and Mrs. Eddie Moran, who have started an interior decorating shop.

Maureen O'Hara is now wearing braces on her upper teeth and on her it looks cute.

That's all today.

Tax Report Endorses Income-Splitting Plan

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19. (AP) — Prospects that married couples throughout the nation may get a chance to save money on federal income taxes by splitting their income were brightened today because a Treasury tax report endorsed the plan.

The study said nationwide income splitting, now possible only in 13 states with community property laws, would "do much to end the inequities resulting from the present tax treatment of family income" and to reduce "protracted and extensive litigation."

Catacombs, tombs hewn in solid rock, were used by the Etruscans as family burial places. Later the term was applied to all subterranean cemeteries. The most famous catacombs are in Rome, and form a vast labyrinth of narrow galleries with small chambers excavated at different levels.

Carpenter Held In Death Of His Wife In Well

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 19 (AP)—Police disbelief of a description Joseph H. Holland, 43, Odenton carpenter, gave of the death of his wife in a well last Thursday led yesterday to his being pailed here on a murder charge.

State Police at Waterloo said they had investigated the death of Mrs. Mary E. Holland, 41, in a 12-foot well with a 27-inch opening. She was pronounced dead of a skull fracture at Fort George G. Meade Hospital.

Assistant Medical Examiner Gustave A. Faubert and police quoted Holland as saying he was cleaning out the well when his wife suddenly called "Henry," and as he straightened up she fell headlong into the well, her body hitting him as she fell.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 19—(INS)—The decision to film "Richard The Lion Hearted," an American movie, in England, is surprising in view of the general confusion of the British market.

But, how could this historical saga of the English king, who led the crusades, be filmed anywhere else and have it authentic?

More than just filming it in England, Edward L. Alperson and Jack Jungmeyer Jr., Maureen O'Hara who are making it for 20th, tell me they hope to get some scenes in the Holy Land, conditions permitting.

The story of Richard, the good king who reigned in 1189, and led the crusades, is known to every school child. When he came back from the crusades he found his country in distress.

We will also see Robin Hood, Friar Tuck, Prince John, Will Scarlet and all those beloved characters.

Blanche Sweet, who in her heydey was one of the screen's greatest artists, is returning to Hollywood, Oct. 1. She will be the guest of Mrs. Marie Crisp, who is also representing her, and she will talk about an important role in "Virgin Of the Gods."

Blanche is now married to Raymond Hackett, writer and actor, and she, herself, has done very well on the New York stage in "These Endearing Young Charms" and other Broadway plays.

When Blanche was married to Mickey Neilan, together they turned out top producers. That was the era of Gloria Swanson. Norma Talmadge, and other glamor girls who will never be forgotten.

The Ingrid Bergman hole in "Joan Of Lorraine" will be played by Louise Rainer when it opens in Detroit, Oct. 6. Brian Donlevy will be seen in the Sam Wanamaker part. He will get 20 percent of the gross.

The Humphrey Bogarts who came to town for her birthday, stopped in to say hello, and we had quite a talk. They start "Key Largo" in November and both of them are very enthusiastic about the prospects of having John Hutson direct them.

"I don't like the word genius much," said Bogey, "but he's a genius and lucky and eccentric as well."

Then Bogey went on to tell me that all of the fishermen he knew have been trying for years to catch a marlin. Huston came to Catalina for a weekend as David Selznick's guest and caught one in a few minutes.

Chatter in Hollywood: Something has happened to the Vivi Stokes-Lawrence Tierney hectic romance. Vivi, who was with Larry in the early days when he started his milk routine, and was giving him every encouragement, is suddenly seen everywhere with Kurt Kruger

The Who's Who at West Point took a look at "The Spirit Of West Point" starring the Point's famous touchdown twins, Doc Blanchard and Glen Davis and let me hasten to tell you that the Army passed it without a single cut, claiming it to be the type of Americana needed today.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Stuart Barthelmess, who took it hard when Sonja Henie decided he was too young for her, is seen everywhere in New York with Betty Ammidon.

Dolores Moran has cancelled out of the New York play, "Yellow Slipper." She did not feel up to taking such a strenuous engagement.

United States Senator Olin D. Johnston of South Carolina, uncle of Bill Moss, Jane Withers' fiance, will arrive Saturday to attend the wedding.

Very hot even for a California September, between Janet Martin, Republic starlet and John Kerr of the frozen food family. They are both enrolled at U. S. C.

Jackie, the Lion, who has played in 500 pictures and earned as high as $50,000 some years, had a real birthday party on the Pine-Thomas set of "Caged Fury." Jackie is 30 years old and he was given ice cream and a big cake. Believe it or not, the jungle king, who is as tame as a kitten, likes them both.

Rory Calhoun doesn't care who knows how smitten he is with Crinne Calvary, Paramount lovely.

Ethel Barrymore is reading the script of "Look Homeward Angel" for the mother part.

The two latest Hollywood girls to go in business are Mrs. Louis Hayward and Mrs. Eddie Moran, who have started an interior decorating shop.

Maureen O'Hara is now wearing braces on her upper teeth and on her it looks cute.

That's all today.

Tax Report Endorses Income-Splitting Plan

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19. (AP) — Prospects that married couples throughout the nation may get a chance to save money on federal income taxes by splitting their income were brightened today because a Treasury tax report endorsed the plan.

The study said nationwide income splitting, now possible only in 13 states with community property laws, would "do much to end the inequities resulting from the present tax treatment of family income" and to reduce "protracted and extensive litigation."

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 19 (AP)—Police disbelief of a description Joseph H. Holland, 43, Odenton carpenter, gave of the death of his wife in a well last Thursday led yesterday to his being pailed here on a murder charge.

State Police at Waterloo said they had investigated the death of Mrs. Mary E. Holland, 41, in a 12-foot well with a 27-inch opening. She was pronounced dead of a skull fracture at Fort George G. Meade Hospital.

Assistant Medical Examiner Gustave A. Faubert and police quoted Holland as saying he was cleaning out the well when his wife suddenly called "Henry," and as he straightened up she fell headlong into the well, her body hitting him as she fell.

Catacombs, tombs hewn in solid rock, were used by the Etruscans as family burial places. Later the term was applied to all subterranean cemeteries. The most famous catacombs are in Rome, and form a vast labyrinth of narrow galleries with small chambers excavated at different levels.

Col. Stoopnagle Lands Another Job On MBS Network

NEW YORK, Sept. 19. — Col. Stoopnagle (Lemuel Q.) the sage of South Norwalk, Conn., and of the kilocycle as well, has landed another network job. Together with Cal Tinney Lew Lehr and Morey Amsterdam he's to participate in a new MBS series, Stop Me If You've Heard This One, opening at 8 p. m. Saturday.

It's a revival of the prewar ABC series then known as Awake at the Switch, and gets its impetus from the fact that it specializes in gags and story telling. Listeners participate by sending in their humor.

Warren R. Austin, U. S. representative to UN, Trygve Lie, secretary general of UN, are to participate in discussion of "Problems Facing the New UN assembly" for Our Foreign Policy on NBC at 6.

Two of the week end farm programs are to originate from the Eastern States exposition at Springfield, Mass. That on CBS at 1:30, the Country Journal, will include Harold E. Stassen as guest, while the National Farm and Home of NBC at 1 p. m., will have a general word picture of the state fair.

Eddie Cantor is scheduled for an ABC drama, "Days of Remembrance," at 10:30 in behalf of the United Jewish appeal, originating from Hollywood.

Here's to Youth, a drama, about social and recreational difficulties of a group of teenagers, is listed for NBC at 10:30 a. m. . . . Doug Fairbanks, Jr., is to be "If the Winner Takes All" for Theater of Today on CBS at 11 a. m. . . . Stars Over Hollywood, CBS 11:30 a. m., is to have Jackie Cooper and Jackie Coogan in "Kilroy Was Here."

In Roman history, Arria was the wife of Caecina Paetus. He was ordered to put an end to his life by the Emperor Claudius. As he hesitated, Arria stabbed herself, then handed the dagger to her husband saying, "Paetus, it does not pain me."

Vagrant Is Sent To House Of Correction

Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., yesterday sentenced Frank Wilson, formerly of Moorefield, W. Va., to eight months in the House of Correction for vagrancy.

Magistrate Bruce stated the man had no "visible means of support" and that, due to his bad health, his sentence to the House of Correction would be in the best interests of the public. Wilson's health prevented him from appearing at the hearing.

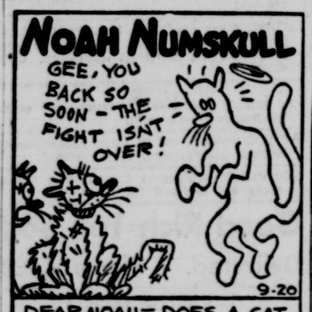

In the only traffic case docketed yesterday, Joseph Bewick, 801 Shriver Avenue, forfeited an $11.45 bond posted after he had been arrested in LaVale on Route 40 Thursday for exceeding 50 miles an hour. State Trooper Harry S. Bosley apprehended the motorist.

In Roman history, Arria was the wife of Caecina Paetus. He was ordered to put an end to his life by the Emperor Claudius. As he hesitated, Arria stabbed herself, then handed the dagger to her husband saying, "Paetus, it does not pain me."

Vagrant Is Sent To House Of Correction

Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., yesterday sentenced Frank Wilson, formerly of Moorefield, W. Va., to eight months in the House of Correction for vagrancy.

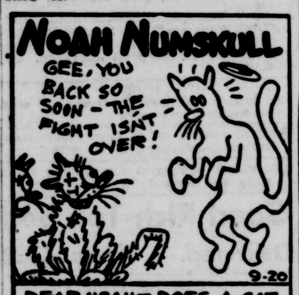

Magistrate Bruce stated the man had no "visible means of support" and that, due to his bad health, his sentence to the House of Correction would be in the best interests of the public. Wilson's health prevented him from appearing at the hearing.

In the only traffic case docketed yesterday, Joseph Bewick, 801 Shriver Avenue, forfeited an $11.45 bond posted after he had been arrested in LaVale on Route 40 Thursday for exceeding 50 miles an hour. State Trooper Harry S. Bosley apprehended the motorist.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Dorothy E. Bryant vs. Floyd E. Bryant. No. 20302 Equity in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

The object of the Bill of Complaint in the above case is to secure a finding of disappearance or death of Floyd E. Bryant.

The Bill of Complaint states that Dorothy E. Bryant, the complainant, is a daughter of Floyd E. Bryant, who completely disappeared from view and was last heard of on August 31, 1937, while domiciled in Cumberland, Maryland, and although diligent inquiry has been made, the said Floyd E. Bryant cannot be found.

It is thereupon this 18th day of September, 1947, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, ordered that the complainant cause a copy of this Order, setting forth the object and substance of the petition, to be inserted in some daily newspaper published in the City of Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks before the 20th day of October, 1947, giving notice to Floyd E. Bryant or to whom it may concern to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor on or before the 13th day of October, 1947, the date set for the hearing in this case, at 10:00 o'clock, A. M. to show cause, if any, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

Rose Hartman Is Wed To K. W. Shobe

By MYRTLE K. PARK

PETERSBURG, W. Va., — Mrs. Marie Hartman, Winchester, Va., and Sampson Hartman, New Martinsville, W. Va., announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Rose Marie Hartman, Petersburg, to Kenneth W. Shobe, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Shobe, Petersburg.

The wedding took place at the First Methodist Church, Cumberland, Sunday, September 14, at 3 p. m. with Rev. James A. Richardson officiating and using the double ring ceremony.

For her wedding the bride wore an aqua dress with brown accessories and carried a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

The maid of honor, Miss Wanda Lee Shobe, sister of the bridegroom, was attired in an aqua dress with black accessories and carried a corsage of pink rose buds. Miss Wilda Wimer, Petersburg, was a bridesmaid and wore a grey dress with black accessories and carried red rose buds.

Ralph Hartman, brother of the bride, served as best man.

Miss Shirley Day, Cumberland, a cousin of the bride sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because."

Mrs. Shobe is a graduate of Petersburg High School, class of 1947, and is employed in the Central Telephone Company office here.

Mr. Shobe is also a graduate of Petersburg High School, class of 1944, and served two and one half years in the armed forces, 18 months of which time was spent overseas. He is employed by The Grant County Press, Petersburg.

Following the ceremony the couple left for a trip to New York and Cleveland and upon their return to Petersburg they will reside on Pine Street.

Engagement Announced

Mrs. Lula Bumphrey, Petersburg, announces the engagement and coming marriage of her daughter, Miss Lena Bumphrey, Washington, to Lucian Butler, Herndon, Va. The wedding will take place October 18 in the Episcopal Church at Herndon. Both are employed in Washington.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Roberts and family, Maysville, have moved into an apartment in the Merle Mongold building on Pine Street.

Mrs. C. H. Park and sons, Timmie and Bobby, Miss Mary Simpkins, Petersburg, Arthur A. Keplinger and Lester R. Keplinger, Maysville, left for Gettysburg, Pa., to visit Mr. and Mrs. Otho Schartiger for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Harman Roby and daughter have moved from the home of Mrs. R. N. Young on Pierpoint Street to their newly erected home on Grove Street.

Miss Norma Oates has gone to Bridgewater Va., where she will attend Bridgewater College.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Haynes and daughters have moved from North Avenue to an apartment in the Mongold building.

HOW CORN SCARCITY COULD CAUSE TROUBLE

AP Newsfeatures

RECORD corn prices and a growing fear of scarcity in the world corn crop are likely to have an important effect on many industries that have little to do with food. This chart shows the many products which are made from corn. Chemists utilize starches, oils and hulls of corn.

Wide Asortment Of Leading Stocks Slip In Quiet And Irregular Market

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP)—A wide assortment of leading stocks slipped fractionally in a quiet and irregular market today. Rails and many industrials and utilities joined the downward drift.

Early activity failed to hold, and with the ticker tape idling, transfers totaled 750,000 shares compared with 940,000 Thursday.

Pivotal losers included American Telephone, off seven-eighths at 159¼, and Standard Oil (N.J.), one-half lower at 76, Norfolk and Western new stock was off 1⅜ at 58⅝, Baltimore and Ohio one-half at 13¼. Declines elsewhere were registered by Pullman at 53, Schenley at 34⅞, United Fruit, Bethlehem, Douglas Aircraft, Deere and Company, and Montgomery Ward.

New 1947 highs were touched by Anaconda Wire and Cable which closed up 4⅞ at 59⅝ and by Pacific Western Oil, ahead 2¼ at 43½. Mission Corporation climbed 2⅛ to 43, Elecrtic Power and Light was up five-eighths at 18½, and other gainers included Youngstown Sheet, Texas Company (ex-rights), International Paper, Johns-Manville, Ex-Cello-O, Phelps Dodge, General Electric, Owens-Illinois, Paramount Pictures and Twentieth Century-Fox.

Backward in the Curb were St. Lawrence Corporation, Cities Service and Pittsburgh Metallurgical. Ahead were Niagara Hudson Power, Creole Petroleum and Derby Oil. Turnover of 170,000 shares were compared with 210,000 the preceding day.

The bond market generally was lower with most railroad issues down fractions to more than a point.

Sales of 53,252,000 compared with $3,140,000 on Thursday.

United States governments were unchanged to off 2-32 in over-the-counter dealings. The Victory Loan 2 1-2s of December 1967-72 remained at 102.28 bid.

Peter Muir Dies

Peter Sampson Muir, 60, Moscow, a coal miner, died yesterday morning in Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, where he was admitted Wednesday. He had been ill for the past week.

Born in Moscow, Mr. Muir was a son of the late Michael and Janette Muir. He was employed by the Hoffa Coal Company at Pekin for a number of years. A veteran of Army service in World War I, Mr. Muir was a member of James P. Love Post No. 92, American Legion of Lonaconing. His wife, Mrs. Charlotte Beeman Muir, died four years ago.

Surviving are five sons, Charles, Detroit; Robert, Leon and Michael, all of Moscow, and James Muir, Lonaconing; and seven daughters, Mrs. Charles Weibrecht, Frostburg; Mrs. Frank Getson, Lonaconing; Mrs. James O. Dohm and Mrs. James Beeman, both of Moscow; Mrs. Harry Beeman, Pekin; and the Misses Emmagene and Norma Lee Muir, at home.

Also surviving are four sisters, Mrs. Richard Keyes, Sr., Barton; Mrs. William Thomas, Lonaconing; Mrs. Margaret Miller, Shaft, and Mrs. Julius Martin, Akron, O.; five brothers, Robert, Shaft; John, Eckhart; James, Frostburg, and William and Dick Muir, both of Pekin; and seven grandchildren.

A funeral service will be held Monday at 2:30 p. m. at the residence, with Rev. L. J. Moore, pastor of Barton Methodist Church, officiating. Interment will be in Laurel Hill Cemetery, Moscow.

Ispahan, the town in Persia where Oriental rugs bearing that name are woven, litterly means "the place of horses." Centuries ago Ispahan was a horse breeding center.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION
Dorothy E. Bryant vs. Floyd E. Bryant. No. 20302 Equity in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

The object of the Bill of Complaint in the above case is to secure a finding of disappearance or death of Floyd E. Bryant.

The Bill of Complaint states that Dorothy E. Bryant, the complainant, is a daughter of Floyd E. Bryant, who completely disappeared from view and was last heard of on August 31, 1937, while domiciled in Cumberland, Maryland, and although diligent inquiry has been made, the said Floyd E. Bryant cannot be found.

It is thereupon this 18th day of September, 1947, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, ordered that the complainant cause a copy of this Order, setting forth the object and substance of the petition, to be inserted in some daily newspaper published in the City of Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks before the 20th day of October, 1947, giving notice to Floyd E. Bryant or to whom it may concern to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor on or before the 13th day of October, 1947, the date set for the hearing in this case, at 10:00 o'clock, A. M. to show cause, if any, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

Rose Hartman Is Wed To K. W. Shobe

By MYRTLE K. PARK

PETERSBURG, W. Va., — Mrs. Marie Hartman, Winchester, Va., and Sampson Hartman, New Martinsville, W. Va., announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Rose Marie Hartman, Petersburg, to Kenneth W. Shobe, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Shobe, Petersburg.

The wedding took place at the First Methodist Church, Cumberland, Sunday, September 14, at 3, p. m. with Rev. James A. Richardson officiating and using the double ring ceremony.

For her wedding the bride wore an aqua dress with brown accessories and carried a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

The maid of honor, Miss Wanda Lee Shobe, sister of the bridegroom, was attired in an aqua dress with black accessories and carried a corsage of pink rose buds. Miss Wilda Wimer, Petersburg, was a bridesmaid and wore a grey dress with black accessories and carried red rose buds.

Ralph Hartman, brother of the bride, served as best man.

Miss Shirley Day, Cumberland, a cousin of the bride sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because."

Mrs. Shobe is a graduate of Petersburg High School, class of 1947, and is employed in the Central Telephone Company office here.

Mr. Shobe is also a graduate of Petersburg High School, class of 1944, and served two and one half years in the armed forces, 18 months of which time was spent overseas. He is employed by The Grant County Press, Petersburg.

Following the ceremony the couple left for a trip to New York and Cleveland and upon their return to Petersburg they will reside on Pine Street.

Engagement Announced

Mrs. Lula Bumphrey, Petersburg, announces the engagement and coming marriage of her daughter, Miss Lena Bumphrey, Washington, to Lucian Butler, Herndon, Va. The wedding will take place October 18 in the Episcopal Church at Herndon. Both are employed in Washington.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Roberts and family, Maysville, have moved into an apartment in the Merle Mongold building on Pine Street.

Mrs. C. H. Park and sons, Timmie and Bobby, Miss Mary Simpkins, Petersburg, Arthur A. Keplinger and Lester R. Keplinger, Maysville, left for Gettysburg, Pa., to visit Mr. and Mrs. Otho Schartiger for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Harman Roby and daughter have moved from the home of Mrs. R. N. Young on Pierpoint Street to their newly erected home on Grove Street.

Miss Norma Oates has gone to Bridgewater Va., where she will attend Bridgewater College.

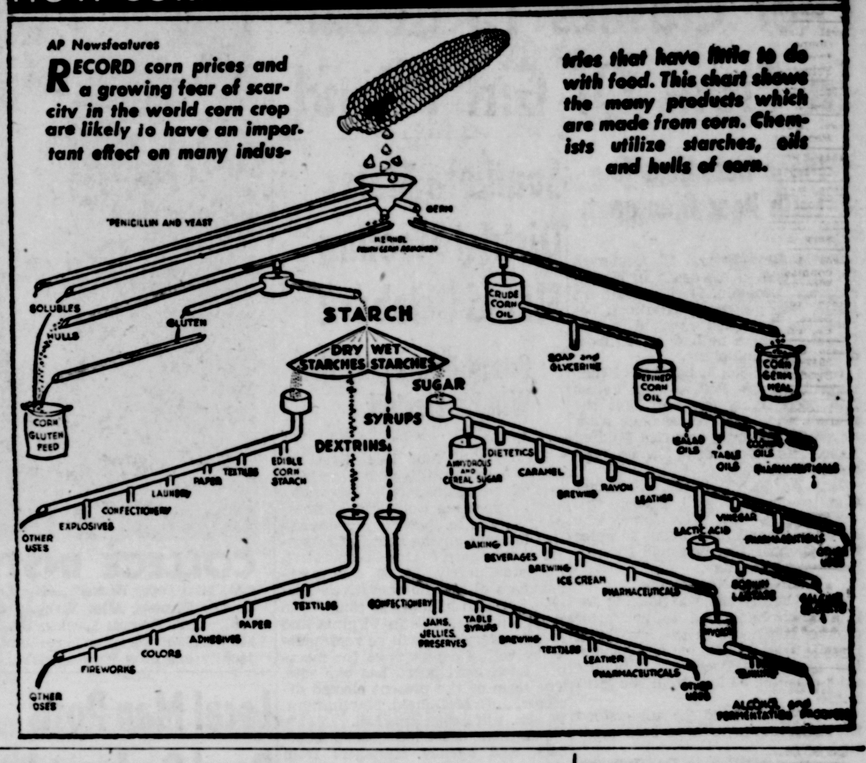

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Haynes and daughters have moved from North Avenue to an apartment in the Mongold building.

HOW CORN SCARCITY COULD CAUSE TROUBLE

Wide Asortment Of Leading Stocks Slip In Quiet And Irregular Market

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP)—A wide assortment of leading stocks slipped fractionally in a quiet and irregular market today. Rails and many industrials and utilities joined the downward drift.

Early activity failed to hold, and with the ticker tape idling, transfers totaled 750,000 shares compared with 940,000 Thursday.

Pivotal losers included American Telephone, off seven-eighths at 159¼, and Standard Oil (N.J.), one-half lower at 76, Norfolk and Western new stock was off 1⅜ at 58⅝, Baltimore and Ohio one-half at 13¼. Declines elsewhere were registered by Pullman at 53, Schenley at 34⅞, United Fruit, Bethlehem, Douglas Aircraft, Deere and Company, and Montgomery Ward.

New 1947 highs were touched by Anaconda Wire and Cable which closed up 4⅞ at 59⅝ and by Pacific Western Oil, ahead 2¼ at 43½. Mission Corporation climbed 2⅛ to 43, Elecrtic Power and Light was up five-eighths at 18½, and other gainers included Youngstown Sheet, Texas Company (ex-rights), International Paper, Johns-Manville, Ex-Cello-O, Phelps Dodge, General Electric, Owens-Illinois, Paramount Pictures and Twentieth Century-Fox.

Backward in the Curb were St. Lawrence Corporation, Cities Service and Pittsburgh Metallurgical. Ahead were Niagara Hudson Power, Creole Petroleum and Derby Oil. Turnover of 170,000 shares were compared with 210,000 the preceding day.

The bond market generally was lower with most railroad issues down fractions to more than a point.

Sales of 53,252,000 compared with $3,140,000 on Thursday.

United States governments were unchanged to off 2-32 in over-the-counter dealings. The Victory Loan 2 1-2s of December 1967-72 remained at 102.28 bid.

Flier Crashes To Death In Front Of Girl Friend

Plane Nosedives To Earth Near Glencoe

David Ross Petrea, 23, Somerset, Pa., crashed to his death in Northampton Township, 50 miles from his home, late yesterday afternoon before the horrified eyes of a girl friend to whom he had waved from a small training plane.

Sgt. Homer Stephens, of the Pennsylvania State Police, said Petrea had been flying low and that the plane's engine failed seconds after he waved to pretty brunette Mildred Lane. He was dead when she reached his side.

Dr. A. M. Uphouse, Somerset County coroner, said earlier this week Petrea told Miss Lane, who lives on a small farm about 10 miles from Glencoe, that he would fly over her home yesterday.

Crashed Near House

Consequently she was looking for him when he waved to her after circling the house in the low-flying plane. Then the engine cut out and the plane nosedived, Dr. Uphouse said, crashing 50 feet from the girl's home.

The coroner said he understood the couple were to have been married soon.

Petrea, according to Dr. Uphouse, suffered a fractured skull, concussion of the brain, fracture of the right jaw, compound fractures of both legs and thighs, at least three fractured ribs and multiple bruises, abrasions and cuts over the body, especially the chest. Both ankles virtually were torn off, the physician added.

State Police at Somerset said Petrea was flying a Cessna trainer plane obtained from the Somerset Airport, and an uncle said the flight yesterday was the young man's second solo flight since learning to fly. Discharged from the Army about a year ago, he was taking GI flight training.

Plane Badly Damaged

Dr. Uphouse, who described the plane as badly damaged, said Petrea left Somerset at 4:30 p. m. and was due back at 5:30. He placed the time of the accident at 4:50.

Members of the family said Petrea, a graduate of Somerset High School, was employed as a truck driver.

A native of Somerset, Petrea was a son of Paul and Mary Myers Petrea. Besides his parents he is survived by a brother, Vernon, at home; two sisters, Elaine, at home, and Mrs. Blaine Kimmell, Rockwood, Pa.

The body is at the Hauger Funeral Home, Somerset.

Former Students State Agriculture College To Meet

Allegany countians, who have attended the College of Agriculture University of Maryland, College Park, are invited to attend a dinner meeting of Agricultural Alumni at the Lord Baltimore Hotel in Baltimore, Friday, September 26, at 6:30 p. m., according to Ralph F. McHenry, county farm agent.

The purpose of the meeting is to organize the Agricultural Alumni Association of the University. Permanent officers will be elected, a constitution will be adopted, and plans will be made for the homecoming reunion on November 1, McHenry said he has been informed.

Any former student of the college is eligible to attend and to join the alumni, whether a graduate or not.

The program for the meeting will include entertainment by alumni quartets from Frederick and Harford counties, a magician, and talks by Dr. H. C. Byrd, president of the University and Dr. T. B. Symons, dean of the College of Agriculture.

McHenry said yesterday the University is following a plan of forming active alumni groups in each of its several colleges.

Among the Alumni of the college in this county besides the farm agent, are his assistant, Joseph M. Steger, this city; City Commissioner Clifton E. Fuller, Benjamin H. Evans and Arthur George Phillips, both of Losaconing; Miss Mary R. Patrick, Westernport; James H. House, Mt. Savage; Mrs. Elsie Hill Rowland, and W. L. Frazee, both of Flintstone.

McHenry said there may be others in the county who attended the college, but this comprises the list sent him from the University. Any former students of the college living in this county should communicate with him and complete the record, he said.

Local Man Arrested On Virginia Warrant

Wesley S. Smith, Hinkle Road, was arrested here on a Danville, Va., warrant obtained by Mrs. Ruby Smith, Danville, which accuses him of failing to provide support and maintenance for two daughters.

Smith was released yesterday in the custody of his attorney.

Southern States District Meeting Slated October 2

Board Representative Will Be Elected

Members of four local Southern States boards in this area have been invited to participate in a district election meeting October 2 at Romney, W. Va., to choose a representative to serve on the board of directors of Southern States Co-operative.

Approximately 20,000 farmer-members of the Co-operative's District 7, which includes 20 counties in West Virginia, nine in Virginia and four in Maryland, will be represented by voting delegates at the meeting. Each local board has one vote. The term of the present elected director, J. E. McDonald, Martinsburg, W. Va., will expire this fall.

Delegates, other local board members, and agency managers from this area include: Oldtown: Noah Carder, delegate; Roy Shyrock, alternate; Michael C. S. Twigg, Jonah Hose, Ira Lewis, Leslie Crabtree and R. Lewis, manager of Lewis Grocery.

Queen City Dairy, Inc.: James Miltenberger, Ridgeley, W. Va., delegate; C. R. Armstrong, Keyser, W. Va., alternate; W. H. Johnson, Cumberland; J. William Loar, Rawlings; Stanley Koontz, Bedford, Pa., and E. A. Dashiell, manager, co-operative agency.

Clise Feed and Supply Company: Vernon Loar, Frostburg, delegate; Clarence Miller, Midland, alternate; Elmer Clise, Midland; Joseph Steel, Lonaconing; William Weir, Lonaconing; David Williams, Midland, and Thomas F. Clise, manager.

Southern States Cumberland Service: W. H. Johnson, Cumberland, delegate; J. William Loar, Rawlings, alternate; Joseph Pollock, Paul Greise, Cumberland; Marshall Porter, Frostburg; James Miltenberger, Ridgeley; William Shumaker, Keyser, and Earl Morgan, manager of co-operative agency.

The Romney meeting will include a talk by L. E. Raper, director of membership relations for Southern States, on "How Farmers Own and Control Southern States Co-operative." District Manager R. R. Feagans will discuss "Building Better Service for Farmers." The session will open at 10:30 a. m. (EST) at the Romney Methodist Church.

Girl Is Injured When Cars Crash At Intersection

A 17-year-old girl was treated in Memorial Hospital early last night for slight injuries suffered when the car in which she was riding was involved in a two-car collision at the intersection of Oldtown Road and Louisiana Avenue.

The girl, Miss Madeline Sponaugle, 104 East Third Street, was treated for an abrasion on the arm and a bump on the head suffered, police said, when she was thrown against the windshield of a car driven by Harold Plummer, 230 North Hampshire Avenue.

Officers J. Carl Stouffer and James W. Brown said the car Plummer was driving west on Oldtown Road collided with a car going south on Louisiana Avenue and driven by Clarence Evans, Williamsburg, Va., about 6 p. m. The front ends of both cars were damaged, police said.

Joseph Kenny, 461 Baltimore Avenue, was treated in Allegany Hospital after he turned his ankle.

William Kesler, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Kesler, Magnolia, W. Va., was treated in Memorial last night for a deep laceration on the scalp. Attaches were told he was trampled after he fell from a horse.

Mrs. Catherine Larkin, 77, Paw Paw, W. Va., was treated in Memorial last night for a fractured left arm suffered in a fall at her home.

Efforts To Distribute Increase To Continue

Efforts to agree on the thorny problem of the distribution of some $180,000 a year, provided in the June 30 agreement at the Celanese plant to cover alleged inequalities in the rates of pay, will be continued early next week, it was announced yesterday.

Officials of the Celanese Corporation of America and Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, met three times this week to discuss the distribution of the one cent increase and John G. Thomas union business manager, said Wesley Cook, assistant director of the TWUA rayon division, expects to attend the next meeting.

Local Man Posts Bond On Armed Robbery Charge

Trevor Jones Held For Grand Jury

Trevor Jones, this city, was released under $1,000 bond yesterday afternoon for action of the Mineral County grand jury on a charge of being armed with a deadly weapon and of the theft of a motor vehicle.

The action was taken i. Ridgeley, W. Va., at a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace C. A. Jewell on the charge preferred by West Virginia State Police Cpl. R. R. Karickhoff.

Jones was arrested here August 29 by city police and turned over to Mineral County authorities after a Yellow Top cab employe identified him as one of the three white men who robbed him of his cab at gun point near Short Gap, W. Va., August 28.

At the hearing yesterday the cab driver, Thomas Cessna, Route 2, testified he picked up three men at a Maryland Avenue call box and drove them to Short Gap where, he said, one of the men pushed a gun against his side after one of the group requested him to stop.

Police said the cab was abandoned the next day near Mt. Storm after it ran out of gasoline.

Jones, who told Mr. Jewell he lived on Maryland Avenue here, admitted he had been drinking. At the time of his arrest, police quoted Jones as saying he had been drinking and could not recall who his companions had been.

Police said Cessna identified Jones as one of the trio after checking the "rogues gallery morgue" at the local police station.

Progress Shown In County Soil Conservation

Progress is being made in this county in the soil conservation program it was disclosed yesterday by Ralph F. McHenry, county farm agent, who stated that 29 farm plans were prepared and signed for farms within the Allegany County soil conservation district. The total number of acres included in these plans is 6,950.

In the period from July 1, 1946 to June 30, 1947, a total of 267 acres of land in this district were planted on the contour and 175 acres were strip-cropped. Five miles of drainage ditches were constructed, resulting in benefits to 120 acres of land. In addition, two farm ponds were established.

All conservation work within the district is carried out under the direction of a five-man Board of Supervisors of which W. L. Frazee, Flintstone, is chairman. Other supervisors are Charles S. Harvey, Shaft; H. M. Gordon, Flintstone; E. R. Slider, Oldtown; and W. R. Paul, Mt. Savage.

Advice and assistance in the technical phase of conservation work are provided the district by representatives of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, under the supervision of Philip J. Walter, work unit conservationist.

At a recent meeting the State Soil Conservation Committee allocated $1,147 to the Allegany soil conservation district, to assist in land savings operations during the present fiscal year. This money, McHenry said, is to be used primarily to promote educational work and to assist in the operating costs of machinery used by the district.

The Allegany County soil conservation district was organized September 24, 1941.

Permit Is Granted To Build Double House

R. T. Powell, 609 Frederick Street, secured a permit in the city engineer's office yesterday to build a two-story double house on Lot 7 and part of Lot 6, Avondale Avenue, at an estimated cost of $7,500. The 40 by 28-foot structure will have a concrete block foundation and brick walls, with a fire wall between the houses, and a composition built-up roof. Powell will do the work.

A permit was granted to William E. Gulick, Braddock Road, and Eugene Gulick to build a one-story structure to house a repair garage and offices at 305 South Centre Street, on a vacant lot purchased from the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The building will measure 50 by 24 feet, with concrete block foundation and walls and an asphat built-up roof. Work will be done by L. W. Breedlove at an estimated cost of $3,000.

21 Organizations Participate In Veterans' Parade In Lonaconing

Prize Awards Total $250 For Marchers

Twenty one fire companies, bands, and organizations participated in the parade held in Lonaconing last night in the connection with the Veterans' Celebration sponsored by Alvin C. Neat Post, VFW, and James P. Love Post, American Legion.

The $50 first prize for the best band in the line of march was awarded to the Salisbury, Pa., Community Band, with the Arion Band of Frostburg receiving $25 for second place.

The Vigilant Reel and Hose Company of Keyser first honors of $50 for having the best appearing fire company Potomac Fire Department of Westernport was second and was awarded $25. The Ladies Auxiliary of the Bloomington Fire Company won the $25 first prize in the auxiliary competition.

Farrady Post, American Legion, Frostburg, was first in the drum corps division and Kelly Mansfield Post, Piedmont, American Legion, and Henry Hart Post, Cumberland, tied for second. The winner received $50 and the second place corps were given $25.

Mayor Alex Burt and Councilmen Robert Peeble, John Merrbach, Wilmuth Garlitz, William Berry, James Nightingale, and Douglas Waddell appeared for the first time in a parade in the town.

Riding in open cars and dressed in evening gowns were hostesses from the James P. Love Post and the Alvin C. Neat Post. Members of the American Legion group were Patsy Ann Logsdon, Betty Preston and Jennie Lee Frye. The VFW hostesses were Marion Devlin, Jean Gardner and Dorothy Watkinson.

Meeting Proposed On Flood Control

The Flood Control Committee of the Chamber of Commerce will ask the Mayor and Council to call a special meeting for 10 a. m. Wednesday, September 24, to discuss the city's flood control project. City officials of Ridgeley, W. Va., also will be invited to attend.

The committee met last night for the purpose of reviewing the flood control situation and to discuss ways and means in which the committee might assist the city and the Planning and Zoning Commission in getting the project started.

Kelly Employe May Be Victim Of Poliomyelitis

A 20-year-old employe of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company will be taken to Sydenham Hospital, Baltimore this morning for final diagnosis of an illness thought to be polio, Health Department officials said yesterday.

The young man, Richard McHugh, Bowling Green, will be taken to the Baltimore hospital in a State Police ambulance by Trooper Jack Browning. Arrangements are being made to have Mrs. Elizabeth Rosenmerkel, public health nurse, accompany the patient on the trip.

If McHugh's illness is diagnosed as polio, he will be the eighth person in the county and the 10th in this area to become a victim of the disease within the past two months.

Four county patients already receiving treatment for polio in Baltimore hospitals were all reported "doing very well" last night.

They are William Merkel, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Merkel, 231 North Mechanic Street; Glen Brant, 19, local athlete, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Brant, 18 Valley Street; Jean Chappell, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Chappell, Barton; and Allan Pryor, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob E. Pryor, 107 Mary Street.

The Merkel boy and Brant are patients at Sydenham Hospital, while the other two patients are in Childrens Hospital. Brant is scheduled to be transferred to the latter hospital on Monday, Sydenham attaches said.

The Membership Activities Committee of the Chamber of Commerce met yesterday and planned a dinner meeting for members November 20 at Ali Ghan Country Club. The committee hopes to have an out-of-town speaker.

Conlon Is Appointed To Veterans' Post

Thomas F. Conlon, local service officer for the Maryland Veterans' Commission, has been named volunteer veterans' reemployment committeeman by the Division of Veteran's Reemployment Rights of the Department of Labor.

Conlon will work with the Maryland State Employment Service in assisting veterans to exercise their reemployment rights.

The letter appointing Conlon was signed by Vananda J. Meyl, field representative of the Division of Veterans' Reemployment Rights.

Bids On Auxiliary Water Line Will Be Asked Soon

Minor Changes Being Made In Plans

Water Commissioner William B. Edwards said last night he plans to advertise for bids "very soon" for the new 36-inch alternate water line to be built from Lake Gordon to the city.

Permission to construct the line was received from the Maryland Department of Health earlier this week, Edwards said.

Various minor changes in the plans and specifications drawn up by Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, were suggested by the State Department of Health and by Whitman, Requardt and Associates, Baltimore firm of consulting engineers.

Edwards said members of the city engineering department have nearly completed work on incorporating the suggested changes in the overall plans.

He added that bids will be sought before the end of the month, and that advertisements will be placed in engineering journals to attract outside bidders qualified to do the work.

Cost is expected to exceed $1,000,000 and will be borne largely through a bond issue which has already been authorized by the General Assembly.

The project has been advocated as a means of doubling Cumberland's present water supply of approximately 12,000,000 gallons daily and to provide an inducement to industries which may locate here and would need water.

Allegany High Has First Assembly

Allegany High School's first assembly program of the present school year was held yesterday for junior and senior students to acquaint them with new teachers, the standard of the school, significance of the Alegany flag and the sportsmanship code.

Ralph R. Webster, principal, said this year's senior class of 226 students is the largest in 10 years. Enrollment of the junior class is 236, sophomore 241, ninth grade 246, eighth grade 251 and seventh 225. Total enrollment is 1,428, with 63 fulltime instructors and two substitutes.

A subscription campaign by the Alcohi Mirror is being conducted on the basis of a "Football Queen." The 10 girls scoring the highest votes were introduced by Barbee Sue Mansfield. In alphabetical order they are Ann Alderman, Sue Bartlett, Betty Gulick, Georgia Huster, Juanita Lookabaught, Kathryn Mae Mannis, Patty McGee, Everstine Mitchell, Nancy Smith and Mary Lou Wilson.

New Diphtheria Case Reported In County

The illness of a 14-year-old girl in Bowman's Addition has been diagnosed as diphtheria, making the 18th case reported in the county in recent weeks, according to Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer.

The new diphtheria case is the first to be reported in over a week, however.

BIRTHS

Allegany Hospital reported the following births yesterday:

Mr. and Mrs. George Lease, 447 Henderson Avenue, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Trail, Flintstone, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. J. William Phelps, 526 Maryland Avenue, Westernport, a son.

Memorial Hospital reported the following births yesterday:

Mr. and Mrs. William Perkins, Route 3, a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wertz, 616 Montreal Avenue, a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dwight Rose, Centerville, Pa., a daughter.

Record Tomato Crop Replaces Frozen Apples

Orchard Land Yields Over 13,000 Bushels

Failure of the apple crop in this section, due to heavy frosts and freezing weather late in the spring, has probably led to the harvesting of a record tomato crop in Allegany County it was learned yesterday.

When Elihu C. McFadden of 932 Mulberry Avenue, Hagerstown, who operates the Potomac Highland Orchard near Picardy in the Green Ridge area, this county, realized his apple crop had been destroyed by the freeze he planted 25 acres of tomatoes to hold his organization together, and realize something from his land.

McFadden said he made a contract with a Pennsylvania organization and hired two planter-tractors, which planted a total of 75,000 tomato plants, spaced 42 inches apart, in a 25 acre tract. The planting was done in one day from 7 a. m until 9 p. m.

Picking started last week and a total of 13,000 bushels, or a yield of 15 tons per acre has been realized, and there are about 4,000 bushels yet to be picked, McFadden said. Thirty pickers and six haulers and drivers handled the crop.

McFadden said he has 200 acres in apple-bearing orchards and about 40 acres in two-year old non-bearing trees. The tomatoes were planted on 25 of these 40 acres. Normally, the orchard produces about 50,000 bushels of apples, but due to the freeze, only about 5,000 bushels will be picked this year, he said.

The freeze, which occurred the night of May 9, when the mercury fell to 20 above zero, killed most of the buds on the apple trees. This was the worst freeze, so far as orchardists are concerned in the history of the county, and occurred later in the year than any previous records. In 1921 and again in 1945, many apples were destroyed, but nothing like this year, orchard men say.

McFadden said his tomato crop was not damaged by early blight, as it was sprayed four times as recommended by the county agent and other experts and there was no indication of light blight. He said he did not know if the yield established an all time county record, but 15 tons per acre represents "a lot of tomatoes," he added.

Theft Reported At Local Hotel

City Police are investigating the theft of a quantity of jewelry and old coins reported Thursday morning by William Dahl, manager of the York Hotel, Baltimore and Front Streets.

Dahl said someone entered his room at the hotel and took a diamond ring, man's wrist watch, white gold wedding ring, small locket, stop watch and 20 valuable old coins, including an 1857 penny bearing a flying eagle insignia, and a silver three-cent piece.

Stitcher Pays Visit To Police Station

City Police Officer Joseph Stitcher, critically burned last July 10 when burning gasoline showered upon him, visited the city police station last night for the first time since the accident.

A patient in the hospital 59 days, Officer Stitcher was discharged September 6. Still recuperating, he does not expect to return to work for sometime.

Westernport Woman's Will Is Probated

The will of Mary McGuigan, who died in Westernport, August 16, was admitted to probate yesterday in Orphans' Court.

She left $300 to her sisters, Mrs. Catherine Laughlin and Mrs. Nora E. Mansfield, for the purpose of having masses said for her. A niece, Mary Ellen Mansfield, was left $1,000, and the residue of the estate is to be divided equally between Mrs. Laughlin and Mrs. Mansfield.

Temperature Reading

The temperature rose to the 90-degree mark here again yesterday after several days' respite of temperatures in the 70 and 80-degree range. Yesterday's minimum temperature was 48 degrees and last night at 9:30 the official weather observer reported a reading of 68 degrees. Partly cloudy and continued warm weather is forecast for today.

Board Buys 28 Beds For Use At County Home

Bonds Delivered To Baltimore Firm

Allegany County Commissioners yesterday accepted the bid of Schonter Furniture Company, North Centre Street, to furnish 28 beds for the County Home at a cost of $710.50.

A previous effort to find a dealer or dealers who could supply the type of beds desired was unsuccessful, and a second request for bids had been made.

Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, and Lewis M. Wilson, board attorney, have returned from Baltimore where they delivered the $250,000 bond issue to Mackubin, Legge and Company, successful bidders on the issue.

The money realized is being used to build an infirmary on the county farm in the Valley Road section. The interest rate on the bonds was one and one-half percent, the lowest ever realized on an issue sold by the county.

The two county officials returned with a check for $251,393.08 which represents the $250,000 principal of the issue, $1,216 premium and $177.08 interest.

Following construction of the new infirmary beds will be provided for 100 more patients and, in addition, there will be two separate wings on the structure for boy and girl delinquents held pending disposition of their cases.

At the present time the County Home, infirmary section and Slyvan Retreat are carrying a capacity load, and requests for admittance to the institutions are greater than for many years to pose a serious problem for county officials.

Feldstein Wants Court To Lift Restraining Order

Abe Feldstein, local junk dealer, named a party in a suit over the sale of the Cumberland Mattress Factory property here, has filed a motion of dismissal of a restraining order against occupying the property, and a hearing on the motion was held in court yesterday.

The case was heard until noon, when Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge George Henderson continued it until next week. Decision was withheld until attorneys file legal authority cited in the case.

Feldstein is involved in a suit brought by Mary Sines, Edith Kenney, William and Charles Wiegand, Elizabeth Daughton and Amanda Kenney against Theresa Shipes, W. Calvin Shipes, Elizabeth Jane Fisher and Feldstein over the sale of the Cumberland Mattress Company property at the corner of Williams and Orchard Streets.

The plaintiffs in the suit complain that the property was sold to Feldstein by the defendants and that they have an interest as heirs of the Wiegand estate in the property.

Charles Z. Heskett, attorney for the plaintiffs, said this morning in court that he believes Feldstein acted in good faith in buying the property and probably should not be involved in the suit.

F. Brooke Whiting, attorney for Feldstein, said that his client is basing his case on the land records of Allegany county which show that Theresa Shipes is listed in the deed to the property as being the owner It was brought out that the suit resulted after a dispute among the heirs to the property.

Clarence Lippel and Gorman Getty, local attorneys, testified concerning events leading to the sale of the property to Feldstein.

Sherman Heads Rawlings YPA

The Rawlings Charge, Young Peoples Association Cabinet held election of officers and formulated plans for a rally at the meeting last night at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Louis P. Chastain, Cresaptown.

Lester Sherman was elected president; Jessie Vandevort, assistant secretary; Clyde Sindy, Worship chairman; John Dawson, assistant Publicity chairman; Frances Walston, Recreation chairman; and Catherine Armstrong, assistant Recreation chairman.

Mrs. Walston will be in charge of the recreation period, after which the Cresaptown Young Adults will serve refreshments, with Susan Smith in charge.

The next cabinet meeting is to be held January 19, at the home of Leroy Lewis, Winchester Road.

Two Take Religious Vows At Monastery

Frater Ralph Zehe, Cleveland, and Frater John Chrysostom Lipinksi, Toledo, took simple triennial vows of religion as members of the Order of Friars Minor Capuchin in the chapel of SS. Peter and Paul Monastery yesterday morning.

The Very Rev. Claude Vogel, O. F. M. Cap., provincial received the vows and delivered the address.

After a short visit to their homes the men will continue their studies for the priesthood. Frater Ralph will go to Capuchin College, Washington, to study theology and Frater John Chrysostom will go to Victoria, Kan., to study philosophy.

Besides the friars at the monastery, among those who witnessed the ceremony were Father Leander and Father Gabriel. Father Leander, former assistant here, will leave soon to assume duties as assistant pastor at Victoria. Father Gabriel, whose home is here, is stationed at St. Augustines Church, Pittsburgh.

West Virginia Offers Maryland 4-Point Plan On Potomac Pollution

Meeting Scheduled In Baltimore Tuesday

ANNAPOLIS, Sept. 19 (AP) — West Virginia has suggested to Maryland a four-point program to wipe out pollution of the Potomac river with a two-state effort.

The program, suggested by Chemical Engineer K. S. Watson, will be discussed at a meeting of the Maryland Water Pollution Control Commission Tuesday (2:30 p. m.) in the office of Dr. Robert H. Riley, health department chief, at Baltimore.

In a letter to Paul M. McKee, executive secretary of the commission, Watson suggested this attack on the Potomac pollution problem affecting the two states.

1. Gathering sufficient stream samples and analyzing them to define serious pollution by plants and municipalities.

2. Urging the larger industries to maintain laboratories and personnel to define their own pollution problems to aid in recovery and treatment.

3. Requiring municipalities to define their pollution situation with a view to handling sewage as well as industrial wastes.

4. Having state pollution regulatory bodies aid industries and municipalities with their clean-up programs.

Watson added West Virginia would necessarily "have to continue its present slow program" until Maryland has time to begin one.

Also on the commission agenda is a report from Dr. R. V. Truitt on a state-side stream survey, and a proposed regulation to be reviewed by Assistant Attorney General Joseph D. Buscher to put legal teeth into pollution control in Maryland.

Flier Crashes To Death In Front Of Girl Friend

Plane Nosedives To Earth Near Glencoe

David Ross Petrea, 23, Somerset, Pa., crashed to his death in Northampton Township, 50 miles from his home, late yesterday afternoon before the horrified eyes of a girl friend to whom he had waved from a small training plane.

Sgt. Homer Stephens, of the Pennsylvania State Police, said Petrea had been flying low and that the plane's engine failed seconds after he waved to pretty brunette Mildred Lane. He was dead when she reached his side.

Dr. A. M. Uphouse, Somerset County coroner, said earlier this week Petrea told Miss Lane, who lives on a small farm about 10 miles from Glencoe, that he would fly over her home yesterday.

Crashed Near House

Consequently she was looking for him when he waved to her after circling the house in the low-flying plane. Then the engine cut out and the plane nosedived, Dr. Uphouse said, crashing 50 feet from the girl's home.

The coroner said he understood the couple were to have been married soon.

Petrea, according to Dr. Uphouse, suffered a fractured skull, concussion of the brain, fracture of the right jaw, compound fractures of both legs and thighs, at least three fractured ribs and multiple bruises, abrasions and cuts over the body, especially the chest. Both ankles virtually were torn off, the physician added.

State Police at Somerset said Petrea was flying a Cessna trainer plane obtained from the Somerset Airport, and an uncle said the flight yesterday was the young man's second solo flight since learning to fly. Discharged from the Army about a year ago, he was taking GI flight training.

Plane Badly Damaged

Dr. Uphouse, who described the plane as badly damaged, said Petrea left Somerset at 4:30 p. m. and was due back at 5:30. He placed the time of the accident at 4:50.

Members of the family said Petrea, a graduate of Somerset High School, was employed as a truck driver.

A native of Somerset, Petrea was a son of Paul and Mary Myers Petrea. Besides his parents he is survived by a brother, Vernon, at home; two sisters, Elaine, at home, and Mrs. Blaine Kimmell, Rockwood, Pa.

The body is at the Hauger Funeral Home, Somerset.

Former Students State Agriculture College To Meet

Allegany countians, who have attended the College of Agriculture University of Maryland, College Park, are invited to attend a dinner meeting of Agricultural Alumni at the Lord Baltimore Hotel in Baltimore, Friday, September 26, at 6:30 p. m., according to Ralph F. McHenry, county farm agent.

The purpose of the meeting is to organize the Agricultural Alumni Association of the University. Permanent officers will be elected, a constitution will be adopted, and plans will be made for the homecoming reunion on November 1, McHenry said he has been informed.

Any former student of the college is eligible to attend and to join the alumni, whether a graduate or not.

The program for the meeting will include entertainment by alumni quartets from Frederick and Harford counties, a magician, and talks by Dr. H. C. Byrd, president of the University and Dr. T. B. Symons, dean of the College of Agriculture.

McHenry said yesterday the University is following a plan of forming active alumni groups in each of its several colleges.

Among the Alumni of the college in this county besides the farm agent, are his assistant, Joseph M. Steger, this city; City Commissioner Clifton E. Fuller, Benjamin H. Evans and Arthur George Phillips, both of Losaconing; Miss Mary R. Patrick, Westernport; James H. House, Mt. Savage; Mrs. Elsie Hill Rowland, and W. L. Frazee, both of Flintstone.

McHenry said there may be others in the county who attended the college, but this comprises the list sent him from the University. Any former students of the college living in this county should communicate with him and complete the record, he said.

Local Man Arrested On Virginia Warrant

Wesley S. Smith, Hinkle Road, was arrested here on a Danville, Va., warrant obtained by Mrs. Ruby Smith, Danville, which accuses him of failing to provide support and maintenance for two daughters.

Smith was released yesterday in the custody of his attorney.

Southern States District Meeting Slated October 2

Board Representative Will Be Elected

Members of four local Southern States boards in this area have been invited to participate in a district election meeting October 2 at Romney, W. Va., to choose a representative to serve on the board of directors of Southern States Co-operative.

Approximately 20,000 farmer-members of the Co-operative's District 7, which includes 20 counties in West Virginia, nine in Virginia and four in Maryland, will be represented by voting delegates at the meeting. Each local board has one vote. The term of the present elected director, J. E. McDonald, Martinsburg, W. Va., will expire this fall.

Delegates, other local board members, and agency managers from this area include: Oldtown: Noah Carder, delegate; Roy Shyrock, alternate; Michael C. S. Twigg, Jonah Hose, Ira Lewis, Leslie Crabtree and R. Lewis, manager of Lewis Grocery.

Queen City Dairy, Inc.: James Miltenberger, Ridgeley, W. Va., delegate; C. R. Armstrong, Keyser, W. Va., alternate; W. H. Johnson, Cumberland; J. William Loar, Rawlings; Stanley Koontz, Bedford, Pa., and E. A. Dashiell, manager, co-operative agency.

Clise Feed and Supply Company: Vernon Loar, Frostburg, delegate; Clarence Miller, Midland, alternate; Elmer Clise, Midland; Joseph Steel, Lonaconing; William Weir, Lonaconing; David Williams, Midland, and Thomas F. Clise, manager.

Southern States Cumberland Service: W. H. Johnson, Cumberland, delegate; J. William Loar, Rawlings, alternate; Joseph Pollock, Paul Greise, Cumberland; Marshall Porter, Frostburg; James Miltenberger, Ridgeley; William Shumaker, Keyser, and Earl Morgan, manager of co-operative agency.

The Romney meeting will include a talk by L. E. Raper, director of membership relations for Southern States, on "How Farmers Own and Control Southern States Co-operative." District Manager R. R. Feagans will discuss "Building Better Service for Farmers." The session will open at 10:30 a. m. (EST) at the Romney Methodist Church.

Girl Is Injured When Cars Crash At Intersection

A 17-year-old girl was treated in Memorial Hospital early last night for slight injuries suffered when the car in which she was riding was involved in a two-car collision at the intersection of Oldtown Road and Louisiana Avenue.

The girl, Miss Madeline Sponaugle, 104 East Third Street, was treated for an abrasion on the arm and a bump on the head suffered, police said, when she was thrown against the windshield of a car driven by Harold Plummer, 230 North Hampshire Avenue.

Officers J. Carl Stouffer and James W. Brown said the car Plummer was driving west on Oldtown Road collided with a car going south on Louisiana Avenue and driven by Clarence Evans, Williamsburg, Va., about 6 p. m. The front ends of both cars were damaged, police said.

Joseph Kenny, 461 Baltimore Avenue, was treated in Allegany Hospital after he turned his ankle.

William Kesler, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Kesler, Magnolia, W. Va., was treated in Memorial last night for a deep laceration on the scalp. Attaches were told he was trampled after he fell from a horse.

Mrs. Catherine Larkin, 77, Paw Paw, W. Va., was treated in Memorial last night for a fractured left arm suffered in a fall at her home.

Efforts To Distribute Increase To Continue

Efforts to agree on the thorny problem of the distribution of some $180,000 a year, provided in the June 30 agreement at the Celanese plant to cover alleged inequalities in the rates of pay, will be continued early next week, it was announced yesterday.

Officials of the Celanese Corporation of America and Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, met three times this week to discuss the distribution of the one cent increase and John G. Thomas union business manager, said Wesley Cook, assistant director of the TWUA rayon division, expects to attend the next meeting.

Local Man Posts Bond On Armed Robbery Charge

Trevor Jones Held For Grand Jury

Trevor Jones, this city, was released under $1,000 bond yesterday afternoon for action of the Mineral County grand jury on a charge of being armed with a deadly weapon and of the theft of a motor vehicle.

The action was taken i. Ridgeley, W. Va., at a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace C. A. Jewell on the charge preferred by West Virginia State Police Cpl. R. R. Karickhoff.

Jones was arrested here August 29 by city police and turned over to Mineral County authorities after a Yellow Top cab employe identified him as one of the three white men who robbed him of his cab at gun point near Short Gap, W. Va., August 28.

At the hearing yesterday the cab driver, Thomas Cessna, Route 2, testified he picked up three men at a Maryland Avenue call box and drove them to Short Gap where, he said, one of the men pushed a gun against his side after one of the group requested him to stop.

Police said the cab was abandoned the next day near Mt. Storm after it ran out of gasoline.

Jones, who told Mr. Jewell he lived on Maryland Avenue here, admitted he had been drinking. At the time of his arrest, police quoted Jones as saying he had been drinking and could not recall who his companions had been.

Police said Cessna identified Jones as one of the trio after checking the "rogues gallery morgue" at the local police station.

Progress Shown In County Soil Conservation

Progress is being made in this county in the soil conservation program it was disclosed yesterday by Ralph F. McHenry, county farm agent, who stated that 29 farm plans were prepared and signed for farms within the Allegany County soil conservation district. The total number of acres included in these plans is 6,950.

In the period from July 1, 1946 to June 30, 1947, a total of 267 acres of land in this district were planted on the contour and 175 acres were strip-cropped. Five miles of drainage ditches were constructed, resulting in benefits to 120 acres of land. In addition, two farm ponds were established.

All conservation work within the district is carried out under the direction of a five-man Board of Supervisors of which W. L. Frazee, Flintstone, is chairman. Other supervisors are Charles S. Harvey, Shaft; H. M. Gordon, Flintstone; E. R. Slider, Oldtown; and W. R. Paul, Mt. Savage.

Advice and assistance in the technical phase of conservation work are provided the district by representatives of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, under the supervision of Philip J. Walter, work unit conservationist.

At a recent meeting the State Soil Conservation Committee allocated $1,147 to the Allegany soil conservation district, to assist in land savings operations during the present fiscal year. This money, McHenry said, is to be used primarily to promote educational work and to assist in the operating costs of machinery used by the district.

The Allegany County soil conservation district was organized September 24, 1941.

Permit Is Granted To Build Double House

R. T. Powell, 609 Frederick Street, secured a permit in the city engineer's office yesterday to build a two-story double house on Lot 7 and part of Lot 6, Avondale Avenue, at an estimated cost of $7,500. The 40 by 28-foot structure will have a concrete block foundation and brick walls, with a fire wall between the houses, and a composition built-up roof. Powell will do the work.

A permit was granted to William E. Gulick, Braddock Road, and Eugene Gulick to build a one-story structure to house a repair garage and offices at 305 South Centre Street, on a vacant lot purchased from the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The building will measure 50 by 24 feet, with concrete block foundation and walls and an asphat built-up roof. Work will be done by L. W. Breedlove at an estimated cost of $3,000.

West Virginia Offers Maryland 4-Point Plan On Potomac Pollution

Meeting Scheduled In Baltimore Tuesday

ANNAPOLIS, Sept. 19 (AP) — West Virginia has suggested to Maryland a four-point program to wipe out pollution of the Potomac river with a two-state effort.

The program, suggested by Chemical Engineer K. S. Watson, will be discussed at a meeting of the Maryland Water Pollution Control Commission Tuesday (2:30 p. m.) in the office of Dr. Robert H. Riley, health department chief, at Baltimore.

In a letter to Paul M. McKee, executive secretary of the commission, Watson suggested this attack on the Potomac pollution problem affecting the two states.

1. Gathering sufficient stream samples and analyzing them to define serious pollution by plants and municipalities.

2. Urging the larger industries to maintain laboratories and personnel to define their own pollution problems to aid in recovery and treatment.

3. Requiring municipalities to define their pollution situation with a view to handling sewage as well as industrial wastes.

4. Having state pollution regulatory bodies aid industries and municipalities with their clean-up programs.

Watson added West Virginia would necessarily "have to continue its present slow program" until Maryland has time to begin one.

Also on the commission agenda is a report from Dr. R. V. Truitt on a state-side stream survey, and a proposed regulation to be reviewed by Assistant Attorney General Joseph D. Buscher to put legal teeth into pollution control in Maryland.

Meeting Proposed On Flood Control

The Flood Control Committee of the Chamber of Commerce will ask the Mayor and Council to call a special meeting for 10 a. m. Wednesday, September 24, to discuss the city's flood control project. City officials of Ridgeley, W. Va., also will be invited to attend.

The committee met last night for the purpose of reviewing the flood control situation and to discuss ways and means in which the committee might assist the city and the Planning and Zoning Commission in getting the project started.

Kelly Employe May Be Victim Of Poliomyelitis

A 20-year-old employe of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company will be taken to Sydenham Hospital, Baltimore this morning for final diagnosis of an illness thought to be polio, Health Department officials said yesterday.

The young man, Richard McHugh, Bowling Green, will be taken to the Baltimore hospital in a State Police ambulance by Trooper Jack Browning. Arrangements are being made to have Mrs. Elizabeth Rosenmerkel, public health nurse, accompany the patient on the trip.

If McHugh's illness is diagnosed as polio, he will be the eighth person in the county and the 10th in this area to become a victim of the disease within the past two months.

Four county patients already receiving treatment for polio in Baltimore hospitals were all reported "doing very well" last night.

They are William Merkel, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Merkel, 231 North Mechanic Street; Glen Brant, 19, local athlete, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Brant, 18 Valley Street; Jean Chappell, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Chappell, Barton; and Allan Pryor, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob E. Pryor, 107 Mary Street.

The Merkel boy and Brant are patients at Sydenham Hospital, while the other two patients are in Childrens Hospital. Brant is scheduled to be transferred to the latter hospital on Monday, Sydenham attaches said.

21 Organizations Participate In Veterans' Parade In Lonaconing

Prize Awards Total $250 For Marchers

Twenty one fire companies, bands, and organizations participated in the parade held in Lonaconing last night in the connection with the Veterans' Celebration sponsored by Alvin C. Neat Post, VFW, and James P. Love Post, American Legion.

The $50 first prize for the best band in the line of march was awarded to the Salisbury, Pa., Community Band, with the Arion Band of Frostburg receiving $25 for second place.

The Vigilant Reel and Hose Company of Keyser first honors of $50 for having the best appearing fire company Potomac Fire Department of Westernport was second and was awarded $25. The Ladies Auxiliary of the Bloomington Fire Company won the $25 first prize in the auxiliary competition.

Farrady Post, American Legion, Frostburg, was first in the drum corps division and Kelly Mansfield Post, Piedmont, American Legion, and Henry Hart Post, Cumberland, tied for second. The winner received $50 and the second place corps were given $25.

The parade was led by a color guard comprised of members of the two Lonaconing veterans organizations which sponsored the event. Members of the guard were Charles Cabe, John Coburn, James McPartland, Emerson Robertson, and William Jones.

Mayor Alex Burt and Councilmen Robert Peeble, John Merrbach, Wilmuth Garlitz, William Berry, James Nightingale, and Douglas Waddell appeared for the first time in a parade in the town.

Riding in open cars and dressed in evening gowns were hostesses from the James P. Love Post and the Alvin C. Neat Post. Members of the American Legion group were Patsy Ann Logsdon, Betty Preston and Jennie Lee Frye. The VFW hostesses were Marion Devlin, Jean Gardner and Dorothy Watkinson.

Units participating in the parade besides the prize winners were the Salisbury, Pa., VFW, Meyersdale Fire Company and truck, Mt. Savage Band, Mt. Savage American Legion, Barton Hose Company and auxiliary, Fulton Meyers Post American Legion, Cumberland, Drum Corps.

A hundred members of the Lonaconing Boys Service Club led by Miss Ann Sloan, Victory Post, Westernport, American Legion, Frederick C. "Buck" Dreyer and his rescue equipment, Bloomington Fire Company, truck and auxiliary, and the Hyndman Fire Company and truck.

The Membership Activities Committee of the Chamber of Commerce met yesterday and planned a dinner meeting for members November 20 at Ali Ghan Country Club. The committee hopes to have an out-of-town speaker.

Conlon Is Appointed To Veterans' Post

Thomas F. Conlon, local service officer for the Maryland Veterans' Commission, has been named volunteer veterans' reemployment committeeman by the Division of Veteran's Reemployment Rights of the Department of Labor.

Conlon will work with the Maryland State Employment Service in assisting veterans to exercise their reemployment rights.

The letter appointing Conlon was signed by Vananda J. Meyl, field representative of the Division of Veterans' Reemployment Rights.

Bids On Auxiliary Water Line Will Be Asked Soon

Minor Changes Being Made In Plans

Water Commissioner William B. Edwards said last night he plans to advertise for bids "very soon" for the new 36-inch alternate water line to be built from Lake Gordon to the city.

Permission to construct the line was received from the Maryland Department of Health earlier this week, Edwards said.

Various minor changes in the plans and specifications drawn up by Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, were suggested by the State Department of Health and by Whitman, Requardt and Associates, Baltimore firm of consulting engineers.

Edwards said members of the city engineering department have nearly completed work on incorporating the suggested changes in the overall plans.

He added that bids will be sought before the end of the month, and that advertisements will be placed in engineering journals to attract outside bidders qualified to do the work.

Cost is expected to exceed $1,000,000 and will be borne largely through a bond issue which has already been authorized by the General Assembly.

The project has been advocated as a means of doubling Cumberland's present water supply of approximately 12,000,000 gallons daily and to provide an inducement to industries which may locate here and would need water.

Allegany High Has First Assembly

Allegany High School's first assembly program of the present school year was held yesterday for junior and senior students to acquaint them with new teachers, the standard of the school, significance of the Alegany flag and the sportsmanship code.

Ralph R. Webster, principal, said this year's senior class of 226 students is the largest in 10 years. Enrollment of the junior class is 236, sophomore 241, ninth grade 246, eighth grade 251 and seventh 225. Total enrollment is 1,428, with 63 fulltime instructors and two substitutes.

A subscription campaign by the Alcohi Mirror is being conducted on the basis of a "Football Queen." The 10 girls scoring the highest votes were introduced by Barbee Sue Mansfield. In alphabetical order they are Ann Alderman, Sue Bartlett, Betty Gulick, Georgia Huster, Juanita Lookabaught, Kathryn Mae Mannis, Patty McGee, Everstine Mitchell, Nancy Smith and Mary Lou Wilson.

New Diphtheria Case Reported In County

The illness of a 14-year-old girl in Bowman's Addition has been diagnosed as diphtheria, making the 18th case reported in the county in recent weeks, according to Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer.

The new diphtheria case is the first to be reported in over a week, however.

BIRTHS

Allegany Hospital reported the following births yesterday:

Mr. and Mrs. George Lease, 447 Henderson Avenue, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Trail, Flintstone, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. J. William Phelps, 526 Maryland Avenue, Westernport, a son.

Memorial Hospital reported the following births yesterday:

Mr. and Mrs. William Perkins, Route 3, a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wertz, 616 Montreal Avenue, a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dwight Rose, Centerville, Pa., a daughter.

Record Tomato Crop Replaces Frozen Apples

Orchard Land Yields Over 13,000 Bushels

Failure of the apple crop in this section, due to heavy frosts and freezing weather late in the spring, has probably led to the harvesting of a record tomato crop in Allegany County it was learned yesterday.

When Elihu C. McFadden of 932 Mulberry Avenue, Hagerstown, who operates the Potomac Highland Orchard near Picardy in the Green Ridge area, this county, realized his apple crop had been destroyed by the freeze he planted 25 acres of tomatoes to hold his organization together, and realize something from his land.

McFadden said he made a contract with a Pennsylvania organization and hired two planter-tractors, which planted a total of 75,000 tomato plants, spaced 42 inches apart, in a 25 acre tract. The planting was done in one day from 7 a. m until 9 p. m.

Picking started last week and a total of 13,000 bushels, or a yield of 15 tons per acre has been realized, and there are about 4,000 bushels yet to be picked, McFadden said. Thirty pickers and six haulers and drivers handled the crop.

McFadden said he has 200 acres in apple-bearing orchards and about 40 acres in two-year old non-bearing trees. The tomatoes were planted on 25 of these 40 acres. Normally, the orchard produces about 50,000 bushels of apples, but due to the freeze, only about 5,000 bushels will be picked this year, he said.

The freeze, which occurred the night of May 9, when the mercury fell to 20 above zero, killed most of the buds on the apple trees. This was the worst freeze, so far as orchardists are concerned in the history of the county, and occurred later in the year than any previous records. In 1921 and again in 1945, many apples were destroyed, but nothing like this year, orchard men say.

McFadden said his tomato crop was not damaged by early blight, as it was sprayed four times as recommended by the county agent and other experts and there was no indication of light blight. He said he did not know if the yield established an all time county record, but 15 tons per acre represents "a lot of tomatoes," he added.

Theft Reported At Local Hotel

City Police are investigating the theft of a quantity of jewelry and old coins reported Thursday morning by William Dahl, manager of the York Hotel, Baltimore and Front Streets.

Dahl said someone entered his room at the hotel and took a diamond ring, man's wrist watch, white gold wedding ring, small locket, stop watch and 20 valuable old coins, including an 1857 penny bearing a flying eagle insignia, and a silver three-cent piece.

Stitcher Pays Visit To Police Station

City Police Officer Joseph Stitcher, critically burned last July 10 when burning gasoline showered upon him, visited the city police station last night for the first time since the accident.

A patient in the hospital 59 days, Officer Stitcher was discharged September 6. Still recuperating, he does not expect to return to work for sometime.

Westernport Woman's Will Is Probated

The will of Mary McGuigan, who died in Westernport, August 16, was admitted to probate yesterday in Orphans' Court.

She left $300 to her sisters, Mrs. Catherine Laughlin and Mrs. Nora E. Mansfield, for the purpose of having masses said for her. A niece, Mary Ellen Mansfield, was left $1,000, and the residue of the estate is to be divided equally between Mrs. Laughlin and Mrs. Mansfield.

Temperature Reading

The temperature rose to the 90-degree mark here again yesterday after several days' respite of temperatures in the 70 and 80-degree range. Yesterday's minimum temperature was 48 degrees and last night at 9:30 the official weather observer reported a reading of 68 degrees. Partly cloudy and continued warm weather is forecast for today.

Board Buys 28 Beds For Use At County Home

Bonds Delivered To Baltimore Firm

Allegany County Commissioners yesterday accepted the bid of Schonter Furniture Company, North Centre Street, to furnish 28 beds for the County Home at a cost of $710.50.

A previous effort to find a dealer or dealers who could supply the type of beds desired was unsuccessful, and a second request for bids had been made.

Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, and Lewis M. Wilson, board attorney, have returned from Baltimore where they delivered the $250,000 bond issue to Mackubin, Legge and Company, successful bidders on the issue.

The money realized is being used to build an infirmary on the county farm in the Valley Road section. The interest rate on the bonds was one and one-half percent, the lowest ever realized on an issue sold by the county.

The two county officials returned with a check for $251,393.08 which represents the $250,000 principal of the issue, $1,216 premium and $177.08 interest.

Following construction of the new infirmary beds will be provided for 100 more patients and, in addition, there will be two separate wings on the structure for boy and girl delinquents held pending disposition of their cases.

At the present time the County Home, infirmary section and Slyvan Retreat are carrying a capacity load, and requests for admittance to the institutions are greater than for many years to pose a serious problem for county officials.

Feldstein Wants Court To Lift Restraining Order

Abe Feldstein, local junk dealer, named a party in a suit over the sale of the Cumberland Mattress Factory property here, has filed a motion of dismissal of a restraining order against occupying the property, and a hearing on the motion was held in court yesterday.

The case was heard until noon, when Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge George Henderson continued it until next week. Decision was withheld until attorneys file legal authority cited in the case.

Feldstein is involved in a suit brought by Mary Sines, Edith Kenney, William and Charles Wiegand, Elizabeth Daughton and Amanda Kenney against Theresa Shipes, W. Calvin Shipes, Elizabeth Jane Fisher and Feldstein over the sale of the Cumberland Mattress Company property at the corner of Williams and Orchard Streets.

The plaintiffs in the suit complain that the property was sold to Feldstein by the defendants and that they have an interest as heirs of the Wiegand estate in the property.

Charles Z. Heskett, attorney for the plaintiffs, said this morning in court that he believes Feldstein acted in good faith in buying the property and probably should not be involved in the suit.

P. Brooke Whiting, attorney for Feldstein said that his client is basing his case on the land records of Allegany county which show that Theresa Shipes is listed in the deed to the property as being the owner It was brought out that the suit resulted after a dispute among the heirs to the property.

Clarence Lippel and Gorman Getty, local attorneys, testified concerning events leading to the sale of the property to Feldstein.

Two Take Religious Vows At Monastery

Frater Ralph Zehe, Cleveland, and Frater John Chrysostom Lipinksi, Toledo, took simple triennial vows of religion as members of the Order of Friars Minor Capuchin in the chapel of SS. Peter and Paul Monastery yesterday morning.

The Very Rev. Claude Vogel, O. F. M. Cap., provincial received the vows and delivered the address.

After a short visit to their homes the men will continue their studies for the priesthood. Frater Ralph will go to Capuchin College, Washington, to study theology and Frater John Chrysostom will go to Victoria, Kan., to study philosophy.

Besides the friars at the monastery, among those who witnessed the ceremony were Father Leander and Father Gabriel. Father Leander, former assistant here, will leave soon to assume duties as assistant pastor at Victoria. Father Gabriel, whose home is here, is stationed at St. Augustines Church, Pittsburgh.
